YOU TIE IT THIS WAY—Mrs. Bruce McAllister helps Sharon Goldman use a pipe cleaner to bind the head of a corn cob doll.

have been to be well known. Mrs. Donald Loe and Mrs. Bruce McAllister are members of the Hill and Dale Garden Club, and they are two of the "Flower Ladies" the club now sends to 14 special education classes with 150 children.

HILL AND DALE members have been working on this garden therapy project since 1961, and have increased its scope over the years. Some of the members—now numbering between 80 and 90—go into the classrooms every two weeks helping the youngsters to simple flower arrangements, or maybe make bird feeders or pine cone trinkets.

Others plan the projects. Still others take care of assembling all the materials needed. It's a total effort on the part of the club.

MARYLOU SELDON, who teaches trainable retarded children at Beechview School, found the project so helpful that she now is a Hill and Dale member.
