SHIRLEY BERGER
Bob and Gloria Babington have joined the Florida Inn club; they flew down to Ft. Lauderdale for a week of soaking up the old vitamin D. Gloria's parents moved in to take charge of the four misses Babingtons.
Pinchle clubbers had one of their nights on the town when they went to the Fisher to see Funny Girl and wound up the evening at Darby's for their un-lucky but oh-so-delicious corned beef sandwiches. Members of that happy safari were:
Irene Barth, Phyllis Borst, Mary Toffoli, Betty Garvodi, Annie Mullen, Shirley Simmons, Sis Campbell, Alice Scott, Thelma Macheske, and Sue Latimer. They met for cards at the Simmons house on March 29.
Jimmy Carey had an exciting first birthday party; it was his third birthday. Being a bit young for organized games, the gang enjoyed group singing, favors, and refreshments. Helping Jimmy celebrate were: David Oliver, Sherre Doll, Holly Hurd, Susie Scott, Vicki and Scott Edwards, Cathy Cotter, David Karle, and cousins Roger and Jane Siedlik from Taylor Township and Chip and Laurie Beznitz.

Kay and Ken Humm had a really glamorous twentieth anniversary weekend. With another couple, the Dale Whitbrachs, (Dale was Ken's best man on that fatal day) they spent it at the new Ponchartraine Hotel. They dined twice in the exotic Mediterranean Room, had breakfast served in their room, had one dinner at Act IV, played some bridge and thoroughly enjoyed every minute of it. Some of you other O.H. husbands might just take the hint that this is THE way to do things up properly on such like important occasions.
Richard Gibbs had his tenth birthday with Steve Barth over to share the festive dinner. His aunt obligingly presented him with a brand new cousin right on his day. On the day we called, Therese had just come home to a happy surprise; sitting in his car waiting for someone to come along and invite him into the house, she found her brother-in-law from Chicago. He planned to stay a day or two on his way up North. Sherre Doll observed her fourth birthday quietly with her family. All of the Dolls drove to Cleveland for a recent weekend visit with Beth's sister there.
Randy Christian reached that important sixteenth milestone and had a real teen-age wing-ding with 25 of his chums for an evening party.
Tommy Green is expected home in a week for his first Navy leave, so his family is deferring celebration of his nineteenth birthday until then. Tommy seems very well satisfied with his life in San Diego thus far. His sister Judy was home for a week of her vacation from stewardessing for TWA. She spent the other two weeks of it visiting Madrid, Geneva, and parts of Germany. She is thrilled with her job and is based in San Francisco.
Billy and Karen Howes combined birthdays and had all the aunts and uncles over for one party. This was in addition to the party that Karen shared with Nancy North.
Lorenz drove to Shulers' in Marshall for their anniversary, stopping in Hillsdale to pick up Bob and take him along. The
