Area Council of PTA Holds Feb. 13 Meeting

The Farmington Area Council of PTA met recently at the Farmington Jr. High School. James Brush, Council President, introduced Mrs. Peter Bogatnoff, chairman of the Scholarship Committee, who announced that to date five hundred and twenty dollars has been pledged to the scholarship fund.

This year, Middlebelt PTA has pledged three hundred dollars; Beechview, fifty; Eagle, fifty; Ten Mile, fifty; Longacre, thirty-five; Alameda, twenty-five; and Farmington Junior High, ten. In addition to this Kenbrook has already sent a check for twenty-five dollars. This is an excellent start for the scholarship fund.

MRS. BOGATNOFF who is also chairman of the Nominating Committee, introduced the slate of officers for next year. James Brush has agreed to serve again as President. He is the current president of the Council. He is also the president of the Cloverdale PTA during the 1961-62 year in addition to his other activities in the Farmington area. Mr. Aldo Vagnoli, the current Council president, has agreed to resign in that position. He is now the President of the Beechview PTA.

Once again Mrs. Pauline Davis has been nominated to the office as Treasurer, a job which she so capably handles now. During the 1961-62 year she served as Council Historian. Mrs. Davis is a member of the Cloverdale PTA.

The nomination to the office of Recording Secretary has been accepted by Mrs. Duane Norman, who is the current president of Longacre PTA.

Mrs. A. Lennox, the current Council Historian, has accepted the nomination to the office of Corresponding Secretary.

Mrs. Peter Bogatnoff, who is present in serving as Historian, has agreed to serve another year in this office.

MRS. JOHN SLAGLE, chairman of the Project Committee, announced the details of the play, "The Emperor's New Clothes," which will be presented on Saturday, March 16, at the Farmington Junior High School.

PTA Council Play for Children Set for Mar. 16

Once again the Farmington Area Council of Parent-Teacher Associations is pleased to announce that they have arranged for the Wayne State University Children's Theatre to perform in Farmington.

This year's play, "The Emperor's New Clothes," will be presented on Saturday, March 16, at the Farmington Junior High School.

Performances are scheduled for 10:00 a.m., 1:00 p.m., and 3:30 p.m. The tickets are reasonably priced for both adults and children and will be available at all the elementary schools in Farmington. Sale dates will be announced at each school.

Profits from this venture will go to swell the Council's Scholarship Fund. This year the council hopes to be able to award four or five scholarships in contrast to the two given last year, which was the first year the Scholarship Fund was active.

FOR OVER twenty years, the Wayne State University Theatre has toured children's plays to the schools in an attempt to help incorporate the arts into the school program. Playtime to over 30,000 children with the play, the Wayne Children's Theatre has one of the largest children's theatres in the United States.

"The Emperor's New Clothes" is a play which has become well known for its productions for children, having produced plays as "Aladdin," "Hansel and Gretel," and "The Seven League Boots." He has also been a member of the staff at the Cain School of Drama in New York.

He has directed such plays as "Huckleberry Finn" and "The Elves and the Shoemaker." His adult productions at Wayne include "A Country Scandal," "The Cruelty of the Heart," and "The Emperor's New Clothes."

The excellent job he did as M.C. of the Aqua Antics show. Mildred Leber and Robert Burnham of Fayetteville, Ark., exchanged marriage vows in the chapel of the beautiful North Congregational Church in Southfield, Wednesday, February 6, with Dr. Reed officiating at the double ceremony.

The bride's daughter of Mrs. Emily C. Maxon of Brookline, Massachusetts, and sister of Matthew Maxon, 2133 S. Grand, Farmington, was given away by her son by a previous marriage, William Leber. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. William Burnham of Cambridge, Massachusetts.

The bride wore a street length dress of turquoise silk shantung, fashioned with a bell skirt and bust neckline. The lovely dress was set off by an exquisite necklace of white pearls, a gift from the bridegroom. A small, white, flowered hat completed her outfit, and she carried a cascade of white stephanotis centered with a white orchid, blue tufts and English ivy.

GERALDINE MAXON of Boston, Massachusetts, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a softly draped, gold chiffon street length dress. The best man was Matthew Maxon, brother of the bride.

After the ceremony, the bridal party and the immediate family enjoyed a champagne dinner at the Coach and Four dining room at Stouffer's Northland Inn.

In the evening, a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Maxon in Forest Park subdivision. Guests from Forest Park were Mr. and Mrs. George Riskey and Mrs. Vivienne, Kenneth, and Paul, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Schmidt, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. Edna, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hoff, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Zuchowski, Mr. and Mrs. E. Ash, Mr. and Mrs. C. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Dolph Ansini, Mr. and Mrs. Al Smith, and Mrs. Al Smith.

OUT OF TOWN guests were Mrs. Emily Maxon from Brookline, Mass., Mrs. Mary Leber from Toledo, Ohio, Mrs. Daniel Wetherbee from New York, Mr. Richard Littlefield from Cambridge, Mass.

After a short honeymoon trip, the newlyweds will return to Fayetteville, where they will centrally. Had was best known for make their home.

THE CURRENT production designed especially for a chilling but clothes. The Minister of the Robs plays on this weakness to rob the royal weavers and persecute the Emperor. Two rollicking rogues convince the Emperor that they can weave a stuff which cannot be seen by anyone until for the position he holds.

EVERYONE is afraid to confess that he cannot see the new clothes the Emperor orders. The comedy situations which result enable the rogues to save the Emperor and the weavers and expose the villainy of the Minister. The Emperor proudly walks in procession clad in nothing but his underclothes to show his people the glory of his new clothes.

The setting was designed by Russ Smith, the theatre's technical director, with costumes by Robert Rusko. The Children's Theatre tour is under the supervision of Leonard Leander, director of the Wayne State University Theatre.

The company includes Norma Simpson, Miriam Silverstein, Barbara Tarback, Norman Hamilton, Philip Piro, Leonard Walcott, Joyce Kinnon, George Wright, Harry Kanter, Gary Maxwell and Katherine Bush.

New Officers Elected by Kendallarks

The Kendallarks, a popular Farmington singing group, met on Friday, Feb. 22, at the home of Mrs. Mary Belanger to elect new officers.

Marlene Belanger, who has been with the vocal group since 1957, was elected to the office of president.

Wyn Hartson, one of the newest members of the Kendallarks, was elected to serve as vice-president.

Margaret Marlowe and Marlene Belanger will continue as treasurer and librarian, respectively.

THE GIRLS ARE busily rehearsing for their annual concert. Their repertoire includes numbers from both current and favorite Broadway shows and lovely sacred music.

The Kendallarks are happy to welcome two new members into their ranks. The newcomers were formally greeted in the group at the last meeting. Club officers extend a warm invitation to all interested women who live in the area who would like to join their organization. New members are still being accepted.

Information concerning membership or engagement commitments can be obtained by calling Marlene Belanger, GR. 4-7009, or the director of the Kendallarks, Mrs. E. Ellegood, GR. 4-8540.

On February 2 Ruth and Harry Ramsey caught a jet bound for Florida—Harry to attend a business conference, Ruth to relax and enjoy herself. They were in Miami for two days, then spent the remainder of the week in Boca Raton.

Birthday seems to be the style this month. Pam Siegenbach of Ravenna, Ohio, celebrated her eighth birthday on Wednesday, February 13.

The Pratt family of Old Bedford held a combined celebration. Don had his day on the sixth. Glenn's day was the eighth and Tracy took cupcakes to school on her day, the thirteenth. A party was held for all last week with special guests from Bowling Green, Ohio.

Grandmother Paul from Benton Harbor and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Pratt from Eau Claire. The guests combined a week-end visit with the party celebration.

GLORIA DEVLIN had her exercising session with Wilma Pratt interrupted when friends surprised her with a birthday cake on Monday the eleventh. Bringing the cake and best wishes were Marion Palmer, Lou Hatch and Rita Siegenbach.

Debbie Dunn of Briarson was eleven on Feb. 13 but she had an early celebration with a slumber party on Friday. Her little guests included Lisa Bernadette, Gail Mann, Marla Albright, Susan Flanke, Kathy Adams and Diane Reimer.

The Manns had a busy week. On the twelfth we celebrated our nineteenth wedding anniversary. The next day we drove to Dearborn to see Jack's brother who was there with the swimming team from Bowling Green University. Then on the weekend we were pleased to have Jack's other brother, his wife and children visit with us from Akron, Ohio.

Florence Nauman and Bill's mother walked off with prizes at the Mother-Daughter Banquet at the Orchard Methodist Church last Friday. To receive prizes for having the most daughters present and Mrs. Nauman was the oldest mother at the dinner.

IF YOU MARKED April 27th as the date of the Briar Hill Spring Dance, please change it. The official date is now May 1. More to join this very special affair later.

Information concerning membership or engagement commitments can be obtained by calling Marlene Belanger, GR. 4-7009, or the director of the Kendallarks, Mrs. E. Ellegood, GR. 4-8540.
