Sewer Arm Cost For Schools Set

A report made to the Farmington Board of Education Monday night by Supt. G. V. Harris revealed that the school district should expect the installation of the proposed Kendallwood Sewer Arm had been set at $4,539 by the Oakland County Department of Public Works.

The Board asked that a check be made to determine how these assessment figures were arrived at and that findings be reported at the next regular meeting.

Oakland County On Road to Sell Building Plans

County officials have taken to the road with a mobile display in an effort to place facts before the public concerning the appeal for a bond issue to pay the cost of the county building program to be voted on August 2.

The mobile unit will be at the Farmington Plaza Shopping Center on Grand River near Orchard Lake next Thursday, July 21, from 9 a.m. until 12 noon.

Under the direction of Lloyd Anderson, 4-41 youth will distribute a brochure outlining the building program. A model of the County Service Center now under construction.

Poor Drainage

THE COUNCIL granted his request for a 5' sidewalk and instructed the clerk to write a letter to the builder requesting that he appear at the next council meeting to discuss the grade problem.

A report was submitted by the engineer on drainage at 2301 Cass Street stating that the catch basin at the rear of that property had been lowered as much as possible. The Council instructed the clerk to write to Paul and Alvin, consulting engineers, requesting that a survey be made of the drainage problems at the rear of lots at the south side of State Street between Cass and Wilmarth Streets and to recommend a solution to the problem.

Rec. Program Attracts 4,643 First 2 Weeks

During the first two weeks of the summer recreation program for the month of July, a total of 4,643 boys and girls have participated in the various activities.

Twenty-three hundred and twenty-three have enjoyed the day camp activities at Kent Lake, 651 have visited the Detroit Zoo, 1,018 have played games such as croquet, baseball, badminton, horseshoes, etc. during the morning sessions and 1,251 have worked with the crafts materials purchased with the $100 donation of the Farmington Jaycees.

In addition to working with plaster molds and Indian beadings, a new craft, copper tooling, has proven very popular. Twelve children have taken part in a pattern on a copper sheet, steel wool it and then treat it with a chemical that antiques it. The finished product is then framed and taken home by the youngsters.

THERE WILL BE two changes in the swimming schedule for the month of July. On Friday, July 15, the south end will swim to make up for the day missed on July 4 and the north end will swim on Friday, July 22 instead of July 21. South end youngsters will attend the ball game at Briggs Stadium Thursday, July 21. Children are reminded that they must be officially registered to be able to participate in activities.

Matter Goes to Administration

A request by representatives of matrons employed in the Farmington public school system to discuss wages, seniority, fringe benefits and other matters relative to working conditions was turned over to the administration by action of the Board of Education Monday night.

It was the feeling of the Board that representatives for the school matrons should first meet with the superintendent of schools or other administrative heads designated by him to discuss these matters. The Board asked that the administration make recommendations to their body following discussions with the representatives for the matrons.

The school matrons only recently joined the American Federation of State, County, and Municipal Employees, a branch of the A.F.L.-C.I.O.

WESTBROOKE MANOR NEWS

INGRID LAVENS, GR. 4-8539 LEE HEITHER, GR. 4-9302

Vacation time is in full swing and everyone you talk to who has just returned to so relaxed and cheerful. Take the case of the Branns for example. They spent two weeks at Sand Lake boating and water skiing as well as swimming which sounds just wonderful. Then Jan came down with the mumps the first week of the second week she was hospitalized with an abscessed ear and also during the second week Dupege and Daryl came down with the mumps and in between company dropped in so that completed the hot days vacation.

The Hales vacation was a calm one. They went west to see the youngsters to Phoenix, Arizona and Denver.

The lucky ones who took advantage of the Aquarama all day trip were the Wicks who enjoyed all the facilities offered by the ship.

NOT TO BE outdone are the Larsons who had a wonderful three day cruise aboard a private yacht stopping off at Cedar Pointe and Put-In-Bay.

The MacDooneds of Spruce Hills welcomed a baby boy, Paul Brian, who weighed 10 1/2 lbs., 12 oz., and is the couple's fifth child.

This is a little late but we want to welcome the Robert Adams to our subscribers and all our bridge players might want to keep in mind that Jet is an excellent bridge player.

The Stedmans spent three weeks at Seclusion at Lakeview Lodge and enjoyed their stay very much except for the incident when Ralph twisted his ankle while sliding into second base. So ends the baseball season inasmuch as Ralph has to stay off his feet for three weeks.

As you know Trudy Winkler started a bridge class for the Ladies Auxiliary No. 2 and to our surprise she found that morning that the bridge teacher is Mr. Kilmer who with his family has moved in on Glen Arden.

WINLEB family is mighty proud of son Herb who has just won his third scholarship at Kenyon College. First he won the national merit scholarship in Westchester, 2 and to our surprise she found that morning that the bridge teacher is Mr. Kilmer who with his family has moved in on Glen Arden.

Richard Peters, former chairman of the citizens building committee and now a Board trustee, stated that it was not the intent of the committee to take over the duty of selecting architects but only to help the Board in any way possible in this job.

Board Vice President Douglas Hammill explained in detail how architects had been checked out by the Board in the past. He was of the opinion that the citizens committee could be of considerable help in doing some of the details checking for the Board in the future.

Telling Story More Fun Than Reading It

Storytime is fun for children and it can be equally pleasant for parents too. But you can't do it on the radio and you and your child will find it more enjoyable.

You do not have to be an expert storyteller to give the story - and the child - full attention. "Telling" a story is easier than reading a story because a closer contact is established between the teller and the listener. When the child's attention begins to wander, you know it immediately and can quickly bring it back. If the child does not understand something, you can explain or repeat without interrupting the story.

WHEN TELLING a story, your hands can show sizes, and your facial expressions and certain characters. You "tell" a story with more freedom and enjoyment than when you simply read it.

The need for a story may arise when a book is read. For moments like these, think back to the "good old days." Children love to hear about their parents as youngsters. They also enjoy true stories about themselves, familiar events and even fanciful tales. A ready story on the tip of your tongue can ease the situation when you are waiting for people or when the child is getting ready for bed.
