Miss L. A. Ault GR. 4-4294

Honoring her mother, Mrs. M. Emerson Ault, of Mayfield Ave., Mrs. Edwin L. Johnson gave a nice little dinner at her home on Clarita Ave. Tuesday evening, the 12th. Mrs. Ault has been showered this week with congratulatory cards and lovely remembrances from relatives, neighbors and her many friends.

Mrs. Edna Vance and Mrs. Chas. A. Armstrong, of Mayfield Ave., and Mrs. Wilfred Blackney, of Hubbard Ave., attended together a Friendly Workers' Group meeting in Farmington Tuesday.

Mrs. Helen Ault and Mrs. Betty Graham, of Mayfield Ave., visited with Mrs. Maude Tanner, in Detroit, Saturday.

Mrs. Helen Butler, of Hubbard Ave., is expecting her son Gerald, who is serving with the U. S. Air Force, to get his discharge soon and be home again.

MISS DOLORES VARIHOL, Shady Side Ave., was visiting in Wayne Co. General Hospital one day last week.

Freda Ault, Norfolk Ave., was a visitor in Harper Hospital Tuesday.

Mark, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Schull, Laurel Ave., who has been hospitalized, ill with flu, is now recovered, and home again.

Our local Brownies have new sold and delivered their quota of Girl Scout Cookies—in this neighborhood, the Wins, Mary and Janet Knipple, were most diligent workers.

Junior Chamber of Commerce To Stage Annual Musicale

After nearly three months of writing and selection of the score, plus some ten or twelve choruses and cast rehearsals the Farmington J.C.'s held their final dress rehearsal and all is ready for this year's show "Contrast in Rhythm." From all advance notices this year's show need not take a back seat to any previous show. For fifteen years the J.C.'s with the help of their wives have presented a musical variety show about this time of the year. For twelve of these years the basic format being a minstrel show. Three years ago the J.C.'s made a change to a Boaring Twenties type show, following "Over There," "No Biz Like Show Biz." THIS YEAR they continue to change the format by presenting a two act performance; each act depicting a different location and setting. In addition to their excellent talent, several professional acts will be featured. Proceeds from this year's show, as in the past, will be returned to the community in the form of donations, scholarships and other J.C. projects. One of the largest being the annual Easter egg hunt which will be held this year in April. Some of the recipients of do-24.

This is Kimberley

JUDY BURNS GR. 4-3112

The Kimberley Association held election of officers at the March 13 meeting, with the following results: Dave Wilmer, president, Frank Hornacek, vice-president, recording secretary, Shirley Pfaffman, corresponding secretary, Rita Soles, treasurer, Hugh Toupin, and trustees, Carl Wel- li, Dave Stader, and John Pichurski.

A for sale sign has gone up on the lawn of the Nelson home on Greythorne, and a for sale sign is about to be placed on the Robinson's lawn on Fiddlers Green. Clair and Mary and their children, Monica and Patrick, have been transferred back to Cleveland in connection with Clair's job as vice-president of Western Carriage. Their house has been sold and awaits only the final signing of papers.

Saying goodbye to Kimberley is followed shortly by greeting of hello, so this week we belatedly welcome several families who were never formally introduced.

ANTHA AND BOB COMPTON of Fiddlers Green, native Detroiters, moved into their Barrington model with their children, David, 12½, Bill, 9, and Kathy, 4, several months ago. Bob does field work for Galsheil and Burwell, a firm of mechanical consulting engineers, and Antha is the talented Ogden Nash.

Welcome, too, to Lucille and John Haecker, owners of the beautiful Whitehall at the corner of Westmeath and Greythorne. The Haecker's daughter, Dorothy, teaches physical education at Roberts and Palmer the past years - to Europe and to the Far East. A new house keeps them landlocked this season, but Martha and Les look forward to many more such fabulous tours in future years.

VACATIONING on a smaller scale in recent weeks were Doug and Barb Shaw of Pipers Lane, who spent a weekend at Shanty Creek in Belaire, a new ski lodge that is reportedly fabulous.

The Shaws also spent a weekend at Lake Valley in Grayling with their children and six other families. The group of friends rented the on-site resort for several days, and enjoyed a wonderful winter holiday.

Doug's mother, Mrs. Christina Shaw of Alpena, Michigan is currently visiting Doug and Barb until the weather permits her to return to her home in northern Michigan.

Other nomadic Kimberleyites include Ray and JoAnne Tunc of Pipers Lane, brown as berries after two weeks in Sarasota, Florida. The Tuncs and their children, Ellen, 9, John, 7, and Bobby, 3, spent a leisurely vacation sight-seeing and sun-bathing, and report that they had a wonderful time!

Birthday greetings are extended this week to Barbara Ann Vagnozzi, 3 on March 15, to Eleanor May on the same date, to little Jill Gibbons, celebrating that monumental first birthday on March 20, to Laurie Shaw, 7 on February 23, and to Lee Katterman, 11 on March 19. Anniversary bouquets to Doug and Barb Shaw, who celebrated 8 years of marriage on March 5 with dinner at the London Chop House.

The Joys, incidentally, have accompanied this group on trips throughout the world in Vets Support your Legion Post
