

Artists to Star Westland Show

Artists and their works will fill the spacious Mall at Westland Shopping Center from Monday through Saturday next week, Feb. 20, to 25.

The occasion will be new—est "Artists' Showplace" presented by Mrs. Betty Baldwin, who has described it as "the biggest yet at Westland."

With scores of artists on hand and literally hundreds of paintings and craft objects for display and sale, Mrs. Baldwin said the show should be a paradise for serious buyer and browser alike.

"Meeting the artist and, in many cases, seeing him at work is another special feature of the show," she added. "It will be so large in scope that several days could well be spent to choose a beautiful object or to get an uplift from the creative, the lovely and the individualistic."

MRS. JUDY HENNELLS

Sorority Picks Queen for Valentine Day

Mrs. Judy Hennells, of Plymouth, has been named 1967 Valentine Queen by her Eta Psi chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority.

She will be honored when the sorority members and their husbands gather for their annual Valentine Party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bobler, 9870 Doris, Livonia, Feb. 18.

paintings, the show will include sculpture, metal craft, ceramics, decoupage and many other craft media.

Mrs. Baldwin said a large percentage of the artists are Detroit area residents, but eight states and Canada are represented. Buyers of work in past shows have come from places as far off as San Francisco, Washington and Miami.

Because of the large sales volume when artists are brought together for a show, she added, prices for originals are considerably lower than those to be found in galleries.

Mrs. Baldwin, a Livonia resident and an artist in her own right, said she started doing her shows about six years ago because she felt art work was piling up in artists' studios rather than being properly merchandised to be appreciated.

"I found there were many problems in bringing together the artist and his potential buyers," she said, "but I've learned to work them out and the shows have enjoyed great success."

She has put on exhibits like this one at Northland Eastland, the Macomb Mall and the Pontiac Mall, as well as maintaining permanent exhibits in theaters in the area.

Included among the artists who will show works are John Groot, of Plymouth, who does handmade pewter objects in antique designs; Ernest Moors of Livonia, who specializes in original miniatures with handmade frames or easels and Mrs. Fran Tomczyk of Westland who makes all manner of decorations from shells.

Kindness Eastern Star Sets East-West Night

Kindness Chapter #523 Order of Eastern Star will have its East-West night Feb. 20 with a bake sale at 6 p.m. and a pot luck dinner at 6:30. For information and reservations on the dinner call Ruth Ford GA 2-3817 or Lillian Lucia 274-2938.

MRS. FRAN TOMCZYK, of Westland, sits surrounded by some of the pictures, purses, bouquets and decorated boxes she has fashioned from shells. Her work, with that of many other local artists, can be seen at Westland next week.

AMONG THE PAINTERS who will have pictures displayed in the current Artists' Showplace are Helen Lenzi, Southfield, Marie Tuthill, Farmington, Mrs. Leroy, Detroit; Jean Cohen, Livonia, and Ruth Stevenson, Farmington.

Cunninghams Travel to Germany After Wedding

A home in Germany awaits Sp/4 Dale Lewis Cunningham and his bride, the former Sandra Leoune Fielden, who were married Saturday, Feb. 11, in the First Baptist Church of Plymouth.

The bridegroom is stationed with the United States Army in Germany.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell A. Cunningham of Ball Avenue, Plymouth, and the bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. William P. Fielden of North Harvey, Plymouth.

The Rev. Donald Williams officiated at the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length lace gown with a scoop scalloped neckline and long, pointed sleeves. A lace crown trimmed with seed pearls held her veil, and her bouquet was carnations with an orchid and ivy.

The bridal attendants wore floor-length gowns of tuchsia satin taffeta with matching accessories and carried bouquets of sunburst pink carnations.

Mrs. Mary Ridley was matron of honor, Christine Cutler was maid of honor and the bride's sister, Susan Fielden, was junior bridesmaid.

James Wilson was best man for his cousin, and the ushers were Dennis Wilson,
