It seems that winter has reached that point where people are wondering what to do next and beginning to be a little bored with everything in general, themselves included. The best thing for most of us might be a siesta in the sun; however, obligations and bank balances prohibit the majority.

But not so the lucky Aitkens who have just rejoined the Westlakes following three weeks of moseying down Michigan. Mary and George packed up their four children, Tommy, Jim, Crawford and Arlene, picked up a camper and went sightseeing. They made a beeline westward and once there lingered in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Juarez and vicinity.

The Hinkles of Purdue, who incidentally we welcome as new residents since December, took a somewhat shorter jaunt northward to Owensdale, Michigan, for a visit with Jeanette's parents. She and husband Stanley, who is an engineer at Detroit Diesel, naturally took their baby daughter Cynthia Ann along to see grandma.

ALSO NEW, AND also residing on Purdue as of January 14 are the Brest Wasiks. Formerly of Dearborn, Mr. Wasik and wife Mary bring two more little girls to the neighborhood, daughter Donna is five and toddler Annette, two. Mr. Wasik is employed in downtown Detroit.

A week ago last Sunday Pat and Pat Gardner, Nancy and Bill Neill, and Lenore and Martin Mendelson gathered up their collective children and drove to the fairgrounds to see the Shrine Circus for the afternoon, where they are reported to have enjoyed themselves immensely.

The Sunday before that, the grandparents of Michael Mendelson were out to help celebrate his birthday at a family birthday party.

THOUGH THERE was little fanfare, we do not want to let the birthdays of Craig Peterson and Carl Zatsick on the 21st; Barbara Carlisle and Barbara Williams on the 22nd; Michael Mendelson on the 23rd; Jeffrey Rounds on the 24th; Cathy Kennedy on the 27th; Mary Theresa Olaszewski on the 28th; Stephen Olaszewski on March 1; and Michael Goetz and Gerald Bloomer on March 2, pass us by without wishing them at least an item of blue clothing, a garnet and a primrose.

To Wally Majcher we wish a whole bouquet of primroses to cheer him up while he continues to mend after surgery last week at St. Mary. Wally will be missing two weeks of

Now that the Scribe is on the mend and other incidencies behind, I am ready to receive calls on any news of date and events. Please contact me at the above telephone number.

Married on January 15 was Patricia Louise, daughter of Stan and Marge Mallen of Baintree Road, to Lt. Norman E. Dobrowski, U.S.A. The double-ring ceremony was set at the Robert Bellarmine Church of Redford.

THE BRIDE WORE a gown of white satin brocade with the traditional long train trimmed with scalloped lace. She wore an elbow length veil made of Tulle and carried a spray of white roses. Maid of honor, Donna Mallen, sister of the bride wore white crinkled satin with bodice of royal blue velvet.

Bridesmaids included Sue

OBITUARY

HAROLD E. GILMORE
Mr. Harold E. Gilmore of 23428 Springbrook Drive, Farmington Township, passed away Thursday morning, February 17, 1966, in Redford General Hospital following an extended illness.

Harold Gilmore was born September 5, 1909 in Ypsilanti, Michigan, the son of George and Carrie Gilmore. He attended school in Detroit and on May 8, 1932, was united in marriage to Marion Ewert. Mr. Gilmore had been employed as a Supervisor with the Ford Motor Company for thirty-four years prior to his illness. He had been a resident of Farmington Township for the past fourteen years.

Mr. Gilmore rested in the Thayer Funeral Home until Sunday evening. Private cremation services took place on Monday at White Chapel Crematory, Troy, Michigan.

Surviving besides Mrs. Gilmore are a son, Jack of Northville. He also leaves two brothers, Harry of Detroit and Marvin of Allen Park. Three grandchildren also survive.

kindergarten before he can get back to being as active as usual.

Nona Bekrend last Friday had a Telephone Card Party at her home. Never heard of it? Neither have we, but there were certainly enough participants all of whom seemed to enjoy themselves.

Well that's all for this week. Now you all tell your husbands you need to go on a trip soon so we'll have something to write about. That's as good an excuse as any to get away; and who knows, it may work!

Mallen—another sister of the bride, Lynne Meyer and Sandra Lucas. All wore white crinkled satin with bodices of red velvet and carried floral bouquets.

Kenneth Dobrowski, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. The ushers were Everett Dobrowski, also brother of the bridegroom, Michael Small and Jerry Fliss. Robert Mallen, brother of the bride, was also on hand to help.

The breakfast reception was held at the Warren Valley Country Club where a five-tier cake was cut by the bride and bridegroom. Incidentally, the talented Pat planned all her own wedding arrangements and decor—a wish fulfilled.

THE NEWLYWEDS honeymooned in Hawaii and are now residing at Ft. Lewis in Seattle, Washington.

On February 12, The Kendallwood Swim Club staged their annual dance at the Glen Oaks Country Club.

As usual, there were several cocktail parties before the dance—one such party was held at the residence of Earl and Ann Oppenheimer. Attending the party were Robert and Wilma Pierce, Ed and Phyllis Weinert and Bernie and Judy Brown. The event was topped with a Buffet Breakfast.

A dessert-bridge gathering was held on February 18 at the home of Wally and Nix Orr of Farmington Road for the Association of Childhood Education.

Many teachers and friends from Kenbrook, Eagle and Beechview Schools as well as Schoolcraft College area took part in this worthwhile project.

Mill Brogren, Ann Hartz, Marge Mallen and myself also attended and as luck would have it, Mill won the table prize.
