

Newlyweds Olivet College Alumni

On August 7 at two in the afternoon Linda Zay Ludington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orvis L. Henke, Farmington, became the bride of Thomas Keith Gorman, son of the Robert Gorman of Riverview, Redford Township, at Bushnell Congregational Church with the Rev. William Strait officiating. A reception for guests followed at the Rose-dale Park Civic Center. Later the wedding party and out of town guests had dinner at the Henke's home on James Court, Farmington.

The bride wore a floor length gown of grey tulle trimmed in points of Venice lace. The bouffant skirt extended to a chapel train completely encircled in Venice lace. Her matching pearl crown held a three-tier veil of silk illusion and she carried a nosegay of white carnations and pink roses.

Her attendants, Mrs. Martin A. Ludington, of Ann Arbor, matron of honor, Mrs. David M. Ludington, of Detroit, Miss Barbara Ann Horn, of Westport, Conn., and Miss Carol Nichols, of Detroit, wore floor length white Venetian lace over pink dresses. They carried nosegays of pink carnations with white roses. Wayne Gorman served as best man, with Gary Gorman, Robert Fane, William Teller acting as the groom's men.

Both attended Olivet College. Linda was affiliated with Alpha Lambda Epsilon. She was feature editor of the Olivet weekly, The Echo. After winning the 1964 Shipper award for creative writing she was made a member of the organization committee for the Shipper Literary Magazine. She is a member of Pi Psi Chi and Phi Kappa Phi. She is also a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

A June graduate of Olivet, Tom was affiliated with Alpha Phi Alpha Psi. He played varsity football for four years, intramural basketball and baseball. He will be teaching at the East Junior High School this fall, while his bride completes her studies at Wayne State University. Following their honeymoon at Hinchman Acres in Mio, the couple will reside at the Golfview Manor, West Seven Mile Road in Detroit.

Lengthen House

To make a little house look bigger, build a porch the length of the house front, with steps to porch leading up from one end. Use Douglas fir 2x4s on edge and set at right angles to house walls.

Keep porch railing to a simple pattern: a handrail with a minimum of supporting uprights or, give a good, lengthening horizontal line.

None are so blind that they can't see the faults of others.

Honeymoon In Canada

Geraldine Ann Krumm of Plymouth was united in marriage with William Edward Fox, Jr. of Dearborn on July 24 in St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Plymouth, in a five p.m. service.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald A. Krumm and the groom the son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Fox Sr. A peau de soie gown trimmed in Alencon lace with a cathedral train was chosen by the bride for her wedding. Her headpiece of Alencon lace with scattered pearl flowers held in place a finger veil. Her bouquet was of white roses, stephanotis, orchids and ivy.

Marilyn Nesseth was the maid of honor with Jeanie Kay Krumm, sister of the bride, and Diane Bell, cousin of the bride, identically dressed in yellow empire floor-length gowns. They carried yellow daisies. Tammie Bell, another cousin, was flower girl in yellow. Robert Kolielewski was best man and Richard Dembrowski and Clayton Guesche acted as the groomsmen.

Guests from Plymouth, Livonia, Bay City, Canada and Dearborn attended a reception honoring the newlyweds at the VFW Hall in Plymouth.

Following a wedding trip in Northern Michigan and Canada the young married couple will make their home until late autumn in Canada. In the fall they will move to Dearborn.

SUSANNE C. HAYES

Mrs. Margaret M. Hayes of Schoolcraft Road, Redford Township, announces the engagement of her daughter, Susanne Carol, to Wolfgang Guenter Hoppe. Miss Hayes and Hoppe both attend Western Michigan University. She is a graduate of Lee M. Thurston High School, and a member of Alpha Chi Omega. Hoppe is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Guenter B. Hoppe of Grand Rapids. An October wedding at the Trinity Evangelical United Brethren Church in Detroit is being planned.

Honor Graduate

Bonnie Jo Zeld, of Farmington, has graduated from Oakland University with Departmental honors in psychology, in the University's first summer term. Miss Zeld lives at 32511 Chesterbrook.

Ask Hana (Questions on Hairstyles And Beauty)

(Readers with beauty problems may write in care of this newspaper, "Ask Hana" and their questions will be answered via The Observer. Letters need not be signed.)

There are many problems presented to us in the course of an average day in our salon as I'm sure occur all over the country.

Girls don't want their hair cut too short; women don't want a light permanent; or not too much red in their hair—or etc. All in all far too many problems to be put in print.

Last week, however, I was faced with a challenging problem that is entirely out of my jurisdiction, and though very humorous in a sense, because it rings pathetically true of many American women.

After much consideration I was decided to turn the tables and ask the help of our readers.

Mrs. O. is a regular client at our salon. Her cultural patterns and customs that she brought from Europe have played a strong role in her life and although a little plumpish, she is feminine, charming and very much a lady.

She loves her adopted country but her English is not so good, and since my background is similar we thoroughly enjoy talking together even to the point of using our hands demonstratively for full effective understanding. It is with her full permission that I will attempt to write this in the style as close as possible to our conversation.

"We got two boys who don't want to get married. We sent them to college for a good education and they have good jobs. Me and my husband, we came to this country, we work hard, save our money, raise our children and we got everything, new house, new furniture, new car, but no grandchildren."

"My husband said 'you ask your beauty operator, maybe she knows some nice girls because mostly girls go to beauty shop.'"

"In the beginning we let them find their own girls, but they say they can't find nice girls so now we help. All our friends' children are married. All got one and some four or five grandchildren already and we got nothing."

"We tried everything. We talk to them. We beg them. We talk to our friends who have a daughter and arranged a date for them."

"When our boy came home from first date we all waited to hear what he had to say, and he said, 'hm-maybe.'"

"Oh! papa and I were so happy. We call our friends who have a wedding hall to rent and he said to give plenty of notice."

"So next Sunday our boy took this pretty girl to one of our picnics and she came with rollers in her hair. And now again there is no hope for grandchildren."

"We found a nice girl for the other boy but she looks like she's been in a fight because her eyes got so many black lines.

"Every time they go on a date, papa and I wait outside for the good word, but it's always something. The girls wear pants, or shorts too tight or the hair has different colors, or they smoke too much."

"They say 'mama, you don't wear rollers all the time, or wear pants on the street,' so I try."

"Papa help me to put some rollers in my hair and we bought some pants and papa laughed, and laughed. I think I will keep going to the beauty shop and wear skirts."

I said, "Mrs. O. this is the American way of life. The black lines are makeup and the pants are slacks and the girls like to wear rollers in their hair."

But somehow I have the feeling that these boys don't need explanations since one is a college professor and the other some kind of an engineer.

My problem is, or who has it?

Newcomers To Hear New City Manager

Richard D. Blodgett, new city manager of Plymouth, will speak at the first meeting of the fall season of the Plymouth Newcomers Club.

The luncheon session will begin at 12:30 p.m. at the Mayflower Hotel on Thursday, Sept. 9. Hospitality time will be from 12 to 12:30.

Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Delbert Piller at 453-4399 (A-M) and Mrs. Fred Wells at 453-7543 (N-Z). The reservations will close Sept. 7 and cancellations may be made by contacting Mrs. Neal Fennell at 453-4272.

Mrs. Blodgett will be a special guest of the club at the meeting and the interest group chairman will announce activities for the coming year.

Livonia Civic Chorus Seeks New Members

Livonia Civic Chorus was organized in the Spring of 1965, and will start its first full season, Thursday, Sept. 9. This adult group which is sponsored by the Livonia Department of Parks & Recreation, meets on Thursday evening at 8 p.m. in the Choral Room at Robert Frost School.

The chorus is under the leadership of Bob Slusarski, who has been a choral director for eight years and has directed groups in Chicago and Livonia. Plans of monthly performances for the coming season are being prepared along with two concerts, with music varying from popular to classical selections.

For further information contact: Donna Hirschfeld 427-3163 or Bill Grasso 425-4861. An invitation is extended to Livonia residents who enjoy singing to join our group.

MR. AND MRS. PHILIP P. CLARK

Betty Bowdle Weds Philip Clark in Garden

Betty Jean Bowdle became the bride of Philip P. Clark at a garden wedding at her parents' home Aug. 21. The Rev. Ronald Walker, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, performed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Nate Banks of Redford Township are the bride's parents, while Mr. and Mrs. Oris Clark of Redford Township are the parents of the bridegroom.

Given in marriage by her father, the new Mrs. Clark wore a short white gown of peau de soie and lace. She carried white and red roses.

Mrs. Gary Nelson served the matron of honor. She wore a street length pale blue gown of taffeta and lace.

Keith Thode was the best man.

A reception for 100 guests followed the ceremony. Out of town guests from Ohio, California, Georgia and Canada attended.

The bride is a 1964 graduate of Redford Union High School, for sinners, not saints.

Air Blanket Adds To Wall Insulation

Air has become an important factor in making your home cooler in the summer and warmer in the winter.

A new method of installing aluminum siding, which uses uniform metal stringers instead of nailed, provides an additional blanket of air between the house and siding.

This air space acts as a buffer against the transference of both heat and cold and increases the insulation potential of conventional siding.

Don't criticize anyone's religion by the actions of some of its followers—church is a place for sinners, not saints.
