

Michigan Bell Launches Drive Against Obscene Phone Calls

The Michigan Bell Telephone Company has launched a campaign against obscene and harassing phone calls.

Hughes C. Bronough, manager of Michigan Bell, is deeply concerned with the increase in the number of obscene, harassing or crank calls and that the company is stepping up its efforts to protect customers against them.

IN A CONCERNED attack on the problem, Bronough said, the company is using new equipment and developing new techniques to identify the calling number of anyone making obscene, harassing or crank calls.

Among the new devices is one which has the capability of "locking in" a call. In some cases it can lead to identification of the calling telephone line even after the person who made the call has hung up.

IN A D I T I O N, Bronough said, the phone company has set up new procedures for the handling of complaints of such calls at each of its business offices throughout the state. In each office specially trained service representatives have been assigned to handle the complaints.

In the Detroit metropolitan area, a centralized Annoyance Call Bureau has been established.

STEPS WHICH CUSTOMERS can take to cope with abusive calls also were outlined by Bronough.

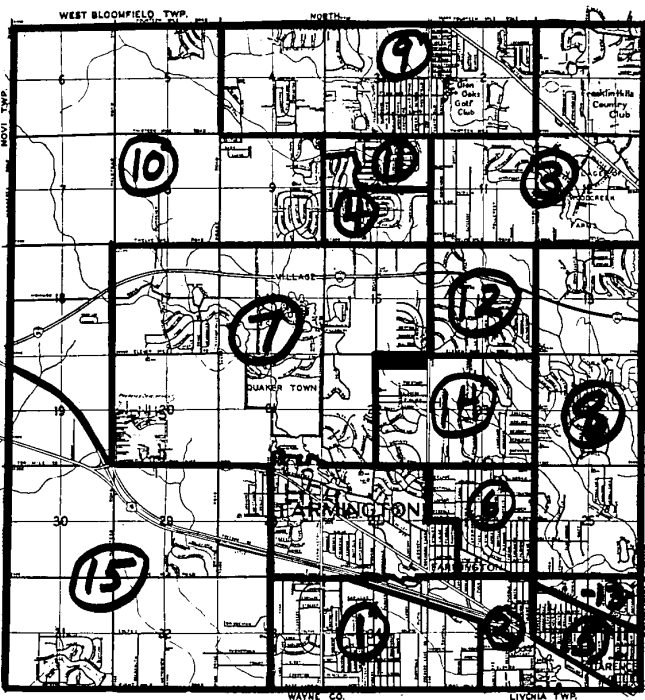

"Would you or your family receive a obscene, harassing phone calls, don't talk. What the caller really wants is an audience. But the audience and don't listen to his abuse," Bronough cautioned.

"Hang up whenever a caller uses obscenity, doesn't properly identify himself, or says nothing. Use the telephone on your terms to guard against these invasions of your privacy."

In most instances the customer can solve the problem by not talking, or by hanging up, Bronough said.

IF THE OBSCENE, harassing calls persist, customers are urged to call their telephone company business office.

If the nature of the calls is in violation of the state law, the customer may want to sign a complaint so that action can be taken.

Incorporation Study Committee

It is found that the cash needs of the township are and will be based upon the level of services residents want and are willing to pay for.

"We have not found any duties the city must assume which are not also borne by a township.

"Examples of cities where tax rates rose after incorporation have been put forth. In each of these cities, it can also be shown that the level of services has risen and expenditures followed services afforded.

"There is no evidence to indicate that tax rates would have risen in these cities had they retained township status.

"None of the evidence available supports the argument that taxes go up merely because a community adopts a city charter. Also control over maximum tax authority lies with the voters of the city.

STREETS—HIGHWAYS

"Incorporation of the township would necessitate the establishment of a Department of Public Works to take over some of the work presently handled by the Oakland County Board of Commissioners. Oakland County would continue to be responsible for about 30 miles of major roads.

(An estimated budget for expenditures on roads prepared by the committee showed a net gain of $88,000 due to increased allocations to Farmington as a city as compared to what was paid by Oakland County.)

"A home rule city would also take over the regulation and control of roads under its jurisdiction... allowing establishment of speed limits, stop signs, traffic regulations. Local control of traffic problems would be an advantage in the safety of the community.

SEWERAGE

"The Township maintains Police and Fire Department. The present 2 mills voted levy for police and fire provides only 75 per cent of necessary revenue. Voted levy must be renewed by voters or service curtailed.

"Maintains volunteer fire departments.

"City would provide police and fire services... would not have to increase coverage any more than Township. Services would be paid from total millage permitted by charter... would not have to be re-voted and service would be assured.

"May also maintain volunteer fire department.

"Township has water and sewer service. A special assessment, a service charge and revenue from systems.

"City would establish water and sewer departments... can continue to make departments self-supporting.

"All levels of local government may contract with Oakland County Department of Public Works... and obtain credit of County to support bonds.

"Township provides monthly payment of refuse financed from general fund... City may continue same service.

"Township utilizes County Health Department. City may continue same, and may have own health officials if desired.

"Township elects two justices of the Peace with jurisdiction for civil cases up to $500. City may retain same under home rule charter with jurisdiction up to $500, or have Municipal Court with jurisdiction up to $1,500.

"Township maintains building department which pays its way through permit fees. City can continue the same.

"Township and City of Farm-are convinced of the need for industrial tax base and have committed tax dollars to help develop many industries. The Township is doing the job and its efforts are now bearing fruit.

To allow this effort and expense to be lost to us because of unfounded fears of becoming a home rule city does not appear to be in the best interest of our community.

RECOMMENDATIONS

"The Study Committee makes the following recommendations to the people of Farmington upon the basis of our research, our public meetings, and our combined judgment:

"1. We recommend a 'yes' vote on the question of incorporation at the election on June 6, 1966.

"2. We recommend the election of a competent charter commission from among the candidates vying for the nine posts. We strongly recommend the election of those candidates who have displayed a positive interest in the incorporation question.

"3. We recommend the preparation by the charter commission and its adoption by the electorate, of a charter which recognizes the problems of an emerging municipality, which assures the continuation of our growth but which maintains the maximum practical participation by the citizen at large.

"Special tax levies without responsibility are clearly defined.

"B. A governmental structure in which lines of authority and responsibility are clearly defined.

CONCLUSIONS

"Summarizing our conclusions we find:

"1. That the Farmington Township Community would be irreparably damaged by loss of significant portions of our territory that there are no adequate alternatives to a home rule city charter if our boundaries are to be protected and that in our judgment the community has matured to the point where it ought to determine its own destiny.

"2. That there is no financial benefit whatsoever to the taxpayer which would result from our remaining a township. That, consequently, the incorporation of Farmington is a matter of possible and probable financial detriments which may result from failure to adopt a home rule charter. Not the least of these is the problem of trying to govern a burgeoning suburban area under law designed for farming communities of under 5,000 in population.

"3. That the fear of higher taxes brought about automatically by incorporation are completely unfounded; that governmental detriments do not depend on political structure put upon the needs and desires of the people; that the flexibility of the city form of government would permit us to make even better use of the dollars raised than we have a charter for the future government of our community. Details of that charter will be publicly debated and discussed and no charter will be adopted that does not meet with the approval of the majority of our voters."
