The PTA's January 17 meeting at Beechview School featured a commentary by Mr. Albert B. Casey, area superintendent of the Juvenile Court for South Oakland County, on the problems of juvenile delinquency. Also, Mr. Harold Shipieck was awarded his past presidency pin at this meeting.

A nominating committee composed of Betty Kaler, chairman, Aldo Vagnozzi, Marion Tournard, and Helen Pesamoka was drafted to prepare a slate of officers for the next school year.

The PTA board has been embarrassed by the poor attendance shown at recent meetings and urges parents to participate in these programs. For instance, on February 21 the traditional Founder's Day Pot Luck dinner is scheduled to be held at which parents will have an opportunity to listen to an informative speaker intermingled with fellowship and relaxation. The board is hoping to make this a usually popular meeting the biggest event yet. The coordinator in this pot-luck affair is Mrs. D. (Joyce) Smith of Westmeath who could use many a helping hand.

MR. HAROLD Shipieck has been to look for this meeting the talented speaker, Dr. Ed Ban Tel, full professor at Wayne State University, Dr. Ban Tel, who is a certified consulting psychiatrist, an authority on gang psychology, and head of the teacher educational experimental project department plans to pursue the PTA theme for this season, "The golden rule and your child."

This month's Farmington neighborhood Girl Scout leaders meeting discovered a volunteer that they hope the knitters in this area may feel they can fill. Twenty girls of the Sarah Fisher home in Junior Troop 6 are working on an afghan as a service project and are sadly in need of knitting needles and any scraps of wool yarn. Their leaders, Mrs. Duncun of Birmingham and Mrs. Vivian Erickson of Kiltartan, hope an immediate search will reveal enough yarn so that the girls can finish this endeavor. Either Mrs. Erickson at 476-7722 or girl scout consultant, Mrs. Olga Weir at 476-7773, will be glad to hear from you.

WHILE POP WEIR was away on business in Peru, South America, 15 girls attended a combined birthday party at the Weir home on January 16 for Lori Weir who became 8 and Claudia Stearns who became 9. Teenagers Janet Weir and Debbie Stearns, who were in charge of the entertainment, included rock and roll dancing among the many games. The next celebration that the Weirs are anticipating is their 24th wedding anniversary on January 30.

Having a host of out-of-town-ers during the holidays helped Ed and Ellen Egan of Eleven Mile Rd. enjoy a cheery holiday mood. Former Farmington residents, now of California, came first for a brief visit, followed by Ellen's mother from New York State to add to the family togetherness.

On January 22 Mr. and Mrs. Larry Pflinger of Greyshore had the privilege of holding a wedding reception at their home for Joyce's life-long friend's daughter, Patricia Weninger and her new husband, Bill Brown of Livonia.

Paul Bey found the wallet in the snow. Newsboy, Paul Mingo, never expected to see his wallet of collections again. Credit goes to both the son and his parents for the virtue of honesty. Paul Mingo and the rest of us are glad people like that live in Kimberley.

Brooks Completes Fleet Sonar School

Sonar Technician Third Class Edward N. Brooks II, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward N. Brooks of 20741 Tuck Road in Farmington, has completed the Fleet Sonar School at Key West, Fla.

The 18-week course was devoted to learning the operation and minor maintenance of electronic underwater sound detection equipment.

The success of the Navy's anti-submarine warfare (ASW) forces depends on highly trained and skilled personnel. ASW is one of the Navy's priority programs in U.S. Defense. More than $3.5 billion is spent annually to maintain an adequate ASW capability in the U.S. Fleets.
