Rehabilitation

IN THE NORTH and north-west section of the proposed redevelopment area, a conservation type of urban renewal has been specified. The endeavor in this area would be to maintain the present standard of homes by clearing out some of the older, run-down buildings and cleaning up and improving vacant sections.

Having a public hearing on this kind before it has even been submitted to the Federal government and approved is not the normal practice, according to the planning consultants. The hearing is unusual because the area should have been given, the planners stated. It was the feeling of local city officials, however, that the area should have an opportunity to learn more about the proposed projects and express their views prior to the time that application for federal assistance is made.

IT WAS POINTED OUT that approval of the proposed project or even a portion of it would be dependant on how much Federal money is presently available for work of this kind. Much work still remains to be done before any actual rehabilitation can be started, even if the project is approved. It was emphasized. It was estimated that the survey and planning stages of the project would take about a year and that about another year would be needed in the loan and grants stage.

Barthello's Offers Unique Maid Service

Barthello's is now offering a unique service to the public in the form of a maid service which relieves the hostess of attending to the many details of preparing food and serving her guests and frees her to spend more time entertaining.

John Oliver, the progressive manager of the establishment, says the maid service idea is the first such plan in the state of Michigan whereby a uniformed, experienced waitress is available to go into a home and take over the chores. Barthello's prepares the food, the maid does the work and the hostess is able to enjoy herself at the party.

Oliver took over the managerial position in April of this year at Barthello's and has eight employees.

Barthello's is also engaged in the catering business, serving office parties, weddings, etc., as well as having a brisk business of preparing complete meals for those who like to take a vacation from the routine of cooking.

In addition, there is an air conditioned dining area to serve customers who prefer to eat at the restaurant. Barthello's is located at 30752 Grand River near Nine Mile Road.

Distribution of the Michigan State Highway Department's 1960 Official Highway Map has started.

Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie said 600,000 copies of the new map—first one the state has had since 1958—were printed by Rand McNally & Co. of Skokie, Ill., recently.

The Highway Department received 350,000 maps while the remaining 250,000 were shipped direct from Skokie, Ill., to organizations that requested large quantities.

These groups included the Michigan Tourist Council, regional tourist associations, Chambers of Commerce, hotels, oil companies, travel bureaus, Michigan State Police, State Conservation Department, Tourist Information Stations and others.

Copies of the map are available to the public free of cost by writing: Motorist Services Division, Michigan State Highway Department, 723 C. Mason Bldg., Lansing 26, Michigan.

Twp. Zoning

cellent ratings the Kendallwood developments had been given in a national builders' publication and pointing out that these developments fall into the 15,000 square foot category which are moderate size lots.

A petition signed by several owners of large parcels of land was presented to the Zoning Board at the first hearing calling for a reduction of lot sizes. Most of the signers were builders, developers or both.

Robert Nelson, Kendallwood attorney, later stated that the presentation of the petition was done in a manner to influence those in attendance. Nelson then suggested that the developers should arrange to contribute something to the school taxes rather than building large subdivisions, taking the profit and then leaving the new resident holding the bag.

The second public hearing July 11 attracted another large crowd and generally followed the same pattern as the first hearing.

The second hearing was decided upon when several people still wanted to be heard when the 11 p.m. time limit set at the first hearing was reached.

After the Oakland County Coordinating and Zoning committee has completed its study on the zoning ordinance and text, it will then submit recommendations to the Township Board and the Board will be ready to take action.
