

I-96 Crash Sends One to Hospital

A 32-year-old Howell man was taken to Botsford General Hospital Jan. 19 following an accident on the I-96 expressway just west of the Grand River exit.

Injured was Ignazio A. Buonfiglio of 122 S. Barnard. His car was struck in the rear by an auto driven by John F. Edwards, 18, of 25250 Five Points, Detroit.

At Monday's press time Botsford General Hospital refused to comment on the condition of Buonfiglio and whether or not he was still a patient.

According to the police, Edwards said that Buonfiglio's auto had no headlights and that he was passing a vehicle when he was hit in the rear. Buonfiglio told police that Edwards pulled into the path of his auto and that he was unable to stop in time to avoid an accident.

Fun Fair Slated By Longacre PTA

The Longacre PTA in Farmington will hold its annual fund raising project—a fun fair—from 1 to 5 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 4 at the school.

Refreshments, games and entertainment will be offered throughout the school during the fair. Caricatures will be shown in the multi-purpose room at 2, 3 and 4 p.m.

An advanced ticket sale will be conducted in the lobby of Longacre Feb. 1, 2 and 3 from 8:30 to 9 a.m. Tickets will also be available at the door.

AN AMERICAN FLAG was presented to the Garden City Library where 170,428 books were borrowed during the past year.

Mrs. Carol Mulhern, librarian, reported that the most avid library users are children. They are encouraged by their teachers, who brought 1,206 of them on special visits to the library for instruction, story-telling, and to check out books, she said.

In addition, teachers borrowed 1,618 books for use in classrooms.

At Public Library in 1966

Business has been brisk at the Garden City Library where 170,428 books were borrowed during the past year.

There has been a big project going on in the area which should be of interest. Nine Scout Troops have been singled out for special recognition by the Leukemia Research Clinic at Children's Hospital, Troops No. 637, of Sarah Fisher Home, No. 84 Brownie which meets at Middlebelt School, No. 122, Brownie from Beechview School, No. 166, Brownie, William Grace School, No. 345, Junior, Beechview School, No. 542, Junior, Edgewood School, No. 659 Junior, Flanders School, No. 921 Cadette, which meets at East Junior High are the troops that participated in this project.

old standards like "Tom Sawyer," "Mary Poppins," and "Black Beauty" in addition to newer titles like "The Wolves of Willoughby Chase," "Black and Blue Magic," and "The Black Cat."

Books not in the Garden City Library are available to patrons through the Wayne County Federated Library System. Members of the system, libraries from each other and the Michigan State Library and the Detroit Public Library.

Last year 594 books were borrowed from other libraries for use by our patrons.

Other advantages in belonging to this system, the librarian said, include larger discounts on book purchases and books which are rebound, consultant services in special subject areas such as children's work, and 18mm movie collection in the headquarters building.

These films are available free of charge through the Garden City Library for use by local cultural, civic, or service groups.

The record collection begun in 1965 has been very popular, she said. The recordings range from fairy tales for children to folk music and may be borrowed for three weeks, just like a book. Plans are being made to increase the number of records to meet the demand.

Several special programs were held during 1966. The Gun Safety Program taught by an instructor from the National Rifle Association and the Book Binding Classes by the U.S. Power Squadron were very well attended.

Spring and Summer Art Workshops for children were given by the Detroit Institute of Arts. Over 400 children were attracted by the special puppet and music shows. More than 350 came to the regular story and film programs. Similar programs are planned for this year.

Windshield Cleaning Can Be Dangerous

Donald C. Harris, 22, of 23127 Violet, Farmington, was treated and released at Botsford General Hospital Jan. 10 after he was struck by an auto in front of his home.

According to the police reports, Harris was cleaning the windshield of his automobile at 7:45 a.m. when a car driven by Neal Johnson, 27, of 31120 Elm Farmington, struck the rear end of Harris's vehicle and knocked Harris to the ground.

Johnson told police that he tried to move to the left side of the road in order to allow enough space, but ran off the side in the road caused him to slide into the left side of Harris's car.

Newly-appointed Wayne State University assistant basketball coach Gunter Vitell left three times at guard for the Tartars as a collegian.
