

Teacher's Recipe Tops

Mrs. Gail S. Humphreys, Plymouth Callinore Elementary School teacher, is among the 10 finalists in the annual search for "Queen of the Kitchen" sponsored by the Detroit Edison Co.

Nearly 400 recipes for one-dish meals were submitted in the month-long contest, and Mrs. Humphreys' ham-spinach quiche placed among the top ten. As a finalist she attended Detroit Edison's "Salute to Women Who Work" Banquet, held in Cobo Hall on Tuesday and will compete for queen's honors in a cook-off on Thursday, March 28, in the company's kitchens.

If the judges find ham-spinach quiche worthy of grand prize, Mrs. Humphreys, of Ann Arbor, will be able to prepare it on a deluxe range of her choice.

TOWN HALL HEADLINERS — Mrs. Goldie Adler, widow of the late Rabbi Morris Adler, introduced speaker Bess Myerson at the Farmington Town Hall last week.

Let's End Viet War, Coos Dove-Like Bess

By MARGARET MILLER

A dove flew into Farmington last week in the person of lovely Bess Myerson.

The dark-haired, statuesque lady of television fame came to the Farmington Town Hall to talk about "Women's Place in a Changing World," but was most eloquent in telling why she thought the country should get out of the war in Vietnam. "I'm against it, I don't like it, and I want people to know that I don't like it," she said.

Miss Myerson told of her involvement in a group known as "Another Mother for Peace," and said: "We're for peace—not peace at any price—just peace."

The group's main activity, she added, is to try to flood the nation's lawmakers with little cards that say "War is not good for children or any living thing."

SHE INDICATED she had given some thought to leaving her work with CBS to campaign during the next presidential race. While not saying whom she would support, she expressed great admiration for Minnesota Senator Eugene McCarthy because "he laid his career on the line for this idea."

Or President Johnson she said: "I think there's someone up there who doesn't care what I think—who is more concerned with how he's going to look. I don't care how he's going to look."

She apologized to her celebrity-luncheon listeners at Glen Oaks Country Club for not giving "equal time" to opposing views on the question, but emphasized to all the women that she considered working for one's views the important thing.

MISS MYERSON SAID no matter where her career may take her, she feels she'll always be known as "the oldest living Miss America."

Winning that title in 1945 launched her as a public personality.

"But one of the first things it did for me was show me the whole world wasn't Jewish," she said. "I'm the only girl of my faith to win that title."

SHE ALSO TOLD of being present at the White House luncheon when singer Eartha Kitt made headlines with some blunt talk to Mrs. Johnson about the race question and the Vietnam fighting.

She said it was the first time the President's wife had specifically involved herself with a group of women active in social problems, and the guest list had included many whose contributions to human welfare had been great.

"Eartha was there because she had done some work recently with teens in the Watts district of Los Angeles," Miss Myerson said. Her outburst came after several of the others had made fine reports.
