Passes Out Cigars to His Customers

Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Rosinski of Bannockburn Drive are the proud grandparents of a new granddaughter, Kimberly Brooks Jones, who was born on June 21st, at Sparrow Hospital, Lansing.

The mother, the former Bette Ann Rosinski, and the baby are doing fine.

The father, Robert Alan Jones, who owns the Disc Shop in East Lansing, is so proud of the newcomer that he passed out cigars to all his customers for a whole week.

No state has a better record of success by business firms than Michigan.

Two Farmington Girls Sing in Youth Chorale

The Michigan Youth Chorale which is to sing in England, Finland, Sweden and Denmark this summer, was founded in 1958. Each year 70 young people (all 17 years of age) are selected from the whole of Michigan, a state equal in area to England and Wales.

They are chosen for the quality of their voices, their musicianship and, equally important, for their potentiality as good ambassadors of America in other countries. Throughout the winter they rehearse for the coming summer tour, many of them traveling up to 100 miles for each rehearsal. In addition, each member of the Youth Chorale has to find $755, for the privilege of taking part in the tour, but should any applicant be unable to find the whole or part of this sum, the local community setsto work to raise it, for it is an honour in the eyes of the local community for one of their number to be a member of this Michigan Youth Chorale.

SUE SEELEY

MARCELLA NEAL

MARCELLA NEAL, 30443 Rockshire, and Susan Seeley, 23276 Farmington Road, left for England and the Scandinavian countries June 27.

They are Farmington's first members of the Michigan Youth Chorale. Both were 1963 Honors graduate of Farmington High School.

Marcella was the top-ranking member of the class. She was a member of the Falconaires for three years, while Susan was a member of Twelve Tones. Both groups are under the direction of Mr. William Feucht.

The Youth Chorale's repertoire ranges from the classical to the modern Broadway musical comedy and "pop" songs, but perhaps the most interesting sections are the interpretation of the Negro Spirituals and the American folk songs. Lester Mc-Coy, the conductor of the youth chorale has had adistinguished career as tenor soloist and conductor and since 1947 he has conducted the Michigan University Choral Union of 300 voices.

In 1958 and 1959, the Youth Chorale toured Europe giving concerts in Holland, Sweden, Denmark, Finland, France, Germany, Northern Ireland and England. In 1960 and 1961 they toured South America, visiting Colombia, Peru, Brazil, Uruguay and Argentina. Their audiences have varied in number from a few hundred to over 4,000 and in 1961 they sang to a total audience of 70,000 quite apart from radio and television broadcasts. In 1962 the tour took them to Northern Ireland, Holland, Germany and England and it was in this year that they first came to the Midlands making a three-day visit to Burton upon Trent. This visit was a most impressive one and at the public concert in the Burton Town Hall, the Youth Chorale received a standing ovation and from all sides came pressing requests for another visit in the following year. The plans for 1963, however, did not include a visit to England, but so warm a relationship was established during the short three-day visit to Burton that the plans for 1963 were amended to provide for a 16-day visit to Burton upon Trent with a programme of public and private concerts not only in Burton but also in the counties of Derby, Stafford, Leicester and Warwick.

During this 16-day period each member of the Youth Chorale, as last year, will stay with a Burton family. These 70 singers, however, will not be the only young people from Michigan staying in Burton at this time for the Michigan Youth Chorale is only one part of the YOUTH FOR UNDERSTANDING PROGRAM of the Michigan Council of Churches.

THIS PROGRAM HAS had the moral and financial support of the United States government since its inception shortly after the war when John Eberly, visiting church families in Germany, was deeply concerned about the interpretation of America in a country where the United States had troops of occupation. The Program, administered by Mrs. Rachel Andreson of Ann Arbor, has steadily grown in scope and under it some 2,000 young people of 17 years of age have come from 27 different countries to spend a year with Michigan families and to attend American high schools. In reverse, several hundred Michigan boys and girls have come to stay with European families for a summer period of eight or nine weeks.

It was five years ago that Burton upon Trent first took part in the Program. In the years 1959 to 1962, three grammar school boys and one high school girl have spent a year with Michigan families, but this year there has been a sudden and astonishing increase in the numbers interested in the YOUTH FOR UNDERSTANDING PROGRAM, and this is certainly in part due to the visit of the Youth Chorale to Burton in 1962. The young people of the Youth Chorale won great admiration for their fine singing, but, in addition, they won admiration and affection for their charm and warm friendliness. They were indeed good ambassadors.

And so in addition to the much longer visit from the Youth Chorale, this year will also see nine 17-year-old Burton boys and girls going to Michigan for a year. Furthermore, ten Michigan girls are coming to stay summer period of ten weeks. Lastly, for the first time so far as England is concerned, a girl will come from Michigan to spend a year with a Burton family and to attend the Burton Girls' High School.

THIS SUBSTANTIAL number of "exchanges" between a small English County Borough and the State of Michigan, coupled with the 16-day visit of the Michigan Youth Chorale is surely a very significant item in the growth of understanding between the young people (and their elders) of England and America.

On Sunday, September 1, the Youth Chorale will give their final concert in Hill Auditorium, Ann Arbor, Michigan, at 3 p.m. This will be under the joint sponsorship of the University Musical Society and the Michigan Council of Churches; and the public is invited to attend free of charge.

The Olgierd Szceniwoski family on St. Mary Ct. celebrated the 4th of July with a very special meaning this year. On that date, they were reunited with a son, Jeremy Szceniowski, who is here visiting them from Poland. He is a student from the University of Warsaw, where he is majoring in Philosophy. This is his first trip to the United States.

On July 7th, Kim Watzke, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Watzke of St. Mary Ct. celebrated his birthday. There was a family dinner and the guest of honor was delighted with his "number 3" birthday cake. Kim's grandparents were also present for the festivities.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN Doyle of Elizabeth Ct. have just returned from a week's vacation in Indiana. They visited Indianapolis, Fort Wayne, and on their return home stopped to see their friends, the Burtons, at Lake Wawassee.

Over the 4th of July weekend, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Lang and their sons, Lennie and Jimmie, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brauer and their children, Betty, Bobby and Larry.

We also wish to say "Happy Birthday" to Kathy Dinan who was four years old July 6.

Marie Mutschall has been appointed general chairman of the Our Lady of Sorrows Fall Festival and her co-chairmen will be Pat Centers and Rose Marie Shannahan.

YOUR PHARMACIST SPEAKS

By:
JOHN D. SCHMALZ, R.Ph.

Mankind owes a great debt to Joseph Lister, for it is very possible that the lives saved by this brilliant surgeon's work are numbered in the millions.

It was Lister who introduced antisepsis less than a century ago, and this means of preventing infection removed the final great stumbling block to modern surgery.

In Lister's day, surgery was a chancey and discouraging proposition in that no matter how fine the surgeon's talent and despite careful planning, patient mortality was alarmingly high due to post-surgery infections.

In our day, prescriptions are becoming increasingly more important to our health and well being from time to time. Look for a complete prescription service at JOHN S. PHARMACY, 31511 - 12 Mile Rd. Phone GR. 4-4700. As an added service we keep prescription records for income tax purposes.
