

THE ANNUAL "MEN'S NIGHT" at Harv's Suburban Casuals was a big success this year as Christmas shopping for wives and sweethearts was made easy and enjoyable in an atmosphere of relaxation. A courteous staff helped the men in making their gift selections. Pictured above receiving some advice is Jack Sheridan (center) of 28403 Alycey in Farmington. Helping Sheridan are Margaret Fitzgerald and store owner Harvey Goldberg who remind men with shopping left to do that there will be someone at Harv's to help with gift selections for women.

Welcome back to Jeanelle Iverson who came home recently from a one-week visit to the hospital. It's nice to see her up and around and able to enjoy a rest from her job at Ford's until after Christmas.

The Kinjorskis had a minor disaster a couple of weeks ago. The hot water heater caught fire and burned quite a bit of clothing in the laundry room. Jo Ann said the worst thing was all the unironed clothes were untouched and almost all her freshly ironed things were destroyed. Asthma and bronchitis have also hit the Kinjorskis. Hope they are all fine now.

The newest arrival on Creekside breezed in about a month early. On December 2, Elsie Rubi had a five pound baby girl. She was welcomed home by brother Pedro and Grandma guests who arrived from Boston to help with some of the duties involved with a new baby. I hope to have a little more information about our little visitor for next week.

SEEMS LIKE THE Kellys have had their share of illness. Ross has come down with a case of tonsillitis and Kevin has had to help with some of the duties involved with a new baby.

If you see a couple of girls in black leotards and tight leotards knee bends and push-ups, don't panic. It's just Karen Kelly and Peg Dando who have been going to Silhouette to keep in shape. After her first day back in a few months Karen was graining and aching all over.

Due to the Christmas rush and the request of several members there will be no homeowners' meeting this month. The Board wishes to thank everyone for his cooperation and wish all a Merry Christmas.

Farmington Garden Club Meets At Greenfield Village

December 6, the last regular meeting of the Farmington Garden Club for 1965, was preceded by a tour of the historical homes at Greenfield Village, Dearborn, which are now decorated in the Christmas greens traditional to their era.

Following the tour, a luncheon was served at Clinton Inn in the Village. The centerpiece of the speaker's table was a charge.

lovely white mum arrangement and each of the other tables had crystal bowls of red-berried holly and pine created by Mr. Marshall Engle who is responsible for the floral decorations at Greenfield Village. Lighted red tapers were the only mode of illumination in the dining room, giving the program a real holiday spirit.

Mrs. Gerald Harrison, president, opened the meeting and welcomed the guests and members. Mrs. John Cross, chaplain, read the club Collect. Mrs. Harrison introduced the special guests, past presidents, Mrs. Ray Eichler, Mrs. Walter Gaertner, Mrs. James P. Henry, Mrs. Charles James, Mrs. James Robertson and Mrs. Keith Willoughby, presenting each with a corsage.

AT THE CONCLUSION of the short business meeting, Mrs. Ray Eichler graciously conducted the impressive installation of the following new officers for the coming year: Mrs. Richard Gaul, president; Mrs. Dwight Gordon, first vice president; Mrs. Robert Crompton, second vice president; Mrs. James V. Jones, third vice president; Mrs. Willis Caldwell, recording secretary; Mrs. John Cross, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Edwin Oglesby, treasurer.

Mrs. Harrison turned over the gavel to Mrs. Gaul, who concluded the enjoyable day with a short resume of her hopes and aims for the 1966 year.

Jaycees Plan Yule Party for Kids on Dec. 18

Final plans for the Farmington Junior Chamber of Commerce's annual "Christmas for Kids Party" are finished. Roger Lancina, chairman for the event, announced that the party will be Saturday, December 18, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Gill Elementary School.

Invitations were sent out Monday to 150 youngsters from the Farmington area.

They are invited to a cartoon show with banjo-playing Scott Crisler as the host. There will also be contests, games, and Santa Claus with a gift for every youngster.

The activity will end with a hot lunch served by the Jaycee wives in the Gill cafeteria. Refreshment chairman Bill Mitchell reports that most of the food for the children has been provided free by Farmington merchants who, in the true spirit of Christmas, wish to remain anonymous.

Stephen Hayman has a malibon right outside his office. Most days, that's his daily trip to the bank. Time means money to him, as it does to any businessman, and so he takes advantage of every time saving service we offer. Bank by mail. Night deposits. Drive in banking. Not to mention the telephone. Six months ago, he bought an apartment building. We financed it. That brought him in to see us. But most of the details of the transaction were taken care of on the phone. We provide many ways to make trips to the bank unnecessary. Stephen Hayman makes good use of them all. And the kind of prompt, personal service he gets, you can get.
