Douglas Flanagan, of 31350 Minton, Livonia, and Sue Ann Worthington, 14272 Northville Road, Plymouth, were among 21 students in the University of Michigan's College of Pharmacy honored at the annual Rho Chi banquet.

Eight were initiated into Rho Chi, national Pharmaceutical honorary society limited to superior advanced students. Flanagan was inducted into Rho Chi, received one of the College of Pharmacy Alumni awards and received a scholarship from the American Foundation for Pharmaceutical Education.

Sue Worthington received a Rho Chi scholarship. She is a senior and a member of the Society.

LIT Computer Used in Office, By Teachers

Officials at Lawrence Institute of Technology are getting "double duty" from recently installed Univac data processing system.

The Univac is being used to run administration programs such as class schedules and financial records. In addition, students and faculty have the use of the new system in the teaching of computer courses.

The "Solid State 80" computer was donated to the college by the Kellogg Company of Battle Creek. Dr. Wayne H. Buel, LIT president, announces. It replaces an older model computer which had been in use at the LIT Campus. Northwestern and Tea Mills in the Southfield.
