

Khartoum Premier at Theatre

"Khartoum," Julian Epstein's Cinema Production, starring Clifton Heath, Larry Olivier, Richard Johnson and Ralph Richardson, will have its gala red-carpet premiere at the Cinema Music Hall Theatre on Wednesday, June 22 at 8:30 p.m.

A stirring adventure centered around one of England's greatest heretics, "Khartoum," a United Artists release, is the story of the heroic defense of the Nile city of Khartoum by General Charles Gordon, almost thousands of fanatical fanatics led by the Arab warrior priest, the Mahdi.

Hosted plays "General Gordon, an inspired military leader who fought to the east, Lawrence Olivier is seen in the Mahdi, one of the most fascinating fighting men to come out of the desert; John Simon portrays Col. J. D. Stewart, Gordon's military aide; and Ralph Richardson is shown as Prime Minister Gladstone, the man whose failure to recognize the Mahdi led to disaster and brought a storm of protest on his head.

Others in the cast include Alexander Knox, John Gaskin, Michael Horden, Zia-Mogaydin, plus many other international players and approximately 10,000 Egyptian troops who portray members of British, Sudanese, Egyptian and Dervish armies.

Produced by Julian Epstein and directed by Basil Dearden from a screenplay by Robert Ardrey, "Khartoum" was filmed in England and atop the Nile the dramatic setting of the sweeping historical events that rocked England and the British Empire in the 1890's.

The city of Khartoum was rebuilt on the banks of the Nile as it looked 22 years ago.

Armies were trained, men, horses and other animals rounded up by Yakini Claitor, who directed the highly location battle scenes. He previously staged the famed chick also starred in "Ben Hur," which also starred Charlton Heston.

"STOP THE WORLD I Want To Get Off" opens at the Livonia Cinema Theatre June 15 for a limited engagement. The film, taken from the Broadway hit musical, stars Tony Turner, Neil Hawley and Millicent Martin.

Residents Organize
 New Travel Club

A great deal has been written about the jet set and its activities. While it sounds exciting, the practical matter is that most of us simply can't afford to participate in that group's activities.

Two local residents—Don Baron of Plymouth and F. A. Bugni of Farmington—are seeking to change this.

Seemingly from an inability to join a private travel club because of lack of accommodations the two and a group of their friends decided to form their own organization.

The result is a non profit organization known as "Adventure DC 7 Inc."

With a target of 1,000 members, the organization has already gathered 117 interested persons from among their friends and relatives.

They have negotiated for the purchase of a DC 7 aircraft currently being sold by commercial airlines because of the sweeping historical events that rocked England and the British Empire in the 1890's.

Grade Schoolers Study Art

Volunteers will carry a series of four lectures to an estimated 25,000 Detroit fifth and sixth graders in an art appreciation series which will start with the Fall term.

This is an expansion of the pioneering "Art to the Schools" program initiated by the Junior League of Detroit five years ago in cooperation with the Detroit Institute of Arts.

The 1966-67 program will now include trained volunteers selected from both the Junior League and the Founders Society Volunteer Committee, under the direction of the Institute's Education Department. Co-chairman for the combined volunteer corps are Miss Adele Huebner and Mrs. Hugh W. Greenberg.

Object of the program is personal acquaintance with the visual resources of the city's museum. The four slide-and-talk lectures given to the children by a team of two volunteers trained in the subject also includes elements of design such as line, color, texture and composition.

Miss Adele Huebner, chairman of the Art to the Schools Committee, explained the development of the Junior League project to an organizational meeting held at the home of Mrs. Virginia Brose, Curator in Charge of Education, and Miss Jean Dodehoff, Assistant Curator, outlined the requirements and training courses which the volunteers would experience before undertaking school assignments.

School Kids Participated in Tree Planting Activity

Elementary school children in the Livonia district combined Michigan Week, Arbor Day, and "Keep Livonia Beautiful" action as they planted two large evergreen trees and flats of petunias on their school grounds.

The idea, sparked by Sofia Anderson and Lee Landes, Livonia Week coordinator, was held at varying hours, weather permitting.

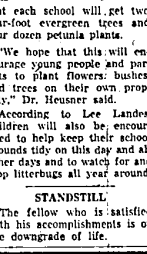

"In some neighborhoods senior citizens and PTA groups are joining with the children in this purposeful activity," Mrs. Anderson said.

Dr. Henry Heuser, director of elementary education said that each school will get two four-foot evergreen trees and four dozen petunia plants.

"We hope that this will encourage young people and parents to plant flowers, bushes, and trees on their own properties," Dr. Heuser said.

According to Lee Landes, children will also be encouraged to help keep their school grounds tidy on this day and all other days and to watch for and stop litterbugs all year around.

Livonia Pair
 To Study in Okinawa School

EAST LANSING—Two Livonia residents, Bruce R. Wiegand and Gregory D. Etlung will study in Okinawa for five weeks this summer through the Michigan State University/University of Ryukyus Exchange Program (MUREP).

Thirteen students and five MSU faculty members will participate in the program at the Okinawa institution from June 15 to Aug. 15. The students will enroll for three courses conducted by Ryukyuan professors who received their advanced degrees in the United States.

Wiegand, 18, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Harold Wiegand, 11025 Cranston and is a freshman at MSU. Etlung, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Etlung, 9061 Wayne Road is a sophomore majoring in social science.

American Drama Festival
 To Offer 4 Productions

The American Drama Festival opens its summer season at Greenfield Village on Friday, July 1, with nightly performances, except Sunday, through Sept. 3.

Four plays are scheduled in repertory fashion in the Henry Ford Museum theater. "The Scarecrow," written by Perry Mackaye in 1852, is the first production. It's a hilarious story of a scarecrow brought to life by a witch and the devil and is set in the 1890's in New England.

"Shenandoah," written by Bronson Howard in 1868, is the second production. A comic satire involving spousal romance and the exciting battle of the Shenandoah Valley, this play opens on July 11 and alternates with "Scarecrow."

"Our American Cousin" opens on July 25. This play by Tom Taylor starred the famous Laura Keane when it played at the Ford Theater in Washington, D. C. 101 years ago. It was during the third act of this play that John Wilkes Booth assassinated Abraham Lincoln. The same rocking chair in which Lincoln was seated that night in the theater is enshrined in a glass case today in the Logan Court Courthouse at Greenfield Village.

Joseph Jefferson's original version of the Washington Irving tale of "Rip Van Winkle" will be the fourth dramatic production in the Henry Ford Museum theater, opening on Aug. 8. The Greenfield Village players presented this play during the Christmas holiday season last year and met with tremendous success.

Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. each evening, Monday through Saturday. The entire theater program is presented in the Henry Ford Museum's Recreation Department, as well as the annual antiquities show sponsored by the Dearborn Rotarians.

For tickets contact the Ford Motor Company, Recreation Unit, The American Rd., Dearborn, 322-4155 or any chorus member.
