Plymouth Rotarians Find Boating Is Fine

Plymouth Rotarians and Rotary Anns took a holiday when four luxury cruisers left the Roosterlaid Marina and headed for Harsen's Island at the mouth of the St. Clair River.

At the helm of the 41-foot leader boat was Charles Finlan, followed by Robert Beyers, very much at home on the command bridge. The Beyers recently returned from the Thousand Islands.

Leo Calhoun handled his boat with great respect for the sea, while Perry Richwine, an old seaman, was tailman and with his daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Smith, chartered the course.

It was nautical from the word go, with canvas shoes and boating togs. After landing at Harsen's Island a sight-seeing trip followed to the Perry Richwine and Les Wilson summer homes and then lunch at the Club House.

Golfing and swimming filled the afternoon. Appearing on the scene was Kiwanian Bud Schrader who pulled up along dockside, in time for crew and guests to dress for dinner at the Old Club. The Schraders have recently returned from a cruise with their Double Eagle to Georgian Bay.

Among those aboard were the Bud Goulds, Frank Arlen, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Engstrom, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Steel, Dr. and Mrs. Elmore Carney, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Merriman and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sincok.
