

Child's Play Slated To Benefit Retarded

The Plymouth AAUW Play-ers, normally involved in raising funds for Fellowship Scholarships, will stage their adaptation of the children's play "Humpsteadkin" at Franklin High School through the sponsorship of the Livonia Association for Retarded Children March 19.

Mrs. Margaret Smith, play director and first vice president of the Plymouth drama group, said all proceeds from the March 19 staging would be used for the benefit of the mentally retarded in the Livonia area.

Among the group of 26 players and production personnel are Kay Devereaux, a past teacher in the Livonia high schools, playing the part of "Humpsteadkin"; Mrs. Fay Weber and prep manager Donna Domalske, also former Livonia teachers and technical director Ruth Campbell, a former resident of Livonia.
