

Garden City Beaten in Title Game

Dearborn Heights emerged as champions in the slopshir-tastic football tournament held in Livonia last weekend.

The Heights downed Garden City, 11-8, in the final game of the tournament.

In the earlier games, Garden City blasted Livonia, 14-3; Dearborn clubbed Garden City, 17-10, in the semifinals; and Dearborn downed Nankin, 12-4.

Fred Muschinski knocked out two homers to lead the Heights in the deciding game.

Johnny Johnson was the star for Garden City in the series. He collected 11 hits in 15 times at bat and also turned in a great defensive performance. Bob Samples contributed a homer and a single in the final game while Garden City's Don Hayes finished the series with seven hits in 13 appearances at the plate.

It's a Challenge, Says Falcons' New Grid Coach

"It's a challenge . . ."

The man doing the talking was newly named football coach Dick Tyler at Farmington high school.

Actually, Tyler is the "interim" coach, but more about that later.

"Yes, I was very surprised," he continued. "I had been a coach for a few days. When we got back there was the phone call from Jack Cotton (the Farmington athletic director)."

"He wanted to know if I would like to take over. He explained that Jack Hayes had resigned to take a college job. Bob Samples contributed a homer and a single in the final game while Garden City's Don Hayes finished the series with seven hits in 13 appearances at the plate."

Tyler, a former star himself in football at Farmington High, had been serving as Hayes' assistant for the last eight years.

A young man . . . he's just 30 . . . Tyler was looking ahead to stepping out of coaching athletic teams. He was thinking of working fulltime in administrative school work.

Already Tyler is in charge of adult education and the summer school program in the Farmington system. He also is assigned to attendance duties. Then, why the decision to take command in football?

"I enjoy working with boys and girls," he said. "When you plunge headlong into administration, the contact with the kids vanishes."

"To me this is a great opportunity. Who knows? Maybe I'll stick to coaching for a long time."

Tyler talked about the "interim" assignment.

"I have the job for a year," he said. "We decided on that because of the lateness of Hayes' departure. Finding a replacement for a head coach in late August is pretty tough."

"It was decided that after the 1965 season is over, all of us would examine the situation. It depends how things go . . . how I like the job."

"I'm under no pressure to remain at coach if I don't wish to. And the administration is under no pressure to keep me."

Tyler talked on.

"I guess every coach has two dreams: One is to become a head coach, the other to coach in college."

So, this has to make both Hayes and myself happy. Jack has the job he wanted—in college; I have my chance to be a boss in football."

Tyler has directed Farmington teams in the past in football and basketball.

During his prep days at Farmington, he was voted the Interlake League's Most Valuable Player as a senior. He played quarterback for the Falcons.

He went on to college at both Heidelberg and Eastern Michigan. He played end two years at Heidelberg.

EVEN DAD got interested when his tiny daughter tried her hand at landing a trout in the fishing contest sponsored by the Merchants Division of Livonia Mall Thursday, Friday and Saturday last week. Thousands of youngsters paid a dime to fish and hundreds went home with one of the hatchery-raised fish. The proceeds went to the Dollars For Scholars fund.

M's Bowl Kings Work Out

ANN ARBOR—Seventy-three invited candidates for positions on the University of Michigan's 1965 football squad gathered on Ferry Field Monday to open the Wolverines' 86th grid season since 1879.

The Wolverine invitees were joined by a number of other candidates who came back on their own seeking to earn a place on the varsity squad.

Head Coach Bump Elliott started his seventh season as Michigan's mentor when he called the group together at 8:30 a.m. for the initial meeting and workout.

The annual press photographers' session was held at 2 p.m., Monday with the players in full dress uniform for the picture-snapping session.

"Twice-daily sessions will be held until Monday, August 30, when University classes begin. From then on only afternoon sessions will be in order, starting at 3:30 p.m."

"We'll be all set for a quick start," Elliott said. "The pace will be fast the first week since we must get in a lot of conditioning and preliminary work in a short time. Since we're moving into a ten-game schedule this year, the opener with North Carolina down at Chapel Hill, September 18 will be only about four weeks off when we start."

Replacement of men in several key positions, principally at quarterback and the ends, were major problems as practice got under way, Elliott emphasized.

No letterman is available for the spot vacated by Bob Timberlake, graduated All-American quarterback, and all four starting ends, both offensive and defensive, are gone from last year's Big Ten and Rose Bowl champions. Elliott pointed out.

"Quarterback presents a serious problem with no experienced talent available," Elliott said. "Dick Vidner has shown good potential but he lacks game experience, and so does Wally Gahler."

Vidner, from Greensburg, Pa., was regarded as a possible understudy to Timberlake when he broke his leg in early fall practice. Gahler, a senior from Royal Oak, made the Rose Bowl trip and showed improvement during spring drills.

Captain Tom Cechinski heads the Wolverine line fall from his linebacking position, and All-American tackle Bill Yearby will be on hand for his senior season.

Cards, Elks Win

Livonia's Cardinals and Elks coveted themselves with more baseball glory last week.

Both teams won district and regional honors in their bids for state championships—the Cards in Class F competition for boys 13 and under—the Elks in Class D play for boys 13-15.

The Cards had to win three games to reach this week's state semifinals at Jackson. The Elks were a little more fortunate, being called upon to perform twice. And they won twice.

The Cards started their drive with a 6-0 win over Nankin in the districts. Then came an 11-0 romp over Plymouth and a 10-4 scalping of Jackson.

As for the Elks, first there was a 6-0 shutout at the expense of Novi, then an easy 12-5 win over Jackson.

Now for the details: Bob Slevert tried a one-hitter, struck out nine and didn't issue a walk as the Cards ripped aside Nankin. The game was suspended in the sixth inning because of darkness.

Slevert more than pitched a stellar game. He also was the hitting star for the Cards, unloading a triple and a single.

Three runs in the second inning put the Cards on easy street. Slevert and Bob Hood singled, then came three walks and a couple ground outs.

It was Randy Lee on the hill for the Cards in their 11-0 breeze against Plymouth. Lee was borrowed from the Livonia Phillies for the tournament and he justified the confidence the Cards had in him.

He whiffed the first six men to face him. In all, he struck out 15 in the game, while scattering two hits and walking four batsmen.

Dave Farwell struck the big blow for the victors with a homer and double. Matt Stachurski added a pair of singles while Jie Saputo slugged a triple.

Plymouth used three pitchers in an attempt to stop the Cards. Seven walks helped the Cards stifle.

Then it was on to the regional in Jackson for the Cards and an impressive 10-4 decision against the host city.

Slevert was back on the mound for the Cards. This time he was touched for six hits, while walking two. He struck out 10.

Roland Eveleth drilled a homer over the centerfield fence and a single for the victors. Lee also poked one out of the park while Chris Larsen and Hood each picked up a pair of singles.

The Cards sewed up matters with six runs in the sixth inning.

Saputo, Larsen and Dick McDams singled in a row. Then followed walks to Slevert and Eveleth before Hood singled. Dave Gregory drew a walk to help the Cards in their big explosion.

The Elks received a great shutout job from Gregory Coleman in jumping off to a winning start in the district tournament.

Coleman held Novi to three hits. He fanned five and enjoyed excellent control.

The victors were held to four hits, but took advantage of free passes to fatten their run total. Dave Storm collected half of the Elks' hits. Both were singles.

The winners tallied three times in the first inning when Storm opened with a single. Two errors and a walk netted one run. Then Craig Gray knocked over two more.

In the fourth inning, the Elks fashioned three more runs. Coleman walked and Storm was safe on an error. Bill Holstein delivered a sacrifice. Mark Donner walked and Dave Fisher singled.

Storm pitched the 12-8 verdict over Jackson. He issued just four hits while Dave Payden, Coleman and Holstein led the winners' hitting assault.

Payden slugged three singles. Coleman a double and triple and Holstein a double and single.

The Elks wrapped up the game with a six-run rally in the third inning.

Storm and Holstein singled in a row. Tom Fisher and Coleman doubled. After Donner walked, Dave Paden and Larry Draughn unloaded singles.
