Charm Chats

By: Betty Hansen

The back view of current hair styles attracts as much attention as the front. Gone are the days when the hair at the back of the head was left plain or pushed into parallel rows of rigid waves. With the latest trends the whole fashion accent was moved to the back, leaving the front part definitely played down. Even casual cuts are given asymmetrical lines; that bring attention to the entire coil, not just one side of it.

We want to call attention to the fact that Summer is only a short time away. It will call for a special hairdo.
