

Jr., Sr. Classes Plan Trips

Both the Junior and Senior classes at Clarenceville High held Trip Club meetings Tuesday evening, Oct. 27.

At the Senior Class Trip Club meeting it was decided that a trip to determine exactly how many seniors wanted a trip. Parent officers will be elected during the next regular meeting Nov. 24.

At the Junior Class Trip Club meeting, James Donnelly, President, and Tom Wilson brought up the subject of points and future candy sales.

The Junior Class will be selling large cans of candy and Christmas trees filled with assorted candy soon for $1.00 each.

The Junior Class would appreciate the backing of everyone on these sales. Those interested may obtain an order blank from any Junior representative.

With many new and exciting models now or soon to be on display, owners will be rushing to trade in their old cars. It is suggested that car trade-in time is also a good time for owners to take a careful inventory of their driving habits, get rid of any which may be unsafe. Adopt newer, safer driving practices to conform to the advanced safety features of your new car.

Harderwijk, Holland, Is Home For C'ville Exchange Student

From Clarenceville high where he is a senior, to 28232 Gayling in Farmington, where he lives, Piet Van Emmerik travels about two miles.

But if he wanted to go home for Christmas, Piet would have to journey more than 6,000 miles and travel a quarter of the way around the world.

Piet, whose first name is Dutch for "Peter," hails from Harderwijk, a town in the Netherlands (Holland) whose hometown is about 50 miles from Amsterdam and not too distant from the northwest border of Germany.

His visit here was made possible through the efforts of the American Field Service.

Piet is an exchange student and will remain in the United States until next June when he graduates from Clarenceville High school.

He lives with Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Layland on Gayling avenue. Mr. Layland, who is laid up in Detroit Osteopathic hospital with a kidney ailment, is well-known here as the owner of L and D electric company.

Mrs. Layland is a life-long resident of Farmington. But Piet is a newcomer and he is lavish in his praise of American food and customs. He likes hamburgers, American pizza, eggs and corn on the cob, all of which are new to him.

In the Netherlands, eggs are never served on a breakfast table and corn on the cob is regularly used to feed pigs. Piet also got his first taste of turkey at Mrs. Layland's dinner table.

HE WAS surprised to find how television here differs so greatly from what he watched back home.

Controlled by the government, Netherlands' television is available only two hours each day: 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. and 11:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. He was impressed with the educational television, where he, when he watches, can see the gamut of westerns to comedy drama.

by his Detroit, where Mrs. Layland met him and brought him to his home here.

He had learned that he had been selected as an exchange student in June at the same time that Mr. and Mrs. Layland were notified that they had been chosen by the American Field Service to host Piet. The Laylands were selected after careful screening by AFS representatives.

At Clarenceville High, Piet is studying history, government, physics, typing, English literature and driver education.

He likes all of his subjects and especially the driver education course. Piet, 18, will be able to drive when he returns to his native land.

But in The Netherlands the most common mode of transportation is a bicycle. And wooden shoes are normal foot-wear for little children.

WHEN he's not studying or shopping in American department stores with his adopted parents, Piet is busy doing house hold chores for Mrs. Layland. He has raked leaves and put up the storm windows, among other things.

Piet's home of Harderwijk is a city of about 15,000 population. His father is a tank mechanic for the Army there. Two of his brothers, Harri, 22, and Geopie, 16, are in the Army of the Netherlands. In addition, Piet has a sister, Dineke, 20, and two other brothers, Atie, 13, and Eduard, 10.

Piet viewed America Sept. 10 from the harbor of New York. He had embarked from Rotterdam in The Netherlands. From New York, Piet journeyed to his Detroit, where Mrs. Layland met him and brought him to his home here.

Many of the worst highway accidents have never been satisfactorily explained. Their causes remain. Often every possible reason such as faulty mechanics, speed, liquor, illness or fatigue, and traffic violations has been eliminated. The remaining unproven factor is driver inattention in some form. It cannot be proved because only the driver is in a position to know, and all too often he has been killed.

The first U. S. destroyer developed only 1,600 h.p. while destroyer leaders of today like the USS Wilkes A. Lee develop 60,000 h.p.

Three Sophomores Earn Straight A's

Three sophomores and one senior at Clarenceville High school earned straight A's to head the scholastic Honor Roll compiled at the completion of the first marking period which ended recently.

The sophomores were Carolyn Deardorff, Rosa Naparski and Ruth Oman, while the senior with all A's was Karen Chapell.

The senior class, outshone by the sophomores in the all-A category, balanced the ledger with 13 students who earned A's and B's and 13 more students with all B's. No other class had as many in the latter two categories.

Clarenceville High's honor roll:

Twelfth grade, A and B: James Balcom, Sandra Claus, Barbara Donnelly, Jane Graham, Darlene Hamlin, Virginia Jacobs, David Pillar, Stuart Rubens, David Squair, Gary Stern, Lois Stieckney, Sandra VanZant, and Nestle Wilson.

Eleventh grade, A and B: Leon Baldwin, Michael Brown, Marie Bury, Ronald Clemens, Carol Goldman, Arlene Robbins, and Richard Tucker.

Tenth grade, A and B: Barbara Braseeth, Judith Greenwood, John Griffin, Carole Jennings, Sandra Karmasin, Sheri Levine, Dayle Sander, and Patricia Simons.

Ninth grade, A and B: Christine Babinski, Janet Ford, Jeri Harris, Sandra Hartman, Jon Johnson, Juanita Karsza, Emily Kopiwoda, Sharon Marbury, Joyce Reed, Sandra Welch, and Carol Welton.

Twelfth grade, B: William Baron, Rebecca Boatright, Earl Cook, Fred Gaddy, Joanne Hanford, Gary Hedges, Mary Lou Leupold, Beverly Miller, Sharon Reece, Linda Roy, Michael Udman, Richard Van Arman, and Margaret Wilk.

Eleventh grade, B: Faye Bowling, Diane Graves.

Name Speech Club Advisors

Speech club advisors this year at Clarenceville High are Miss Geller and Mrs. Wilson. Since debate has been dropped because of lack of interest, preparations for spring forensics will begin soon.

Club members are currently working on costumes for the school play entitled "The Night My Enemy" if anyone can lend or donate costumes or furniture from the early 1900's, please contact either Miss Geller or Mrs. Wilson.

Put Your Best Foot Forward

Gain The Prestige That Comes With ATTRACTIVE PRINTING

When you write a letter, does the letterhead show you are a man who takes pride in your work and business? Perhaps you don't use printed stationery or you have neglected to order printed envelopes lately. Just remember that in many instances the firm or individual with whom you correspond may not know you personally and might form the wrong opinion if your letterhead is unattractive or if you use no printed material at all.

PUT YOUR BEST FOOT FORWARD... with good printing, attractively and reasonably done by us.
