

OLD HOMESTEAD

SHIRLEY BERGER

Alice and Iain Scott have finally drifted back to earth after a marvelous week of skiing in the mountains of Colorado around Aspen, Vail, and Loveland. The mountain scenery was absolutely breathtaking, to give some idea of the altitude, one ski-tow lasted for twenty-five minutes, and from it you transfer to another which goes still higher. Dinner every night was a memorable experience as the area abounds with gourmet-type restaurants, and the food is superb. Anyone (to Colorado?) The Scotts returned in time for Nancy's thirteenth birthday, and the thing to do for that particular one is have a pajama party, so that is what she did.

Mark Greenbury had a dinner party for thirteen of his friends to celebrate his birthday. His parents, Don and Mariellen, had just returned from an exciting week in Jamaica where they attended a convention in connection with Don's business. They stayed at the Playboy hotel on the beautiful north shore, drove down to Kingston to visit the fabulous straw market, did some shopping, and managed to squeeze in a tour of the famous plantations. The temperatures were in the eighties every day while Farmington was enjoying its most severe cold spell of the season. Swimming, sun-bathing, water skiing, were all on the agenda; what more could anyone ask in the middle of winter?

WANDA LOE is making fine progress with her riding lessons. Her mount is one of the most high-spirited thoroughbreds at the stable, and she is able to keep him under very good control.

Anne Marie Carey has reached the ripe old age of one. Friends and relatives assembled to watch her go to work on the cake frosting, and she enjoyed her first ice cream. Frank Furlong should be very soon now. He was supposed to remain for three weeks after his recent attack, and has been making good progress toward recovery. His friends and neighbors wish him a speedy return to good health.

Kim Antczak was very much surprised upon returning from a neighbor's house to find a large group of her friends waiting to celebrate her fifth birthday with her. The young merry-makers included Sam McKillan, Brian Brunt, Lisa Toffoli, Leslie Babington, Bobby Howes, Julie Gavoda, Beth Gaiser, Eric, Greg, and Diane Check-ette.

HOLLY HURD had her sixth birthday, Brian Brunt his third, and Ann Weston her tenth. They observed them with their respective families.

Steve Barth had his friend, Richard Gibbes, to dinner on his tenth birthday. His Grandmother, uncle, and two cousins were also on hand for the occasion.

Mary Beth Latimer had her "best birthday ever," her eleventh. Her Grandma and mother took her to Stouffer's for lunch, and Grandma allowed her to select her own gift. Then, the entire family plus Grandma and Grandpa (but minus the two baby sisters) went out to Pine Knob for dinner.

GIRL SCOUT TROOP 750 were wishing for some snow to make their weekend at camp more exciting. Those scheduled to brave whatever weather might come were: Susie Shoben, Lynn Babington, Patty Simmons, Vivian Hershback, Mary Beth Latimer, Karen Switzer, Laura and Mary Beth Hutton.
