KayHannula Is Married In St. John's

Kay Ellen Hannula became the bride of Ward Stephen Rehkopf in St. John's Episcopal Church, Plymouth, Aug. 19.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Charles Steinloek, of Plymouth, and the late John Richard Hannula. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rehkopf, of Hillsdale, Mich., are parents of the bridegroom.

Charles Steinloek gave his stepdaughter in marriage, and the Rev. David T. Davies heard the couple's nuptial vows.

The bride wore a white crepe empire sheath with allencore lace bodice, long sleeves, and a Sabrina neckline. Dior bows at the shoulders held her chapel-length Watteau train, and her shoes were white silk from a lace gown.

Her flowers were orchids and pink and white baby roses.

Four bridal attendants wore pink French-tucked empire gowns and carried colonial bouquets of pink roses and carnations. The same flowers were used in their headpieces.

Sherada Erdelyi was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Jane Hannula, sister of the bride, Kristine Frogner and Joan Puckett.

Brian Cas was best man. Ushers included Rex Rehkopf, brother of the bridegroom, John Hannula, brother of the bride, Robert Cranfall, Charles Olson and David Solin.

A reception in the church's Parish Hall followed the ceremony.

After a Mackinac Island honeymoon, the couple will live in East Lansing. The bridegroom will be a senior at Michigan State University.

Koshowsky-Williamson Vows Taken

Linda Williamson and Richard Koshowsky exchanged marriage vows recently in the First Baptist Church of Southfield.

The bride's grandfather, The Rev. John K. Jones, of Linden, Ala., performed the double ring ceremony, with The Rev. Charles Marsh, pastor of the church, assisting.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Williamson, of Meadowlark Ave., Farmington, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Koshowsky, of Golfview Ave., Southfield.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, wore a gown of Chantilly lace, featuring a fitted bodice with long sleeves pointed at wrists, full two tiered skirt with tulle ruffles on back. A full chapel train was attached at the neck with tulle ruffles. The gown was designed and made by the mother of the bride.

Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a crown of aurora crystals and seed pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with phalaenopsis orchids and staphenotis.

Betty Jones, aunt of the bride, of Linden, served as maid of honor, and wore a lilac crepe A-line dress and matching pillbox headress. She carried a basket of lilac and white mums and white daisies.

The bridesmaids were Janet Williamson, sister of the bride, Gail Stiffelmire, sister-in-law of the bride, and Evelyn Kozar, sister of the bridegroom. Their dresses and headpieces were the same as maid of honor. They carried baskets of white mums and daisies.

Flower girl Donna Soave, niece of the bridegroom, wore a white crepe and lace dress. Michael Potestio, nephew of the bridegroom, was ring bearer.

Richard Legros was best man, and the guests were seated by James Williamson and Royce Stiffelmire, brothers of the bride, and John Halberda, cousin of the bridegroom.

The bride's mother chose a lace gown of ice blue with matching accessories. Mrs. Koshowsky wore pink lace with white and pink accessories.

A reception for 300 guests followed immediately in the church dining room.

Following the reception the couple left for a honeymoon trip through the southern states. They will make their home in Farmington.

The bride is a graduate of Farmington High School, attends Oakland Community College, and employed with Visual Services, Detroit. The bridegroom is a graduate of Southfield High School, and a student at Eastern Michigan University.
