

NEW TEMPLE BAPTIST — This is the architect's drawing of the new church building in Redford

Township that will house one of the Nation's largest congregations.

New Temple Baptist Church Will Seat 4,000 Worshipers

Now nearing completion in Redford Township is the new Temple Baptist Church, which will be a remarkable addition to the area's "eccelesiastical skyline."

With one of the largest congregations in the country, the new Temple Baptist Church, at 23800 W. Chicago, just east of Telegraph, will provide seating for more than 4,000 churchgoers in its main auditorium and balcony.

There also will be sufficient classroom space for religious instruction for approximately 4,000 young persons.

It is being located in this area because a study conducted by Dr. Vick showed the true demographic center of this large congregation is in northwest Detroit.

IN TERMS of design, Dr. G. Henschamp Vick, pastor, selected a colonial facade with fluted columns in the portico. The building exterior is of face brick with limestone trim.

Situated on a 16-acre site, the 270-ft. by 311-ft. structure will have parking facilities for 1,000 cars.

Each of the three floors is functional. The 44,000-sq.-ft. basement floor includes six major classroom areas, which are broken down into 84 smaller individual instruction areas.

Also on this floor is a 5,000-sq.-ft. dining area which seats up to 600 persons.

On its first floor are located the main auditorium, with seating accommodation for 2,520 persons, a chapel which seats 500 worshipers, and 12 major classrooms.

The second floor, whose core is a perimeter balcony, seats 1,480, and allows for the church's 200-member choir. On the perimeter of this floor are seven major classroom areas which are broken down into 87 individual instruction areas.

ALTHOUGH it is traditional in its design, the building includes all of the most modern equipment and accessories. For instance, a central air conditioning system permits zoned comfort cooling for classrooms. The 4,000 auditorium and balcony seats are theater-type, upholstered seats.

In addition, Architect Clifford N. Wright & Associates, Birmingham, Mich., designed a cantilevered balcony in the main auditorium, thereby completely eliminating the need for columns in this entire area.

Floor construction involves the use of a new structural technique called composite construction, by which the steel floor beams and concrete slab are embedded in the concrete.

THE BUILDING PRODUCTS Division of The R.C. Mahan Company, Detroit, is supplying approximately 36,000 sq. ft. of its composite floor system and 68,000 sq. ft. of its steel roof deck.

General contractor is Edward V. Monahan, Inc., mechanical contractor is J.L. O'Laughlin, and electrical contractor is Shaw Electric Co. Each of the three Detroit-area firms worked on the original Temple Baptist in 1950.

Scheduled completion date is June, 1968.

Church Music Program Set

Music is the feature of the evening service at Redford Baptist Church at 6 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 12.

The Chancel, the youth and the junior choir, and soloists will be featured, including several young people.

The emphasis that evening will be on musical participation, and several "hymn sing" portions of the program will include favorites requested ahead of time by members of the congregation.

Jerry Smith, musical director of the church, says, "With so much in one package, we hope that everyone present will be able to enjoy some particular part which is his or her favorite."

Preaching at the morning worship services at 9 and 11:15 a.m., Dr. Gordon L. Schroeder, pastor, will speak on "How Should We Treat Our Bodies?" Visitors are cordially invited to attend.

Farmington Church 'Coping Group' Plans

The Universalist-Unitarian Church of Farmington will conduct a "coping group" for five weeks beginning Nov. 11.

Minister Robert Miles Eddy explained the title is "Just my name for a group of people who are willing to use the best resources they have to help each other cope with the problems of everyday life."

The technique has been used in other churches, he added, and was tried in a small scale in Farmington U-U last year. He said the group would be limited to 20. The entire group will meet for a three-hour session Nov. 11, and then will split into groups of ten to meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday or Wednesday evenings. The larger group will again come together Saturday, Dec. 2.

EDDY SAID he would ask participants to commit themselves to all the sessions, to pledge confidence, to be willing to accept a certain emotional risk, and to agree to frank and open give and take of opinions.

All will be asked to read "Games People Play," by Eric Berne, as a starter for the sessions. Members of the church have been interested in forming such a group, Eddy said, because they feel there is much to be gained by discussion.

"The assumption of total independence of influence by the past and by each other is foolish," he said. "We need each other and I believe we can help each other."

HE ADDED: "While the sessions will not be rigidly structured, I hope to begin the first session with several techniques designed to answer the question: Who do I appear to be?" "Future sessions will deal with questions such as: Who am I? What are my common ego states? What are my basic needs: how do I go about meeting my basic needs?"
