FOR WANT OF A NAIL—

For want of a nail, the shoe was lost. And because the shoe was lost, the horse was lost... and the soldier was lost, and the story goes, the battle was lost.

Sometimes it is that way when the battle is a community's struggle to gain new industry. Sometimes the battle is lost for want of something it would seem every community should possess.

A community's attitude—how all of us feel about our town and the industry in our town—is one of the most important elements considered by an industrial prospect.

Our attitude must be good if we are going to win. It is everyone's responsibility. The attitude of everyone toward our present industry can be our biggest asset or our biggest liability in the community's effort to get new industry.

Join hands with your local industrial development organization and the Michigan Economic Development Department to help your community grow and prosper.

'Too Fast Con' Causes Almost
500 Deaths on Roads in 1958

Descriptions of the greatest traffic killer in Michigan, which last year caused the deaths of almost 500 people, are now being posted throughout the state by police officials.

Named only as 'Too Fast Con', the police posters warned all drivers and pedestrians to be on the alert for this high way killer who fails to adjust driving to adverse conditions of road, weather, or traffic because of ignorance, bad judgment or impatience.

'Too Fast Con' is the second in a series of characterized traffic law violators the Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police is calling attention to as drivers who are "Unwanted in Michigan."

In police accident records, 'Too Fast Con' is short for 'exposed too fast for conditions.' Police Chiefs Irving Yakes and Joseph DeVriendt of Farmington Township and city point out that the problem with this traffic law violator is not high speed but rather "excessive" speed in a particular situation which calls for a reduction in speed in order to maintain control of the automobile.

"Too many of our otherwise good, law-abiding drivers think that if they stay within the posted speed limits of the community, or the state speed limits, of 45-55 miles per hour on the open highway, they are exercising due caution," said Chief Yakes.

"Unfortunately, though these drivers think they are legal, the law which insists that speed be reasonable and proper. Conditions of road, weather and other traffic often change the speed requirements of what is reasonable and proper at that time and in that location," Chief Yakes pointed out.

A look at the state's accident statistics in terms of speed, confirms the statement that high speed is not as serious a problem as excessive speed.

The largest number of fatal accidents last year occurred between 41 and 40 miles per hour; the next largest between 41 and 50 miles per hour. There were four times more fatalities at speeds between 21 and 30 miles an hour than there were at 61 to 70 miles per hour.

Excessive speed, speed too fast for conditions, were reported as a contributory factor in 45 per cent of the fatal accidents in Michigan last year in which law violations were present. In addition to killing 497 people, 5,492 were seriously injured and there were innumerable property damage accidents also resulting from excessive speed.

Total cost of the 'Too Fast Con' accidents is estimated at $67 million for last year.

With the seasonal approach of bad weather, driving too fast for conditions will be one of the major accident causes in the months ahead. Yet it is also one of the most easily controlled factors which cause accidents.

All it needs is the exercise of reasonableness on the part of every driver. A speed which is reasonable and proper for each driving situation and each changing physical condition of road, weather and traffic, can eliminate the basic cause for a large number of traffic accidents.

The cost of applying this solution amounts to a few minutes of travel time. The cost of not applying it can be a lifetime.

Timely Tips on
GARDENING
By Betty Frankel

BULB FAVORITES — Each year a group of international bulb experts publishes a list of the most popular bulbs of the year. Selections are based on choices made at the huge Keukenhof gardens in Holland during the Spring flowering season. Bulbs of all these varieties are available in local garden centers.

Six tulips were included in this year's list. Dayvin, tulips mentioned were 'Pink Supreme' and the canary yellow, 'Anjou', 'Carnegie', white, and 'Ostara', dark blue. Crocuses are represented by the large flowered white 'Jeanne d'Arc'.

Three narcissus were on the list. These are Unsurpassable, a yellow trumpet daffodil; Geranium, poetaz; and Thalia, a white triandrus.

REMINERS—Tulips can be planted as long as the ground can be worked. Plant new rose bushes and mound a cone of soil around them to provide winter protection. This is the ideal time to plant deciduous trees and shrubs. Leaves have been shed, but soil is warm enough for root growth to take place.

Don't forget to dig up tender summer blooming bulbs and store indoors until next Spring. This is the last call for planting hyacinths, narcissus, and little bulbs. Lilies can be planted until mid-November. Continue mowing grass so it goes into winter about two inches high.

Which is worse, the driver purposely runs a red light or stop sign, after a brief appraisal of the situation, or the one who sails through a sign or signal without actually seeing it? Both are extremely dangerous, but the latter is the driver to fear the most. He is the one most likely to cause a crash because his thoughts are not on driving.
