Seek Host Families For Exchange Students

Applications are now being accepted, and must be in by January 28, for families interested in having American Field Service Exchange Student in their home next year.

Most students arrive in August, but it is important to make applications in advance for the months of selection and the placement procedures that the American Field Service requires. Over 5,000 applications were processed this past year by the New York office. Also, by planning now, American parents may be assured that the students that they will be available to meet their new family member when he or she arrives.

In order to qualify for an AFSeR, all members of the family must want to have a student in the home. Parents must be over 37 years of age, must be residents of America since they were 12 years or less of age, and must have raised, or be raising, at least one teenager. All exchange students are seniors, but American parents do not necessarily have to have a senior student of their own during the year the foreign student is with them.

RELIGIOUS preferences are not made since, from experience, AFS has found that Moslems and Buddhists have been successfully placed in Christian homes, as have Roman Catholics in Protestant and Jewish homes. However, personalities, hobbies, and other matters are considered in placement.

The AFS student receives an allowance and medical insurance from New York. The host family can claim up to $30 a month deduction in Income Tax, as everyday living expenses will be assumed by the family. The local Chapter and the High School make every effort to be helpful in various areas for the proper adjustment of the student to his new home and community.

Preliminary applications, due by January 28, are available in the Farmington High School of-

Bond Sch. Parents To Dabble In Art

Talent, long hidden under the pressures of modern living, may be brought to light among parents of Bond School students on January 24.

The AFS Annual Evening Gala will be held on April 18.

The dance, sponsored by the two AFS Chapters in Farmington, will help provide funds for bringing these students to the community. Tickets may be secured from any AFS Chapter member.
