

Farmington Nazi Was Big, Rough, Tough Back in 1943

"He was tough. A former sailor in the merchant marine, he was thick-set and bullish, with watery eyes, and florid face. He had a 'beer nose' — red-purple in color, spotted, the shape of an elongated potato. "He swore continually in the presence of his wife. His attacks on Jews were much more vicious than most I had heard during my investigations. . . . He expressed disgust with Americans. . . . "He pulled out a Colt-45 and handled it gingerly. The bullets from this baby will blow a six-inch hole in you," he said. "As we talked on, it became apparent that he was an essentially violent man. He loved violence. He spoke continually of it. He cited the instance of beating up a laundry delivery man. "He was also the type that had to have a scapegoat for his failings. He had to have somebody to bully continually. A world without having someone was a world intolerable to Roberts. "He had to humiliate and bully and feel superior in order to live. Then, too, he lived in constant fear of the unknown. "Roberts had the most perfectly developed fascist mind it was my ill-gotten fortune to study at close range. "This was John Roy Carlson's impression of Russell Roberts in 1943, when Roberts was the mastermind behind the National Workers League. The NWL was described by Carlson as "not the largest." "But its influence was far-reaching, and its work of sabotaging the war morale was effective. It struck at the most vulnerable sector of America's war effort—Labor." Carlson wrote this account in his best-selling expose on World War II subversion, "Undercover." Roberts describes the description as a "sneer" and says it "caused me to be in ill-repute, in St. Clair Shores, where I was living." Twenty-two years later, Roberts bears little resemblance to the formidable portrait Carlson painted of him. He is now white-haired and fat when David Eklia and I interviewed him at his home at 32710 Grand River, in Farmington, on Monday, Feb. 1. He was even-tempered, and well-mannered, and spoke with quiet sincerity. I introduced myself as "Al" — leaving it to Roberts to ask — if he wished — what the rest of my name was. He did not. I asked him what he thought of Jews. He said he had met a couple of good ones — "40 years ago." Then he asked me if I was Jewish. I said I was, and matter-of-factly asked him what he had against us. Just as matter-of-factly, he replied that we are a "parasitic race"; that we don't work, but live off the efforts of others. I said I hoped he would take note of the fact that I was working. He assured me he would, and remained pleasant throughout our interview. Roberts says he does not hate Negroes, he pities them. "They are definitely inferior, and are being exploited by Jewish civil rights agitators." "What," I asked "should be done with the Jews?" He replied: "That will be up to our leaders, when we come to power." A pretty good hint as to what that fate would be is contained in "The Stormtrooper's Manual," which Roberts gave us, and which he said represented his views 100 per cent. On page four, the Manual asks: "Why do we advocate gas chambers for traitors?" Its answer: "The extent of traitorous conspiracy requires a large scale method of execution. Also the tradition exemplified by gas chambers drives traitors frantic, and helps expose them." Roberts will not disclose what the movement's strength is in Michigan. Nor will he say what he, personally, is doing for the cause. However, he attracted the attention of the Farmington Police Dept., on Dec. 12, of last year, when he stopped a 14-year-old boy, and offered him a quarter, to distribute Nazi literature. The boy's parents called the police, and they began an investigation that led to his arrest. Roberts has lived in the Farmington area — both in the City and in the Township since 1951, and claims to have many friends here. In Farmington, he is "unwittingly" becoming a national figure. "I don't know of a better one," he says, "he does not hate Catholics or Protestants; though he says he is like his idol Hitler (Shores, Mich., and grew up in Saginaw. He was a fairly successful professional prize fighter before two years. Insufficient funds forced him to drop out of Carnegie Tech, after two years.

"He was tough. A former sailor in the merchant marine, he was thick-set and bullish, with watery eyes, and florid face. He had a 'beer nose' — red-purple in color, spotted, the shape of an elongated potato. "He swore continually in the presence of his wife. His attacks on Jews were much more vicious than most I had heard during my investigations. . . . He expressed disgust with Americans. . . . "He pulled out a Colt-45 and handled it gingerly. The bullets from this baby will blow a six-inch hole in you," he said. "As we talked on, it became apparent that he was an essentially violent man. He loved violence. He spoke continually of it. He cited the instance of beating up a laundry delivery man. "He was also the type that had to have a scapegoat for his failings. He had to have somebody to bully continually. A world without having someone was a world intolerable to Roberts. "He had to humiliate and bully and feel superior in order to live. Then, too, he lived in constant fear of the unknown. "Roberts had the most perfectly developed fascist mind it was my ill-gotten fortune to study at close range. "This was John Roy Carlson's impression of Russell Roberts in 1943, when Roberts was the mastermind behind the National Workers League. The NWL was described by Carlson as "not the largest." "But its influence was far-reaching, and its work of sabotaging the war morale was effective. It struck at the most vulnerable sector of America's war effort—Labor." Carlson wrote this account in his best-selling expose on World War II subversion, "Undercover." Roberts describes the description as a "sneer" and says it "caused me to be in ill-repute, in St. Clair Shores, where I was living." Twenty-two years later, Roberts bears little resemblance to the formidable portrait Carlson painted of him. He is now white-haired and fat when David Eklia and I interviewed him at his home at 32710 Grand River, in Farmington, on Monday, Feb. 1. He was even-tempered, and well-mannered, and spoke with quiet sincerity. I introduced myself as "Al" — leaving it to Roberts to ask — if he wished — what the rest of my name was. He did not. I asked him what he thought of Jews. He said he had met a couple of good ones — "40 years ago." Then he asked me if I was Jewish. I said I was, and matter-of-factly asked him what he had against us. Just as matter-of-factly, he replied that we are a "parasitic race"; that we don't work, but live off the efforts of others. I said I hoped he would take note of the fact that I was working. He assured me he would, and remained pleasant throughout our interview. Roberts says he does not hate Negroes, he pities them. "They are definitely inferior, and are being exploited by Jewish civil rights agitators." "What," I asked "should be done with the Jews?" He replied: "That will be up to our leaders, when we come to power." A pretty good hint as to what that fate would be is contained in "The Stormtrooper's Manual," which Roberts gave us, and which he said represented his views 100 per cent. On page four, the Manual asks: "Why do we advocate gas chambers for traitors?" Its answer: "The extent of traitorous conspiracy requires a large scale method of execution. Also the tradition exemplified by gas chambers drives traitors frantic, and helps expose them." Roberts will not disclose what the movement's strength is in Michigan. Nor will he say what he, personally, is doing for the cause. However, he attracted the attention of the Farmington Police Dept., on Dec. 12, of last year, when he stopped a 14-year-old boy, and offered him a quarter, to distribute Nazi literature. The boy's parents called the police, and they began an investigation that led to his arrest. Roberts has lived in the Farmington area — both in the City and in the Township since 1951, and claims to have many friends here. In Farmington, he is "unwittingly" becoming a national figure. "I don't know of a better one," he says, "he does not hate Catholics or Protestants; though he says he is like his idol Hitler (Shores, Mich., and grew up in Saginaw. He was a fairly successful professional prize fighter before two years. Insufficient funds forced him to drop out of Carnegie Tech, after two years.

MUCHO FLAVOR — MUCHO VALUE!

DEL MONTE
FIESTA SALE

SUNNIEST SHOPPING
EVENT OF THE WINTER
NOW AT FOOD FAIR

DEL MONTE CALIFORNIA

Fruit Cocktail 5 1 LB. 1 OZ. CANS $1.00

DEL MONTE TENDER
Early Garden Peas 5 1 LB. 1 OZ. CANS $1.00

DEL MONTE CREAM STYLE OR
Whole Kernel Corn 6 1 LB. 1 OZ. CANS $1.00

DEL MONTE REGULAR OR
Stewed Tomatoes 4 1 LB. 1 OZ. CANS $1.00

DEL MONTE FRENCH STYLE OR
Cut Green Beans 4 1 LB. 1 OZ. CANS $1.00

DEL MONTE
Cut Wax Beans 4 1 LB. 1 OZ. CANS $1.00

DEL MONTE RICH, RED

Tomato Catsup 6 14 OZ. BTL. $1.00

FOR TASTY CASSEROLES—PINK
Del Monte Salmon 2 1 LB. CANS $1.00

DEL MONTE—LIGHT
Chunk Style Tuna 4 4 OZ. CANS $1.00

DEL MONTE DOUBLE
Rich Tomato Juice 3 14 OZ. CANS $1.00

PINEAPPLE-GRAPEFRUIT
Del Monte Drink 3 14 OZ. CANS $1.00

DEL MONTE HALVES
Bartlett Pears 3 1 LB. CANS $1.00

HALVES OR SLICES
DEL MONTE YELLOW

Cling Peaches 4 1 LB. 13 OZ. CANS $1.00

U.S. Choice Beef On Sale At Food Fair

FOOD FAIR Markets

USDA CHOICE

U.S. CHOICE BEEF CLUB STEAK OR T-Bone Steak LB. 99¢

U.S. CHOICE BEEF ROUND BONE Sirloin Steak LB. 89¢

U.S. CHOICE BEEF BLADE CUT Pot Roast LB. 49¢

U.S. CHOICE BEEF ROTISSERIE OR Rump Roast LB. 99¢

U.S. CHOICE BEEF 4TH AND 5TH RIB Rib Roast LB. 65¢

U.S. CHOICE BEEF FIRST 3-RIB Rib Roast LB. 79¢

U.S. CHOICE—ALL Beef 5 LB. PK. $1.89

U.S. CHOICE BEEF WHOLE, BONELESS Beef Brisket LB. 79¢

U.S. CHOICE BEEF STEAK Porter-House LB. $1.09

U.S. CHOICE BEEF HAMBURG Hamburg 5 LB. PK. $1.89

Pat Wankin In Winter MEAT AND CHICKEN Campbell's Soups 2 10 1/2 OZ. CANS 29¢ WITH COUPON BELOW

Northern Tissue 4 ROLL PACK 29¢ WITH COUPON BELOW

GRAPE JELLY 1 LB. 2 OZ. JAR 29¢ WITH COUPON BELOW

Extra Crisp'n' Crunchy CALIFORNIA ICEBERG Head Lettuce 2 24 SIZE HEADS 35¢

FARM MAID FRESH FROZEN Strawberry Halves 4 10 OZ. Pkg. 99¢

GRADE 1—BALL PARK Hygrade Skinless Franks 1 LB. Pkg. 59¢

CREAMED—LARGE & SMALL CURD Farm Maid Cottage Cheese 1 LB. Ctn. 19¢

THREE DELICIOUS FLAVORS Quaker Maid Sundae Cups 10 FOR 99¢

FREE BRECKSET LOTION INCLUDED—WITH COUPON BELOW Famous Breck Shampoo 8 OZ. Btl. 59¢

PERFECT FLAVOR Pinconning Mild Cheese LB. 49¢

Attention Coupon Clippers... Be Sure To Take Advantage Of These Values

MEAT & CHICKEN CAMPBELL'S SOUP 2 10 1/2 OZ. CANS 29¢

Northern TOILET TISSUE 4 ROLL PACK 29¢

GRAPE JELLY 1 LB. 2 OZ. JAR 29¢

BRECK SHAMPOO 8 OZ. BOTTLE 59¢

50 Extra S&H Stamps with this coupon and a PURCHASE OF $5 OR MORE

FOOD FAIR Markets

What makes a vote for PAUL A. KERN important? SEE PAGE 7-B

ELECTION QUIZ: Who has the experience of being a proven civic leader and vote getter? Answer Back Page VOTE FEB. 15 Paid political ad

35323 Plymouth at Yalo Livonia 27428 W. 6 Mile at Inkster Livonia Wonderland Shopping Center Livonia 27200 Joy Road at Inkster Redford Township 23632 Plymouth at Telegraph Redford Township 8244 Merriman Near Ann Arbor Trail Nankin Township 27415 Schoolcraft at Inkster Livonia 705 South Main at Linden Plymouth

LIVONIA MALL, 7 MILE AT MIDDLEBELT, LIVONIA