Ruth Steiner thought she and Stan had celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary on October 6 but the following Saturday, Don and Monica Hug took them out for dinner. Upon returning home, Ruth found the house overflowing with friends—her children had planned a surprise party and Stan had sided and sided with them. They have a nice memento as their daughter, Sharon, and a friend, composed and sang a song for the occasion. Belated congratulations to you both.

They came to us from Ohio and now Marion and Gordon Newell plus children will be leaving us on October 15 for New Jersey. Their home on Old Bedford has been sold and they have purchased a new one at 18 High Ridge Road, Dover, New Jersey 07801. Its been nice knowing them and our best wishes go with them.

THE KLEINHANS family of Briarport spent the weekend of October 8 visiting Ted's parents in Ohio and giving a little help with some house painting. Their daughter, Cindy celebrated a birthday on the 12th several weeks ago and feels his lucky to be alive. He was traveling north on Miller, crossing Michigan Avenue, late one afternoon and a car went through a red light and hit head-center at the door beside the driver. Hank had stopped and could see the car coming and instinctively threw himself down on the seat be-Westbrook Manor's loss was our gain when Audrey and Dick Ware moved to Briar Hill in June. They occupy the ranch on the corner of Beacon tree and Briarport across from the Zeke Coops. Their son Tom is a senior at North Farmington and a member of the winning football team. They are all looking forward to this weekend when their daughter Cathy will come from Louisville, Kentucky for the happy occasion of her twenty-first birthday.

HANK ARAUZ is taking deeper breaths these days and looking at scenery more as he was in an automobile accident several weeks ago and feels his lucky to be alive. He was traveling north on Miller, crossing Michigan Avenue, late one afternoon and a car went through a red light and hit head-center at the door beside the driver. Hank had stopped and could see the car coming and instinctively threw himself down on the seat beside him. He came out of it badly bruised and a cut leg but with no complaints as the car was a total wreck, but he could walk around from it.
