

Legal Aid To Council Starts Row

City Attorney Steve Polgar argued over the City Council's right to have separate legal council before the Livonia Charter Commission in a word battle: one commissioner, C. W. Drouillard, seemed "so little smoke for a little fire."

Polgar spoke against a provision already included that allowed the Livonia City Council to, by vote, retain special council, outside of the City Attorney.

"There have been at least 25 situations since I've been City Attorney," Polgar began, "in which the Council would have hired its own attorney—and only one I can think of that was valid... it is as ridiculous to have the council hire its own lawyer as it would be for Congress to set up its own law department over the Department of Justice."

Chairman James Mies disagreed, and said that the governor of Michigan has a legal advisor.

"The City's Department of Law could possibly throw the council—they could in effect say phony on the council and follow the mayor."

Commissioner Drouillard termed the discussion a waste of time.

"Harvey (Moelke) has termed this an abomination. But the City can do it now, if the council chooses to, it is in the present charter," G. Fred Sairley agreed, saying the wording in the present charter was identical.

"We want the department to operate as freely as they can," Commissioner Henry Stadick said. "But it's hard to avoid local personalities. We are not trying to tailor the charter to an individual." Pulgar, however, disagreed and concluded:

"To give carte blanche to a councilman—who is political entity—who votes according to how many people are out front holding—will be expensive to the City."

Earlier the Commission had decided this matter, de-liming the mayor right to limit "time and purpose" of such council. The Charter already allowed the Council the right to hire a lawyer on their own.

Interested in a Ride on a Double-Deck English Bus?

An authentic double-deck English bus will ply the streets of Livonia and neighboring communities to transport shoppers to and from Wonderland.

Beginning tomorrow, June 8, the picturesque London bus will begin operating on a daily schedule of free trips to the giant center of free shopping at the Livonia City Municipal and Middlebelt.

Most of the communities in western Wayne County will be served on alternating dates.

The first trip will originate at the Claude Allison Park in Redford Township.

Scheduled to start at 1 p.m., the bus will arrive at Wonderland at 1:30 and will continue to operate on an hourly schedule.

Other communities will be provided with the unique bus service on the following dates:

Wonderland Plans For 3-Day Tent Party

Wonderland Center will be the setting for a three-day "Tent Party" which will include music, novelty acts and other entertainment. It will be held June 15, 16 and 17, and will highlight a "two tent" sale on the center's huge parking lot.

Free shows, featuring some of Detroit's most popular entertainers, will be staged on all three days.

Montgomery Ward and many other Wonderland stores will sell specially priced merchandise in two large tents to be erected near the northeast corner of the parking lot.

Headlining a lineup of well-known performers are three musical groups. Scheduled for a performance on Thursday, June 15, is the Elma Santa trio—an all-girl combo which has emerged as one of the nation's most promising night club acts and recording artists.

Eddie Santini's "Tijuana brass sound" will headline Friday's show, which will run almost continuously from 11 to 7 p.m. Music for the Saturday show will be furnished by the 4-piece Hank Warren orchestra.

Other acts to be presented during the "party" include Lloyd Morgan, Detroit's one-man band, and Mel Snyder, noted balloon sculptor. Cartoonists Sam Fields and Bill Szaro will be present to make caricatures of the audience. The cartoons and thousands of balloons will be given away each day of the party. The tent sales will commence at 10 a.m. and continue until 9 p.m.

BYRON J. GLASER, 38095 Northgate Drive, Livonia, has been honored by the Owens-Illinois Forest Products Division as one of the division's top sales representatives for 1966.

He is a salesman for the division's corrugated box plant in Detroit. At a special awards banquet held during a recent three-day meeting in the company's Toledo, Ohio home offices, Glaser was inducted into the exclusive O-I Sales Builders Club.
