Families Like YMCA Camp

Family camping has become one of the most attractive forms of family vacationing over the last few years. Each year increasing numbers of families are vacationing at the lake side or sea shore. Their equipment now varies from a simple ground tent to a five-ton trailer packed with the latest in camping gear. Some have found this mode of camping more tiring than relaxing as one must travel hundreds of miles to seek out the best camping areas, only to find them filled to capacity!

How often have you heard "Mom" say, "if I could only get out of this hot kitchen...?" or "thank goodness there are only five more weeks till school starts!"

YMCA camping has been expanded to include not only the city boy or girl who needs two weeks of outdoor life, but the entire family.

CAMP OHYESSA, owned and operated by the Metropolitan Detroit YMCA, is located near Holly, Michigan, less than an hour from the Metropolitan area.

Any family who attends Camp Ohyessa's family camp is assigned a private screened cabin. There is a minimum of clean-up necessary, just a daily "sweep-out." The food at Ohyessa is abundant, fresh and wholesome and has received enthusiastic approval of both campers and parents. Nothing is spared to keep a reputation of serving the best food, and "Mom" can enjoy a rest away from that "hot kitchen."

All food is served family style. Competent instructors are on hand to teach swimming, boating, sailing, archery, fishing and a myriad of other activities. Other activities are planned for the adults after the youngsters are tucked in bed. Bridge tournaments as well as other card games are commonplace. "Such a vacation would cost a fortune," you say. Not at all! YMCA family camping is within the budget of all. Families may choose either the full 10-day camp period from August 28 to September 6 or the seven-day period from August 28 to September 3.

For family camp rates and other information, call Robert Davis of the South Oakland Branch of the YMCA - Lincoln 3-0110 or Rose Berberian at the Farmington Area YMCA, 474-3232.
