News from Kimberley

JUDY BURNS
GR. 4-3112

Heads were bowed over laden tables centerpieced by a brown and succulent turkey in Kimberley last Thursday, as we celebrated Thanksgiving in the real sense of the word. Many of our families were fortunate enough to be joined by grandma, grandpa and other relatives in the traditional Thanksgiving manner, despite the fact that many of us are far from "home".

On Dundalk, the Jim Hosler family sat down to a turkey dinner won by Dot for her over-average skill in the Kimberley Couples Bowling League. Joining them for the holidays were Dot's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Moeglin of Lakewood, Ohio, and Dot's brother-in-law, Mr. Al Ahrens and his two girls, Dara, 14, and Gail, 11, of St. Louis, Missouri.

THE LEN TANGOS of Middlebelt served turkey to Charles and Grace Cafaro and children Diane, 11, Denise, 9, and Charles, 6, of Peoria, Illinois. The Cafaro and Tango friendship dates back to their New York days, "home" for both couples.

Over on Eleven Mile Road, the Dick Lukey family was delighted to find that, at the last minute, Dick's schedule allowed for a Thanksgiving trip to Cincinnati, Ohio. The Lukeys spent the holidays there with Peggy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Fleming and her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Fleming All toiled, the family had 40 pounds of turkey, including one Peggy imported from Brenners. Needless to say, the Lukeys are all turkied out

Nancy and Duke Lenzen of Greythorne shared their holiday meal with Nancy's mother, Mrs. R. E. Decker of East Lansing, and her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. George Volkmann of Houghton Lake, Michigan. Over at the Eckhold home on Pipers Lane Court there were no Thanksgiving guests due to last minute complications, but the Eckhold family enjoyed a traditional repast and an afternoon of spectacular Lion's football. The Packer-Lion game of course was a major part of many Kimberley Thanksgivings

THE MINGO FAMILY of Pipers Lane had chicken pox along with their turkey, so that no guests were included in the Mingo celebration. Here's wishing Julie, 5, a speedy recovery. The Jeans of Wicklow Court also spent a quiet Thanksgiving, as did the Byers of Badalament Court. The Byers' day was extra special however in that Dorothy was allowed to come home from the hospital to be with her family for Thansgiving. Dorothy had spent a week at Ford Hospital prior to November 22, and had to return for several days after the holiday. Seems she sprained her ankle and the circulation in her leg stopped, necessitating close medical observation. Dorothy's home for good now, and in her own words, "healthy as a horse"!

The Hitchcock family of Fiddlers Green shared their Thanksgiving with Jeanette's aunts, the Misses Mary and Tillie Miller of New York City, and friends from Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Rolf and their baby, Tim. Also included in the festivities was Mr. Rolf's sister, Miss Lois Rolf of Indiana.

EMMA JEAN AND Ellis Phillips of Westmeath spent Thanksgiving day in Sandusky, Michigan at the home of Ellis' mother, Mrs. Nellie Phillips. Some 17 members of the Phillips clan gathered there to share the holiday. On Sunday, November 25, the Phillips motored to Gladwin, Michigan to attend a family gathering at the home of Emma Jean's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vergil Bailey. Some 19 Baileys then enjoyed a post-Thanksgiving turkey.

Thanksgiving turkeys were especially enjoyed this year by Jim Burns, Eleanor May, Dick Patton, Hugh McChesney, and John Clark, who won their dinners by outstanding performance in the Kimberley Couples Bowling League. John Clark really had a night on November 18, bowling 160 pins over his average, with a 589 series that included a high game of 221!

The Northen family of Kiltartan also enjoyed a free gobbler, as Phil qualified for three turkeys in a league he belongs to in Dearborn. Phil had high single, high series, and most pins over average, but the bowling lanes insisted he settle for one turkey rather than three!

Other turkey winners in the sub were the McClintok family of Wicklow Court, and the Pesamoskas of Greythorne, both lucky recipients in the Farmington Enterprise Turkey Contest. The Pesamoskas name was drawn by Conroy's Market, and the McClintoks by Pat's Sport Shop. Congratulations

Now that the turkeys have fulfilled their destinys so deliciously, the subdivision has turned its thoughts to Christmas.

PEGGY AND DICK Lukey of Eleven Mile are way ahead of most of us with a subdivision "first" - their outdoor Christmas lights are up! With that indication of the propinquity of Christmas, please be reminded to get your dance tickets as soon as possible. Contact your ticket salesman as shown on the flyers distributed recently, in order to purchase tickets. An estimate of attendance in advance of the dance is important to committees working on seating and table decorations, to say nothing of the fact that there are financial obligations to meet with money coming from ticket sales.

The dance is shaping up nicely, and several businessmen in the area have offered to donate door prizes. Other men in the sub connected with business concerns that may be interested in doing likewise should contact Jackie Mathot, GR 6-3823. Those cute flyers, by the way, are a la Marion Tournaud.

So c'mon - the dance is little more than a week away. Get your ticket now

While we're jingle-belling, Nancy O'Malley called to say that the Holy Rosary Circle of St. Fabian's needs help this year in their annual project of dressing dolls for St. Vincents Orphanage. Any of the women in the sub willing to help by outfitting a doll can obtain one by calling Nancy, GR 4-0985, or Ginger Rennell, 476-0758. The dolls must be finished by December 15 and returned to St. Vincents to insure a lot of little girls a merry Christmas.

The papers at this time of year are full of pictures of proud hunters displaying their bounty, but so far I have been unable to locate any successful Kimberley deer hunters.

JIM HOSLER AND a party of three other men spent several days at Grayling, Michigan but all returned empty-handed. This was Jim's eighth year deer hunting with his former neighbors from Redford, and despite a doe license this season the Hoslers still aren't eating venison.

Phil Northen and a party of 5 men tramped the woods around White Cloud, and although one of the hunters was successful, Phil returned clean-fendered. Last year Phil hunted in a party of 9, and 4 returned with deer - the ratio this season was a lot slimmer. Let me know if some Kimberleyite is sporting a new deer-head trophy over the mantle.

Two of our younger element, Patty Kimbrough, 15, and Mary Bagnall, 17, spent Thanksgiving in New York City courtesy of the Y-Teens, who sponsored the trip.

Some 27 members of the Y-Teens, 16 from the Farmington area, left on Wednesday night, November 21, to spend four days at the Henry Hudson Hotel in New York. Mary reported that the agenda was jam-packed, and included such thrills as Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade, seeing the Rockettes and "Carnival" on Broadway, visits to the UN Building, Statue of Liberty, Greenwich Village, and many more famous landmarks. A truly unforgettable holiday for Mary and Patty!

By the way - glad to report that Peg Bagnall is recuperating after her automobile accident a month ago. Peg was the victim of a two car chain reaction that struck her car from behind at Ten Mile and Northwestern as she was on the way to work one morning. The car caught fire and was almost a total loss, and Peg suffered a terrible shock to her nervous system. To complicate matters she's allergic to all medication that would help, and therefore has just recently been able to return to her job with the Detroit Insurance Agency.

BIRTHDAY BESTS this week to Cathy Gatrost, 13 on November 24, to Jim Wilmer, 13 on October 27, to Drew Norton, one year old on November 22, and to Buz Tournaud, 10 on November 27.

Buz was born on Thanksgiving day ten years ago, so every year his birthday is incorporated into the family Thanksgiving celebration This year the festivities included Mr. Bill Welborn and his two children, from Milford, Michigan.

The following night Buz invited Tim Colley to spend the night, and the two boys "camped out" in tent and sleeping bags on the Tournaud family room floor, after large helpings of birthday cake
