If you don't get all the hot water you need with an electric water heater,

EDISON

you get your money back!

Every cent! Including installation cost, if any! That's the kind of guarantee you get from Edison when you buy an approved electric water heater. It's good for a full year, and you don't have to buy your heater from Edison. If you'd like, we can have an Edison Specialist come out to your place to tell you what size tank you need, the price of the heater, and its surprisingly low operating cost. To get all the hot water you need—guaranteed—call your Edison Office or see the retailer who displays the Edison Satisfaction Guaranteed sign.

Public Letterbox

Mr. Kiley, I feel I have to write you about your reply in the Public letter box to Jo Wright, Secretary of the North Farmington and West Bloomfield Baseball for Boys.

The one thing this group does not need is anyone general opinions based on impressions or attitudes by amateurs. The term "professionalism" you toss about so loosely sounds like a dirty word the way you used it. There's no need to bat someone around. Mr. Wright said that you'd have a financial statement for publication. If you don't think that statement explains justifiable expenditure based on the cost of this program then do something about it. Take a trip to one of their meetings, go to see the surrounding area and check their cost operation. (Birmingham charges 25.00 per head for example) then go to a community where similar programs are tax supported at even higher cost. Expensive uniforms? Paid umpires? Gingerbread?

Let's look at expensive uniforms first... expensive to whom? You'd get per cent of the enrollment get shirts and hats. The older boys get uniforms.

More Electric Power Needed In Farmington

Population growth and increasing demands for electric power in the City of Farmington and Farmington Township have prompted Detroit Edison to construct a new supply line to provide a third source of electricity for the area.

Fred Brayton, Edison's local manager in Farmington, said that the new 40,000-volt line will bring bulk electric power from Edison's Northwest Station in Detroit to Farmington Substation, located on Orchard Lake Road near Shilavasse Avenue, where the voltage will be reduced for local distribution. Existing bulk supply lines now link the Farmington area with stations in Livonia and Commerce Township.

The project, scheduled for completion this spring, also will include the expansion of the control center at the Farmington Substation in order to house additional automatic control equipment for the new line, Brayton said.

BRAYTON POINTED out that population in the City and Township has increased from about 20,000 people in 1955 to some 41,400 people in 1965. During the same period, electrical use by Edison's residential, commercial and industrial customers rose from 33,583,000 kilowatt hours a year to 116,834,000 kilowatt hours. According to forecasts of the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission, the population is expected to reach 50,500 by 1970.

It is estimated that in five years the average residential customer in the City and Township will be using 7,300 kilowatt hours of electrical energy a year as compared to 6,331 kilowatt hours in 1965 and 4,338 kilowatt hours in 1955.
