

Sports Car Festival Opens Jan. 13

Scheduled as a focal point of the Henry Ford Museum's "Sports Cars in Review" show opening Jan. 13 is the "11 Ciccolio Italiano" (The Italian Circle).

This group will be assembled from the 50-plus sports cars exhibited at the show through Feb. 5.

Cars representing 75 years of sporting machines will be assembled in the Museum, ranging from a 1910 Lotta Fraschini to the latest challenge on the GT scene, the V-12 1967 Lamborghini 400 GT. Other cars in the circle include the winner of the 1905 Le Mans Grand Prix, a Ferrari; a 1936 and 1967 Alfa Romeo; two classic Lancias, the Lambda of 1923 and the 1930 Astura. A 1911 Fiat and a 1949 Maserati round out the group.

The 1967 Lamborghini will be making its first appearance in the local area. Designed to duel the Ferrari and Ford GT's for Gran Prix honors, the car features a 380 horsepower 240 cubic inch engine. It has dual overhead camshafts and a fully synchronized six-speed transmission.

In contrast to the Lamborghini and the other sophisticated road machines of today, a 1931 Peugeot from the Museum's collection will also be displayed. The two-cylinder, 13 mph Peugeot participated in the world's first road race, from Paris to Rouen in 1894.

A 1925 Duesenberg Indianapolis roadster and the record-breaking 1931 Wisconsin Special will be included in another focal point of the three-week show. Both the Duesenberg and the Wisconsin Special were significant milestones in racing car history.

A Duesenberg of the type to be displayed was given at Indianapolis in 1925 by Peter DePaolo at an average speed of over 100 mph, the first time the century mark had been surpassed in Indianapolis history. The Wisconsin Special set an amazing speed record in 1921—three miles a minute or 180 mph.

Another speedster in the show is the electric Riker Torpedo built in 1901. The renewed interest in electric automobile power today would be amusing to the Riker's builder who drove it to a record mile in 63 seconds 65 years ago.

The "Ciccolio Italiano," the racing cars and the electric-powered Riker Torpedo form only a part of the 15th annual "Sports Cars in Review." Cars from every era of sporting machines will be displayed along the "Street of Early American Sports." Nearby is the Museum's world famous transportation collection where 200 beautifully restored cars may be seen as an adjunct to the show.

The "Sports Cars in Review" exhibit is included in the regular admission charge to the Henry Ford Museum. Special hours during this winter show are from 9 a.m. until 11 p.m. daily.

Forward Terry Cupples and guard Dennis Patterson are the lone freshmen on the Wayne State University varsity basketball squad.

Center's search for new blood donors. The qualifications necessary to join this very selective group include:

AGE—between 16 and 59. From the age of 18 to 21, if not married or in the armed services, parental consent is necessary.

HEALTH—in good standing. Women who have become mothers within the past 12 months are not eligible to donate.

Red Cross health standards are higher than even those required by the National Institute of Health in order to insure the greatest protection to the donor.

DISCUSSING CURRICULUM IDEAS—building are (from left) Mrs. Ene Ripper, Mary Barnes, Mrs. Marguerite Loy, who presided over the session, Mrs. Claudine Morrill, and Mrs. Linda Todd. All are classroom teachers at Henry Ruff.
