44 Prospective Teachers Now

Forty-four Clarenceville High students are now members of the Future Teachers' Association and are exploring the possibilities of making teaching their career.

Classroom visits have been planned for them so that they can observe children learning and developing under the guidance of a teacher. They will also be given an opportunity to serve as a helper to the teacher of the grade in which they are most interested.

Speakers, movies and panel discussions are another part of the Future Teachers' Association program. The association is under the sponsorship of Robert Young.

All of these activities have been designed to help the students to discover for themselves if they have the necessary qualities for becoming successful teachers. The school spokesman commented.

Organ Lessons Are Offered

Organ lessons will again be given at Clarenceville Junior High if enough show interest and can meet at the designated times.

The first series of lessons on the Hammond organ, taught by representative of Grinnell Brothers, was completed recently.

Only three or four individuals are needed to start another session, it was pointed out. In an effort to accommodate a different group, a Monday night session from 7:30 to 8:30 will be attempted.

The series consists of ten weekly lessons. No previous musical background is necessary since instruction is intended to be easy enough for anyone to learn to play.

Although the course is primarily for beginners, advanced pupils can also improve their skill. This means, it was pointed out.

Anyone interested is asked to contact Stanley Irlis, assistant superintendent, GR 4-8900, or write Clarenceville Schools, 2020 Middlebelt, Livonia.

Farm Bureau Holds Christmas Party

The Pernambuco Farm Bureau held a Christmas party last Tuesday, Dec. 22, at the Stone crest in Walled Lake with approximately 60 in attendance.

A planned pot-luck turkey dinner was served. Santa was on hand to pass out candies to the youngsters and the singing of Christmas carols was enjoyed by all.

License Suspended For Second Time

George L. Redilla, 32, 28205 Middlebelt Road was among 433 Michigan drivers reported as having had their licenses suspended recently.

Redilla's license was suspended for the period from Oct. 9 until Jan. 8, 1960 because of operating a vehicle while his license was suspended before.

There are 27 million Americans who are without a public library service. Greatest numbers are found in the south, southwest and midwest. Michigan has over one million.

To Dance In 'Cinderella' At Detroit on Dec. 29, 30

Linda Sandula, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Sandula of Ridgeway Drive, Farmington, will dance in the full length Ballet "Cinderella" which is presented by the Detroit City Ballet Company.

Osvald Lemais, member of the Artistic Board of the Detroit City Ballet is the choreographer and director.

Members of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, under the baton of Zevoni Blotnick, assistant concertmaster, will play the Prokofiev score.

LINDA SANDULA

This beloved fairy tale will be performed by a cast of forty dancers in the large auditorium of the Detroit Art Institute on the evenings of December 29 and 30 at 8:30 p.m. on the afternoon of the 30th.

Miss Marjorie Hassard, president of the Executive Board of Detroit City Ballet believes that this will be the first time that a civic ballet company has produced the full length ballet of "Cinderella" in this country.

Miss Lucia Chase, world renowned ballerina and director of the American Ballet Theatre, is making a special trip to Detroit for this performance of "Cinderella." As director of American Ballet Theatre, Miss Chase auditions and engages the dancers of the company, selects the ballets for each program, and chooses the cast for each performance.

Together with Oliver Smith, she decides upon additions to the repertory, selecting the choreographer, composer, and designers for each new production.

Linda was a member of the 1958 Farmington High graduating class.

Tickets for "Cinderella" may be obtained from Grinnell's Downtown, Maxwell Book Stores, (Northland or Eastland) or by phoning Lois M. Taggart, publicity director, at Elgin 6-1127.

News From Briar Hills

Kathy Kinley MA. 6-6434

The residents of Briar Hill were pleasantly surprised Monday night with the carolling of Intermediate Troop 17 in the Subdivision. What a lovely way to start the Christmas week. Our thanks go to Betty Hopkins, leader of the troop and Kay Norton, her assistant. And a special note of thanks is sent to Gloria and Bill Devlin who accompanied the girls with their hand organs. After the carolling the girls returned to the Hopkins' home for hot chocolate and cookies. The Christmas gifts were then sent to the Farmington Children's Hospital.

Speaking of Christmas music, have you heard the "music in the air" this past week? Yours truly, and others too, have enjoyed it but we'd like to give credit to the people responsible for broadcasting the carols in our subdivision.

GIVING DUE thanks for good deeds done, it's only proper that we of Briar Hill give a big vote of thanks to our Association for the fine work done in compiling the names, addresses and phone numbers of all the residents. With the Christmas rush, the work is doubly appreciated. It certainly helped in our Christmas card list.

Twenty-eight musical angels gathered at the Palmer residence Sat. for a choir Christmas lunch and party. These children are members of the Orchard Lake Methodist Church.

"I'll be Home for Christmas", a familiar refrain, drew a lot of many. Alrman, First Class Don McNeill and his wife Joan are singing that tune. Don, son of Muriel and Dick, plans to arrive with his wife from Colorado Springs, Colorado to spend the holidays with his folks for the first time in three years since joining the Air Force.

THE COLLEGE boys is returning home for the holidays too. Those recently arriving were the Andridge boys—Phil from Central Michigan University and Doug from Michigan State. Gary Shoup is home from the University of Michigan as well as the two McLeods—Nancy from Parsons College in Fairfield, Iowa, and Larry from Central Michigan University. Jack Stephens arrived from Michigan State to celebrate the holidays with his family.

The Higgs held a brunch after church Sunday, to honor Paul's mother who is visiting them from Mayville, Michigan.

OUR SYMPATHY is extended to the Viron Newton family in the death of Carol's father last Sunday in Detroit.

Diane Riemer, who entered St. Carmel hospital a week ago Sunday for a check-up, was operated on last Friday. Her mother says she's doing nicely and they hope to bring her home in time for Christmas. To this little girl goes a very special birthday greeting, too—she celebrated her 8th on Monday.

Midst all the hustle and wrappings of the season, may you and yours, take time to find the true meaning of Christmas and enjoy a truly peace-

Police to Be Out in Force Over Holidays

In support of the December emergency state-wide traffic safety campaign to reduce deaths below the figure which is now threatening an increase in the 1959 toll over last year, State Police will intensify patrol activities during the holiday season.

Discontinued all available uniform officers and working 10-hour shifts, the holiday patrols will be carried on from Thursday noon December 24 to midnight Sunday, December 27, and a gain from Thursday noon December 31 to midnight Sunday, January 3.

FIFTY NATIONAL Guardsmen will assist as the second main in squad cars to free additional troopers for more patrols. Detectives will be given desk assignments to release uniform men for the same purpose.

Concentrated enforcement is scheduled for the heavier traffic periods, or from 3 p.m. until shortly after midnight on Christmas eve and from 3 p.m. until an hour after the closing time of liquor establishments New Year's eve.

Sheriff's departments will have 46 National Guardsmen.

ALARMED BY THE prospect that there will be from 50 to 75 more deaths than the 1,375 persons killed in 1958, the December safety drive was launched at a meeting of representatives of the Michigan Press Association and the Michigan Broadcasters Association with Governor Williams, the state safety commission, and state, county and municipal enforcement agencies.

Pointing out that traffic violations committed in hazardous winter and holiday driving conditions lead many motorists and pedestrians into sudden death traps, State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs said "our patrols will be doubly alert to take action to prevent accidents before they can happen."

Christmas has the worst holiday death record of any holiday period, with an average of one person having been killed a day every three hours during the last eight years. The New Year's average is one every five hours.
