C'ville to Erect Traffic Signal

A traffic signal on Middlebelt between the two Clarenceville High Schools will be erected before school starts with the county footing half the cost and the School District and City of Livonia sharing the other half. Erection of the signal will necessitate moving the Junior High School driveway 100 feet south with the north driveway remaining the only exit. The south driveway of the Junior High would have to be widened and the north would require minor reworking. Plans call for a regular time of green and red signal at certain times of the day and a push button control operation to be in effect at other times. Details of time have not as yet been worked out.

Hot Dogs From Chicken? Sure

Someday you may not be able to tell a chicken from a hot dog. Chicken franks are almost ready for market-testing in New York state. They are just one of several new poultry egg-consumption foods being developed. Other products ready for consumers' reactions are chicken Bologna, which has a delicious ham flavor, and chicken loaf, for quick sandwich-making. Both products are designed to utilize heavy broiler chickens. The heavier birds of broiler stock will be test-marketed as young roasters. These are extremely tender and weigh about three and a half pounds. The heavier birds of broiler stock will be test-marketed as young roasters.
