Pharmacists Promote POISON PREVENTION

Poison Antidote Kits (PAK) are now available in this area at participating pharmacies. The PAK, a sturdy plastic box, contains two widely recognized antidotes for use in cases of accidental poisoning. Your pharmacist can provide you with a PAK for your home.

LANSING—Pharmacists across Michigan are launching a two-prong attack against accidental poisoning, announced Neil J. Van Haelen, president of the Michigan State Pharmaceutical Association. In outlining the problem, Mr. Van Haelen stated that nearly half a million U. S. children under five years of age are accidentally poisoned each year. Approximately 500 of these victims die!

Public Education
The first phase of the program is an educational effort long supported by pharmacists in which the public is made aware of the dangers of accidental poisoning. In fact, National Poison Prevention Week, proclaimed this year by President Johnson for the week of March 20-26, was originally inspired by a pharmacist to draw public attention to the problem.

Two years ago, during Poison Prevention Week, Michigan pharmacists initiated a program whereby "warning" labels were distributed to parents of young children. The gummed labels were designed to be attached to containers of hazardous substances by joint parent-child action, thus educating both to the presence of potential poisons. The program met with wide success and received national and international acclaim. The labels are now available nationally through participating pharmacies.

Antidote Kit Now Available
This year, the Michigan State Pharmaceutical Association is launching a program, not aimed directly at public education, but designed to reduce the severity of a poisoning incident once it has occurred. A Poison Antidote Kit

Roger's and Hammerstein's musical "The King and I" will be presented in the Garden City West Gym on March 23-26 (Friday and Saturday). The curtain time is 8 p.m. and the cost is $1 for students and $1.50 for adults.

The leading roles will be portrayed by Linda Ball as Anna, and Rudy Lemus as the King of Siam. Other members of the musical cast are: Linnea Dahlberg, Janice Jones, Roger Gunder, Harold Jurkiewicz, Tim Hunter, Warren Dirich, and Pat Colletta.

There are more than 80 students involved in this production and members of the cast are from the area grade schools.

The musical is centered around the schoolteacher, Anna (Linda Ball) who has been hired by the King of Siam (Rudy Lemus) to teach his son and family. The problems arising and their consequences will concern the rest of the play. It will be well worth your time and money to see this beautiful presentation of the "King and I."

Vocal and drama direction is by William Almsie, musical score by Richard Siltzman, and the ballet direction by Mrs. Hamlin. Student directors are Dale Hardin and Jacki Durr.

Students who have purchased school keys may now pay for them after school in the book store.

Yes, the Senior Prom is only 71 days away! So all you wonderful boys better ask your favorite gal to the senior prom. It requires a heap of time for the girls to prepare for the prom. So don't wait for the June rush, ask her today!

The prom will be held the evening of June 2 at Lovette Hall in Greenfield Village. United States soldiers in Vietnam will be remembered by many students at Garden City High School (East) at Easter time. Panther's Tale staff members are collecting candy, books, and little novel items for their GI's. A large card will be sent along with the Easter basket. Pat St. Antoine contributed a large clothes basket and decorated it with ribbons and toys for the children in Vietnam.

If you would like to join the girls in this project, please contact a member of the Panther's Tale Staff as soon as possible. A fashion show was presented by the Vogue Pattern Company last week. The following F.H.A. members were able to attend: Elaine Ames, Linda Blood, Diane Brown, Loretta Gudash, Carol Joseph, Judy LaFortune, Karen Lomson, Debbie Makowski, Cheryl Mohr, Linda Place, Marsh Peterson, and Brenda Siler.

Others who went were Barbara Schubel, Mary Shoemaker, Maria Stamm, Kathy Stothers, Sharon Wicke, Lorraine Wojcik, Cecilia Fortier, Evelyn Tucker, and Juanita Brooks. Karen Lomson and Evelyn Boyd, both

The freshmen Earth Science Class recently was audience to two ROTC pilots, currently studying at U. of D. After a 20-minute movie on space travel, the pair answered the students' questions.

In conclusion, the class, under the direction of Miss Mary Quic, set up a planetarium in the school gym and observed the motions of the stars.

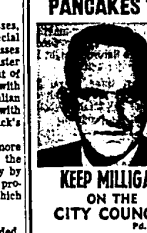

The Latin I and II classes, were surprised with a special holiday from ordinary classes on the "ides of March." Sister Mary Albani, read an account of the Roman feast, closing with the story of the French-Italian St. Patrick, in connection with the approach of St. Patrick's day.

The freshmen and sophomore English classes celebrated the Ides of March appropriately by concluding the classroom production of Julius Caesar which they had been dramatizing.

The underclassmen decided

Thirteen Farmington Senior High students will travel to Waterford Kettering High to test their speaking ability in the forensics district championships.

The final local forensics judging at FHS took place Thursday, March 18. Thea Schwartz, a senior, placed first in the humorous reading category with her interpretation of "Kids Swapping in the United States." The second place winner was sophomore Doreen Rupp. Janet Lawabe's reading of "Without the Case and the Deter" won her first place in the interpretive reading category. Harold Green was first runner-up in the same classification.

Two juniors, John Lofquist and Miles Leggo, earned first place in the radio commentary and original oratory categories respectively.

Miles' original oration was entitled "Crime in the United States."

Seven people were chosen to speak in the multiple reading group. Sharon Daly, Linda Taylor, Nancy Terrano, Phil McCulloch, John Kent, and Barbara Bond will read "The Lonesome Train" in the district contest.
