Clarenceville Grid Season Winds Up on Happy Note

By RHODA WEISS
Another football season has come and gone at Clarenceville High School, but this one ended on a different note than others have for the past ten years.

For the first time since 1955 (when the team won the league crown) Clarenceville has come up on top in the winning column.

The team's 33-20 victory over the Crestwood Chargers gave the team a 7-2 overall record and a second place in the Wayne-Oakland County League standings.

Scoring in each quarter, the Trojans proved to be too much for the Chargers. Early in the first period, Clarenceville back Mike Nye started the scoring action with a touchdown from the four. In the next quarter, teammate Tom Schlack connected on a 13 yard pass from quarterback Dave Wilson, with Nye booting the extra point.

Crestwood came back with a touchdown, leaving the half-time score at 13-7. David Kaipio opened the third period scoring with a 41-yard run. Nye threw to Jim Amick for the extra point. Larry Martin threw the ball back from the Charger 45 for another Trojan six points.

Crestwood scored twice in the fourth quarter, but Nye put the game out of reach with an 11-yard run and a kick for the extra point.

The Trojans gained 375 yards rushing, 263 running and 112 passing, and completed 11 first downs.

David Kaipio led with 107 yards rushing on 16 carries, followed by Mike Nye with 83 yards and 16 carries. Larry Martin had 50 yards on six tries.

Kaipio also led the defense, along with Carl Watkins, with 14 tackles apiece.

"This was a tremendous group of boys and a tremendous year," commented coach Ralph Tomlin. "The combination of the boys plus the help from the coaching staff (assistant coach Gordon Larson), and school spirit, all played an important part in the type of season we had."

In a vote for the all-league team, back Mike Nye and end Jim Amick were selected. In addition to the second string were Trojan tackle Ron Ray and end Tom Schlack. Those receiving honorable mention were R. Hoffman, David Wilson, Kerry Rifkin, David Kaipio, John McClary and Ron Ylitalo.

Students React To Needy Call

Students from North Farmington High, Our Lady of Refuge School in Orchard Lake and Our Lady of Sorrows High School, Farmington, have responded to a request from the Southern Michigan Chapter of the National Safety Council to provide school chests filled with school and health supplies for refugee classrooms in South Vietnam.

Lined with waterproof paper and addressed to the Red Cross, Republic of Vietnam, Saigon, four cists from their schools (two from Our Lady of Refuge) met the Thanksgiving Day shipment deadline.

At North Farmington High, the Student Council, under the direction of sponsor Mrs. Katherine Kinney, carried out the project jointly with the senior, junior and sophomore classes. Mrs. Kinney said, "Special credit should go to Linda Haviland, Student Council member, who served as liaison with the Red Cross chapter. This was a unifying project for the whole school, with the classes and the Council splitting the cost which amounted to $65.25."

Our Lady of Refuge School, Orchard Lake, heard of the Thanksgiving project at a recent volunteer leadership workshop held at the Oakland Regional Red Cross office in Pontiac. Donna Braunerther, 8th grade, who lives in Farmington Township, served on the coordinating committee under teacher sponsor Miss Valerie Purcott.

Student leaders who attended the Red Cross chapter's Teen Leadership Development Center at Camp Tamarack recently representing Our Lady of Sorrows High were Diana Burell and Mary Robertson. Project Thanksgiving was their first Red Cross service project for the year.

NATIONAL BANK OF DETROIT has donated films giving effective visual instruction in major sports to Farmington area schools. The bank has received a presidential commendation for its public service in the physical fitness drive in connection with its donation of these films to schools. Shown at the presentation ceremony in San Francisco are (left to right)

C. Carson Conrad, special advisor to the president on physical fitness; Casey Stengel, now a California banker following his retirement from baseball; William G. McClinck, senior vice president of the bank; and Dr. Frank J. Ryan, Yale University coach and producer of the company which made the films.

Student Elected To Honors Group

Sandra L. Schuler, a Farmington resident for the past six years and a 1965 graduate of Farmington Senior High School, has been initiated into Phi Society at Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, O. She also has been elected secretary of the organization for the coming year.

Miss Schuler, a member of Kappa Alpha Theta, resides with her parents and two younger brothers at 2444 St. Mary Court in Farmington.

Phi Society, a scholastic honorary for sophomores, was established by OWU faculty members "to encourage and recognize freshman academic achievement and as the first step toward membership in Phi Beta Kappa."

Phi Society membership is open to all OWU sophomore students who in three terms have displayed genuine academic and unusual scholastic capability.

Drivers Take Heed; Winter on its Way

As sure as winter follows Indian summer, snow, ice and sleet are followed by crumpled fenders, traffic snarls and short tempers.

Gerald E. Montgomery, manager of the Greater Detroit Safety Council, a chapter of the National Safety Council, says motorists make more driving blunders in the winter than at any other time of the year.

Montgomery says persons driving during winter months can help themselves avoid trouble if they follow the advice of the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards:

• Before starting, clear snow from the windshield and side and back windows. Don't be satisfied with mere peep holes. Be sure the heater and defroster are capable of keeping the windshield clear and interior windows free from fog. Be sure the windshield wipers work and that blades are in good condition to wipe clearly without streaking.

• Check all lights to be sure they work. Never drive with parking lights instead of headlights. Parking lights, illegal for driving in many states, can cause an oncoming driver to think you are farther away than you are.

• Get the feel of the road by accelerating carefully to see if the wheels spin. If a brake to see if they stick. This should be done at low speed and away from other traffic.

• Pump your brakes when you see you have to stop or slow down — don't jam them on. Slamming on the brakes may cause you to lose control. To pump brakes properly, press and release the brake pedal rapidly once or twice a second. This pumping action lets your wheels roll and allows you to maintain steering control. This prevents skids.

• Abrupt turns, lane changing and sudden acceleration or deceleration can cause bad skids on ice and snow. Anticipate turns or speed changes, and make them slowly and gradually. Use smaller steering corrections more often.

• If you find yourself in a skid, turn the steering wheel in the direction the rear end is sliding. As soon as the car starts to straighten out, straighten the front wheels.

• Start to slow down ahead of intersections. Heavy traffic at corners packs down snow. Spinning wheels polish the ice and make stopping treacherous.

• When approaching a hill, get up enough momentum to reach the top. Slow down at the crest and watch out for stalled cars or obstacles on the downgrade.

• Avoid a sliding crash into the vehicle in front of you by increasing your following distance. On clear, dry roads a safe following distance is one vehicle length for every 10 miles per hour of speed. On snow and ice-covered highways it takes 3 to 12 times as far to stop, so lengthen your following distance accordingly.

• Posted speed limits are for ideal conditions. In winter, half the posted limit may be too fast.

• Learn the temperature traps. Ice and snow last longer in shady areas, overpasses and on bridges. Ice and snow are twice as slippery at 30 degrees below zero
