The Barrier Between You and Trouble

It is a wise man who can persuade himself that there are wolves abroad in the land other than the one which dire poverty usually impersonates. "No work" may be snapping at the heels of the laboring man. "Reduction in the office force" may be snarling even now at the salaried man. "Poor Crops" occasionally prowls around the farmers' fields, and yet a little surplus in the bank is a barrier across which the wolf of "hard luck" has never been known to come. Protect your home and yourself by opening an account with this bank.

VILLAGE ELECTION MAKE FINE RECORD

Only One Ticket on the Ballot and But One Man Ran as an Independent Candidate

Only the one ticket was in the race at the village election Monday, but an effort was made to break in the list by winning a man on slips in place of the regular nominee. However, the regular was easily elected and the whole ticket was therefore chosen as it was named at the caucus, viz.:

President—T. H. McGee
Clerk—Perry Fritchie
Treasurer—Herman Maas
Trustees—Louis Offenbergster,
Frank Walters and Chas. Ely
Assessor—John H. Thayer

Will Remain in Farmington
The residents of Farmington will be sincerely gratified to learn that at a special session of the official board of the Methodist church held on Friday last, it was voted to extend to Mrs. Horner the hospitality of the parsonage for the closing months of the conference year. This is a significant courtesy, expressing as it does a most tender tribute to Rev. Dr. Horner, whose labors in the village were so prematurely intercepted by death. Having come to us last fall, in his 64th year, we had reason to anticipate years of useful ministry among us.

The good people of the church and town will rejoice that the blessed memory of their pastor is to be thus perpetuated by Mrs. Horner's continued residence with us for the next few months.

Goes South in Search of Health
Farmington people will regret to learn that Miss Cassie Goodrich, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. J. F. Goodrich of Byron, formerly of this place, is afflicted with tuberculosis and has gone to North Carolina in the hope that a change of climate may prove beneficial. Miss Goodrich has many friends here who hope she may regain her health, which had been good until about Christmas. She was assistant teacher in the high school at Byron, where her father is superintendent.

A letter received at this office from Mr. Goodrich under date of March 10, in which he orders the Enterprise sent to them at Hickory, N. C., states that Miss Cassie is "better already." Mrs. Goodrich and daughter expect to remain there until June, but Mr. Goodrich will return to Byron April 1st.

Annual Meeting at Pontiac
The annual meeting of the Oakland County Horticultural society will be held in the assembly room of the court house in Pontiac on Thursday, March 20.

Morning session begins at ten o'clock and C. E. Bassett, secretary of the State Horticultural society will speak on "Orchard Pests." At the afternoon session Mr. Bassett will speak on "Modern Orchard Management" which will be followed by practical discussion. All members and everyone interested in horticulture should not fail to hear Mr. Bassett.

Services in M. E. Church
Rev. Erwin King of Detroit, formerly pastor at Plymouth, will occupy the Methodist pulpit here next Sunday morning. Livingstone services will be held in the evening under the auspices of the Epworth League.

Easter Sunday services will be conducted in the morning by a minister from Detroit, and in the afternoon Dr. Allen and Rev. Cullen will conduct memorial services for Dr. Horner. The Sunday school will give their usual Easter program in the evening.

Farmington High School Girls
Score Near the Head in Basket Ball

The Holly team play the Farmington girls basket ball team on the armory floor at Pontiac on Thursday night of this week. This is the last game of the season. The girls have met with very good success. New Baltimore holds the state championship this year and they beat Farmington by the smallest score. Farmington has reasons to believe that they will get the championship next year. Everybody should go and help them along.

ANOTHER "SPECIAL"

Ladies' Literary Club Met with Mrs. F. M. Warner on Wednesday

The Ladies' Literary club met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. M. Warner. This meeting was postponed from last week out of respect to the late Dr. Horner. As usual a large number of ladies took advantage of the beautiful day and the pleasant prospect of a good time to be enjoyed. Twenty-three members and two visitors were present.

After the business session Mrs. Warner appeared bearing a basket laden with documents of legal aspect, but which she assured us were not summons to appear before the judicial authorities, but just an innocent guessing game, which as a band of literary women she knew all would enjoy more than anything else. This was called a "can factory," which was no doubt intended as a compliment to our new industry. After a bitter half hour of brain racking, most of them discovered that "when we can we can't." But where there's a will there's a way and Mrs. Alice, despite the fact that she was tied with Mrs. McGee, bore off the first prize, which proved to be, when divested of its dainty wrappings, a can of Old Dutch Cleanser. Mrs. Flora Hendryx received as a consolation prize a can of stove polish, her motto evidently being the modest, "I'll Try." With housecleaning so near a hand, both articles were undoubtedly much appreciated.

The ruffled spirits of the "in betweeners" were now soothed by music furnished by Miss Ernestine Pierce, who played Valse Chromatique by Godeard, and two songs by Miss Tom Grace, "Rose in the Field" by Barrow, and "Mighty Lake Robe" by Nevine.

Mrs. Minnie Wilber then passed around dainty little booklets which were entitled, "The Latest Adventures of Mrs. Wiggins of the Cabbage Patch." Aside from the title and a series of numbers running from 1 to 61, the inside of the book resembled one of Elbert Hubbard's essay on "Silence." But there were explanations and the adventures were merely wanderings in the world of books, the names of which were to be inserted opposite the numbers spoken of and the name of the author supplied, which was not as easy as it first appeared to be.

This time the first prize, "My Robin," by Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett, fell to Mrs. Pierce, while the consolation prize, strange to say, fell to Mrs. Way, who was undoubtedly hypnotized by the eloquent power of the reader and could not exercise her will power this time. This book was entitled "How to Behave at a Banquet" and will probably be much sought after before the first prize is to be given Friday night.

The refreshments so much needed Continued on fifth page.
