

RICHARD TYLER, summer school program director, explains the curriculum to the mother of a small registrant who is peeking out from behind her purse. Miss Nonie Konke, Mr. Tyler's secretary, awaits the decision.

AFTER MR. TYLER'S successful sales talk, Miss Nonie Konke signs up another young summer school prospect. Classes will begin on June 22 and continue through August 5 and will include instruction in languages, math, science, and composition skills, as well as a basketball course.

Will the strike at Edison affect your electric service?

Local 223, Utility Workers Union of America, AFL-CIO, representing about 3000 of Detroit Edison's 9500 employees, called a strike at midnight, June 15.

Local 223 is chiefly composed of operators of power plants and substations, underground linemen, and construction and maintenance personnel.

As in the case of Local 17, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, AFL-CIO, which is already on strike, the issue is money. The present average pay of Local 223 members is $3.46 an hour. Benefits are additional. Edison has offered the union a two-year contract—21.4 cents an hour more in cash and benefits in 1966 and 17.2 cents more in cash and benefits in 1967. The offer amounts to a 10.9 per cent raise in cash and benefits by June 1967. According to Edison's understanding, the union leaders want a 12.5 per cent increase.

Edison has always treated employees fairly. Pay and benefits are higher than those provided by most other major employers in the area. The company is widely known as a good place to work.

On any basis of comparison, the present offer is a good one. Although about one third of our employees are on strike, Edison intends to maintain near-normal customer service with the help of supervisors and other employees. Unless a severe storm causes an emergency, it is unlikely that the two walkouts will affect users of electricity.
