PTA to Sponsor Square Dance

The Gill School PTA is happy to be able to offer square dancing for the children on Saturday afternoons.

Arrangements have been made, with Mr. Lou Davis to meet with the children under the same plan as last year. The hours will be 1 - 3 p.m. This activity is for all children of the community between the ages of 9 - 15.

The first class will meet this Saturday, February 16th, at the Gill School.

The children are requested to bring their gym shoes to wear when dancing as a protection against slipping and falling.

This program will run for 14 weeks, but only those who are registered during the first three weeks will be able to participate.

Michigan State University offers the nation's only four-year degree program in packaging, a $20-billion-a-year industry.

PARENTS CAN HAM IT UP as well as kids do sometimes and the group of Franklin Valley Association members rehearsing above are no exception. They will present a skit in pantomine this Saturday night, February 16, at the Eagle Elementary School in Farmington Township where a pot luck supper will be held. The scene above is taken from the Broadway musicale, "How to Succeed in Business," and represents the reaction to the predicament of "No Coffee!!" The pot luck supper and show is entitled, "Peaks and Valleys" and is being presented by the Association for all the residents of Franklin Valley.

Delicious food, a marvelous speaker and laughter is promised for the February meeting of the Beechview P.T.A.

LADIES STEP FORWARD

BY JEAN

You have an exciting adventure in store with the ownership of a fur. Whether you own a fur, win a fur or plan to purchase a fur, this column is going to help you increase your knowledge in the selection of furs by presenting the following fur information in chart form:

FUR and CHARACTERISTICS	YOU SHOULD LOOK FOR
PIECED MINK GILLS	Spotted white on dark brown or beige or gray background. Currently a popular young fur.
PAWS	Worked in chevron pattern.
SIDES	Solid colored, pieced together for garments and linings.
MUSKRAT	Dense, short underfur with strong guard hairs. Sides and bellies of silver shades are often worked skin on skin in coats. Backs are darker colored, with longer top hairs, heavier underfur.
NORTHERN	Let-out or skin-on-skin; dyed to simulate mink. (Come from anywhere in Northern U.S. except Louisiana and Texas.)
SOUTHERN	From Texas and Louisiana; flat with little underfur.
BLACK-DYED, SHEARED	Formerly called Hudson seal; sheared, plucked, and dyed to resemble black-dyed fur seal.
NUTRIA	Short, dense, dark brown underfur is usually sheared, guard hairs plucked. Uniformity of color.
OPOSSUM (Australian)	Short fur; close even dense underfurs. Sparse guard hair. Colors range from yellow-gray to blue-gray. Soft, dense, blue-gray tones.
RIVER OTTER (South American)	Short, sleek, flat, fur. Naturally brown. Bleached and dyed; beige and pastel shades. Sleek, flat, lustrous fur.
RABBIT	Usually sheared and dyed to simulate other furs. Available in many bright and pastel colors, or in chinchilla pattern. Silky texture. Uniformity of color and texture.
RACCOON (Natural)	Long, silver, black-tipped guard hairs, dense, woolly underfur usually in natural color or tip-dyed. Silvery cast, heavy underfur with plenty of guard hair.
Sheared	Natural or tip-dyed brown to resemble beaver. Also dyed various colors. Silky texture, even shearing.
RUSSIAN SABLE	Member of the marten family. Brown, soft, dense, medium-long hair, always popular, especially in small furs, trimmings. Also dyed black. Soft, deep pile in dark, lustrous brown. Silky guard hairs.

We will conclude our fur chart in next week's column. You may have a problem due to the fact you don't own a fur. If this is the case, try your opportunity at getting one in Jean's Bel-Aire Beauty-Rama. First prize is a beautiful Norwegian Blue Fox Fur.

Girl Scout News

From February 8-18, Farmington Girl Scouts will join their Southern Oakland Council sisters in taking orders from neighbors, relatives and friends for five varieties of specially baked Girl Scout Cookies.

Proceeds from the Annual Cookie Sale are used to expand the Southern Oakland Council camping program, both neighborhood camps and established campsites, so that more girls may benefit from this most vital and exciting part of the Girl Scout program.

COOKIES ARE PRICED at 45 cents a box, and each Intermediate and Senior Troop retains 5 cents from each box of cookies sold by the Troop for its own Troop treasury.

Brownie Scouts do not participate in the Cookie Sale. Cookies are ordered in February and then delivered the first two weeks in March, fresh and ready for instant nibbling or freezing for future use.

Community interest and participation in the Annual Cookie Sale make it a success and enable an increasing number of Farmington Scouts to enjoy the delights of outdoor life.
