REV. AND MRS. ARTHUR YOSS OF GLEN ORCHARD have just returned from a wonderful European trip. Their impressions were most interesting and they have generously shared them with us. The take-off from Holland on their trip to Paris was a memorable sight, all the beautiful bodies of water, the lovely flowers and rich crops. On arrival in Paris, they explored the "West Bank" and the "Levee Quarter," "Levee" department stores and shops.

In Berne, they traced their ancestors to the village of Uebisch, near Thun. Mrs. Hans Joss and her husband, college professor Dr. Hans Joss (away on a research trip). Lovely rolling valley surrounded by gorgeous mountain scenery. They found living in a picturesque farmhouse, their great-grandfather's home.

A MOST UNIQUE TABLE DECORATION was displayed by the American Association of University Women at their recent kick-off banquet. Centerpieces for each month of the year were placed on the long tables. It was fascinating to gaze on them and see everything from the bride's cake, Halloween pumpkin, Easter Bibles and Christmas greens!

Local Dems Livonians Don't Like Hurt Bad Broomfield In F'ton

"Sometimes when the motion falls as it did with the Medicare bill, Bouncing Bill Broomfield will then vote for passage of the bill. In this case he was able to say he was both for and against the bill depending on what his constituent favored."

This concludes a critique on Cong. Broomfield, in the news-letter of the Oakland County Democratic Party. The quote is from an article that compares the 18th District Republican legislator with his 19th District Democratic counterpart Billie S. Farnum.

It lists Farnum as having voted "right" and Broomfield "wrong" on the following issue: GOP motion to cut Inter-American Development Bank funds by $5 million. Passage of Apalachia Act. GOP motion to recommit elementary and secondary school bill. Passage of school bill. GOP motion to repeal medicare bill.

Resolution to allow USIA to show film on Pres. Kennedy called "Years of Lightening, Day of Drums." BILL to establish Dept. of Housing and Urban Development in Cabinet.

Extend Area Redevelopment Act for two months. GOP motion to delete rent supplement from housing bill. Passage of housing bill. GOP motion to cut poverty funds by half, from $1.9 bil. to $947 mil.

Repeal of section 148 of Taft Hartley Law. Passage of bill to extend Area Redevelopment Act and Accelerated Public Works.

Lansing Report

By RAYMOND BAKER
State Representative

The legislature has returned to Lansing for the Fall Session and once again fiscal reform looms as the most talked about subject.

Governor Romney has held a series of meetings with legislators of both parties in an attempt to work out a bipartisan tax package. Recently this group reached a consensus and bills are now being drafted.

Included in the package are measures which would:
—Repeat the business activities tax.
—Provide relief from local property taxes.
—Give taxpayers a $15 sales tax credit.
—Repeat intangibles tax on banks, building and loan shares.
—Increase personal exemption from $20 to $100.
—Establish a 3 per cent personal income tax.
—Create a 4 per cent income tax on corporations and financial institutions.
—Increase the cigarette tax rate by 3 cents.

Although this marks the first time that a true bipartisan approach has been attempted on fiscal reform, there still exist at least two major obstacles to final passage.

One is the fact that the state now has a $135 million surplus which raises arguments as to whether any tax action is needed at this time. Supporters of the package point out that even without the enactment of any new or improved programs, this surplus will be used up within the next few years. They continue, it is necessary to act now to prevent financial chaos in the future.

In addition, it is generally agreed that the current tax structure is inequitable and ought to be changed regardless of the current surplus condition. The other major obstacle is the refusal of the Democratic leadership to face up to this problem despite their own campaign promises to the contrary. They have consistently boycotted the bipartisan approach and appear to be committed to a course of obstructionism.

Without the interest of the majority party leadership, no major tax action is expected. For fiscal reform to pass this fall, many Democrats would have to buck the dictates of their leaders and such individuals are few and far between.

Under the circumstances it is difficult to forecast whether this issue will ever come up for a vote. However, I would appreciate receiving your views on this new fiscal reform package.
