1st Town Club Meet Tonight

The Town Club members' first meeting tonight (Thursday), at the Farmington Universalist Church promises to be the first of many interesting programs for the coming year.

Elizabeth Wayne, familiar voice of J. L. Hudson's early morning radio program, "The Minute Parade," will present a most unusual evening, speaking of "Music and Travel in My Path."

Five trips to Europe and one year living in Switzerland have given Miss Wayne a most interesting background for her musical and anecdotal presentation. Hundreds of hours of music on tape and discs in her collection include not only Caruso and Puccini, but rarities brought from abroad. Some were taped in Europe by Miss Wayne and augmented by taped interviews with the composers.

The evening suggests a tour of colorful experiences, accompanied by a witty and charming guide.

Kendallarks Plan for Fall

The Kendallarks are now preparing for a variety of fall season events.

Although fall plans are already underway by the church group it is still not too late for women interested in joining to do so, a club spokesman said.

Club President Pat Berdeux, GR 4-7306, has additional information.

One of the most organizations in the community, the singing group was not fully active during the summer months as it is during the fall and winter. The choral group did accept two engagements this summer, however.

In July the group represented the Kendallwood Women's Club at a television showing of a new home in Kendallwood on the Harry Jarkey Show over WXYZ both July 14 and 21. In August the singers participated in the program for the dedication of the Kendallwood Swimming Club. They presented their bid-fashions bathing suit act, "By the Beautiful Sea," which was brought to a climax by a gleeful nose-holding jump into the pool.

Her husband graduated in 1955 from the same school.

The newlyweds are both attending Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo.

Plans Move Ahead for Leach Tea

Plans for the Appreciation Tea honoring Florence M. Leach's outstanding service of 21 years as Farmington's librarian are well underway.

Mrs. R. M. Gringer has named as her committee: Mary Stoll and Ethel Gibson, members of the former Library Board.

Original members of the Friends of the Library; Mrs. Kenneth Lachmann, first trustee appointee of the township to the new Library Board of Trustees and currently Treasurer of the Friends; Mrs. Marguerite Harris who had worked part time in the old Town Hall Library with Mrs. Leach, and Mrs. Herbert R. Neal, one of the charter members of the Friends.

In selecting their committee, Mrs. Gringer attempted to have represented not only persons who have long known of Mrs. Leach's efforts and civic spirit, but also some of her oldest Farmington friends.

The tea will be held in the new library, beginning at 2 p.m. on Sunday, September 6.

This will not only be an opportunity for Farmington to congratulate Florence Leach on her achievements, but also to see the new library if they have not already done so.

MSU-Oakland Open for Tours Each Sunday

For the benefit of Sunday afternoon visitors, Michigan State University-Oakland will open the doors of its new buildings every Sunday this month.

So many people have been driving over to see the still-unfinished campus of the Nation's newest university that Chancellor D. B. Varner decided to hold a series of informal open houses, from 1 to 5 p.m. each Sunday. There will be guides, floor plans of the buildings and short descriptive material giving some of the background and aims of the university and some information on its able young faculty.

The $2,000,000 classroom building and the administration laboratory structure, are completed. The $700,000 self-instruction center is giving completion and is scheduled to be finished when classes start September 21.

After school hours, more formal open houses are planned for the public and for organizations.

The Combes family is enlarging. A new family room is being added to their home to give them more living area. This was partly necessitated by Mary's trip to the hospital, where on Sunday, August 24, she gave birth to her fifth child and fourth son, a 6 lb., 12 oz. baby (to be known as Richard Carl Meyer), received the second award.

Shore Acres on Lake Michigan near Grand Haven is the spot Bill and Marilyn DeLain chose for a vacation. With their children—David, Steven and Nancy—they spent a very enjoyable week sunning, playing and swimming in 78 degree water. They also visited their families and many old friends in the Grand Rapids area.

THE MARRIAGE of a cousin gave Phyllis Crump the opportunity to motor into Kalamazoo on Saturday. She had a full car as her brother and three of her children, Diane, Carole and David, accompanied her.

It's nice to have relatives. At East Frank and Cathy Shank so far they are afforded the use of Frank's brother's cottage near Greenville, Michigan, for the past week. Their daughter, Anne, accompanied them and the twins, Barbara and Bret, spent the week with their grandparents in Jackson.
