

Hold Picnic for Hamline Grads

Alumni of Hamline University, St. Paul, Minnesota, and their families gathered for a picnic last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Granger on Jalstead Road.

Among the more than 50 guests at the get-together were University president, Dr. Paul H. Gidjens and Mrs. Gidjens who flew here from St. Paul, Darwin Larsons and family, former Farmington residents, who now live in Grosse Pointe and Mrs. Elizabeth Maitland, art teacher at Clarenceville High School.

Hamline University was the first university established in the state of Minnesota.

Bel-Aire Hills News

SALLY WITT GR. 6-0733

It was a grand, glorious and hectic 4th of July for most everyone hereabouts! Everyone headed for the hills and Bel-Aire closely resembled a ghost town right out of the old West.

Taking over Bill and Doris Engstrom, Byron and Joyce Sutherland of Beacon, Pat and Betty Williams of Lomas, and Bob and Judy Johnson of Colchester. The four couples spent three delightfully relaxing days at the Williams' cabin in South Branch.

Lloyd and Margaret Knoph of Marblehead recently returned home after spending five days in Lloyd's hometown where they spent the celebration for a long term. In the meantime, the high lights of the Centennial were the parades, floats, bands, a carnival, booths on the main streets and most of all, the fireworks, clothes, dishes, furniture and many other items 75 to 200 years old.

MANISTIQUE had been planning for the celebration for a long time—the men had let their beards grow since January and the women designed and sewed dresses which were fashionable 100 years ago. Lloyd's uncle played an important part in the Centennial. He spent many hours making a bicycle built for two which represented Knoph's Elkhart of 1902. The Knophs felt they had gone back 100 years in time—a difficult time to do.

A temperature of 96 degrees at 7:30 p.m. is pretty HOT weather any place especially in Oklahoma! Glenn, Chris and Marcee Carlson of Beacon, after wallowing in the heat of the Midwest, decided Michigan was not such a bad place to call home. The Carlsons had a grand visit with Chris's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Ogle, in Oklahoma City and then stopped in Clinton, Iowa, to see Glenn's folks, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Carlson.

And David Ronald makes three. Bob and Mac Koenig of Loomis are proudly showing off their youngest son, David, who weighed 8 lbs. 9 ozs. when he was born June 28. David's parents agree he's a "real good baby" and his brothers, Paul, 4, and Mark, 3, are glad to have him on their team.

ICE CREAM, cake, pop, games and party hats were on hand for Ronnie Maniewski's 5th birthday

Wednesday, July 6. Ronnie and all his guests, including Paul Wendrick, Tommy and Steve Wiley, Robby Stone, Greg and Jimmy Brown, Ricky and Kenny Hill, David Wozniak, Bobby Witt, and Ronnie's brother, Mark, were particularly delighted with the birthday cake that revolved while playing "Happy Birthday!"

A short while before the birthday celebration Alex and Hilda Maniewski and Mark and Ronnie spent two days at Niagara Falls. Not only did they see the Falls at night in an array of beautiful colors, but they also toured the tunnels under the Falls and donned foul-weather gear when they took the Maid of the Mist boat ride.

Barney and Ona Charboneau's 12th anniversary a week ago Saturday called for a real celebration. The Charboneaus and Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Lafond of Orchard Lake Road spent an enjoyable evening at the Metropolitan in Canada.

AFTER A BECIC three weeks which included the wedding here in Farmington of Dick's sister, Patsy, the Lieb family are settling down for a quiet summer at the lake. Dick's mother and sister arrived in town the last week in June to complete arrangements for Patsy's wedding in the Methodist Church on Saturday, July 2. The room also drove in from Florida along with his mother, two sisters and brother.

Many friends and relatives residing here in the Detroit area attended the wedding so the young couple felt right at home. The week before the wedding Patsy Lieb was showered with gifts at the bridal shower given for her by her aunt, Lucille Morency, and her matron of honor and sister-in-law, June Lieb. Attending from Farmington were Mrs. William Court of Lamsar Drive and Alice Lieb, niece of the bride. Along with their regular tours of shopping and planning for the big event, Patsy, June, Alice and Susie Lieb spent a pleasant afternoon touring Greenfield Village with cousin Ric Morency.

The afternoon of the wedding the Liebs had as guests for a buffet luncheon the family of the groom, all of whom were from Indiana, Illinois or Florida. After seeing the young couple off on their honeymoon the Liebs left for the cottage at Bear Lake and party hats were on hand for Ronnie Maniewski's 5th birthday outside and spiders and mice inside which had taken over since last September.

WHEN JIMMY Brown's June 28th birthday rolled around he had a good case of measles. On July 8th Jimmy celebrated his 6th birthday, a little belatedly, but everyone had a rip-roaring time helping him celebrate were Mark and Ronnie Maniewski, Paul and Wendy Wendrick, Ricky Hill, Kathy and Robby Stone, Steve and Tom Lajbor, Michael Freed, Bobby Witt, and Jimmy's sisters and brother, Debbie, Greg, Teri Lynn and Mary Lou. After pushing clothes bins around with their noses, the guests had worked up their appetites and so happily devoured cake and ice cream on a stick.

The Trombleys recently returned from a vacation they won't soon forget! Ken, Ruth, Pam, Barbara, Chris, Craig, Bob, fishing tackle and all the camping equipment they could take pulled out of their Leodeane driveway and headed for a State Forest campsite at Lewisville on Little Wolf Lake. The morning after they arrived Pam became very ill and was rushed to Grayling. Pam spent her vacation in Grayling Mercy Hospital recovering from an appendectomy. The rest of the family spent the majority of their vacation traveling and from the hospital, a distance of 25 miles through the northern woods.

THE TROMBLEYS do have some pleasant memories of the trip, the nice perch they caught one day, the afternoon Barbara, Chris and Craig spent at Hartwick Pines, the last stand of Michigan virgin pines where they also saw an ancient pine that has been preserved through the years; and a logging museum; and most important, the fact that Pam's illness was diagnosed in time and she is now recuperating at home.

Melissa Freed, a lovely little southern belle with pretty eyes and hair, is learning to apply her charm at an early age. Melissa, who was born June 29 and weighed 8 lbs. 11 ozs., is charming not only her Mom and Dad, Laura and Gene Freed of Beacon, but all the rest of her family—Michael, Arlia, Eric, Karin, and Lisa Desiree.

Jean Stone of Beacon took an unexpected trip to St. Mary Hospital on Monday, July 10. As of Monday, Jean was feeling better and hoping to return home very soon.

CHANCES ARE when talking with our new neighbors at 23859 Colchester you want to bring up the subject of golf. Preston and Helen Meisel and their two children, Richard, 7, and Pamela, 4, recently moved to Bel-Aire after residing for two years on Farmington Road. Preston, as you probably know, is a prominent sports figure in Farmington—he is the golf professional at Farmington Country Club.

As members of the local Junior Chamber of Commerce Bob and Pat Hall of Colchester had the opportunity to open their home to one of 35 foreign students over the July 4th weekend. Ivana Sa of Salvador, Brazil, a very pretty girl with dark hair and dark brown eyes, was the Hall's guest from Friday noon through Sunday morning. She had just completed one year's schooling in Wheaton, Illinois, as part of the scholarship program sponsored by American Field Service. Ivana is the daughter of a well-to-do banker and one of 10 children.

IN CONTRAST to our way of living, her mother has the help of five servants. Since Brazil is the only country in South America that does not speak Spanish, Ivana speaks her native Portuguese and fluent English. Following their arrival by bus Friday afternoon the students had a wonderful time at a pool party in Farmington. Friday evening Bob and Pat took Ivana for a drive and then treated her to some ice cream—sundae and sodas are not common in Brazil. Saturday the students toured the Ford plant and in the evening Ivana and the Halls dined at the Yacht Club and then boated down to the Civic Center to watch the fireworks.

Sunday morning the group re-ascended and boarded buses for their next destination. They will continue touring the United States until July 30 when they will return to their home. Apparently our foods are quite similar to those served in Brazil except theirs are prepared a bit differently and are more spicy.

In Brazil it is customary to serve rice as we would serve potatoes. Just the other day Bob and Pat received a card from Ivana saying that in just a short time she had been graciously received by two families and was on her way to another stop-over. What a wonderful way to give people from foreign countries a true picture of what we in the United States are really like!
