

Democrat Mardiros Seeks 19th District Seat In Congress

Livonian Ron Mardiros has started his campaign for the Democratic nomination for the 19th district seat in Congress. Mardiros, a bondsmen with offices at 31122 Plymouth Road, has been active in party affairs for years.

He is a member of the Michigan Conference of Concerned Democrats, a group formed to protest President Johnson's Vietnam war policies. Mardiros said: "WE ARE today a nation bitterly divided, torn as perhaps this country has not been in more than 100 years. We have seen these divisions grow and become wider and at times turn to violence.

"Our cities are troubled and our people are concerned about the Vietnam war. Everywhere I go, I discover a deep sense of uneasiness and discontent. "It flows from a growing conviction that something is wrong with the direction of American Society, that since 1953 we have begun to lose much of the purpose brought to this nation by President John F. Kennedy."

Mardiros said people want to stop "this seemingly endless and futile war," and lawlessness and violence in the cities. They want good schools, lower prices. Now, he said, they are being led by fear. "It is time now, I believe to substitute a leadership of hope for the leadership of fear," he said.

IN HIS CAMPAIGN, Mardiros said he will "remind you of your responsibilities as well as rights and will substitute the pursuit of peace for the pursuit of war."

"I ask Democrats, Independents and responsible Republicans to join me in support of decisions based on reason and conscience, and I promise you we shall again begin to move this country to peace at home and peace abroad," Mardiros said.

Poverty War Is Continued

A $25,000 appropriation was granted by the Oakland County Board of Supervisors last week to sustain the program of the Commission on Economic Opportunity in this area, and to set the stage for county administration of commission activities. The board's vote on the issue was 54 to 17 in favor of the appropriation, and came only after a vigorous debate. Both of the Farmington area supervisors, Delos Hamlin and Curtis Hall, voted with the majority. Hamlin, who is chairman of the board, also received authority from the full board to appoint seven officials to the commission. The board's support of the appropriation came in face of a recommendation from the ways and means committee that it be denied.
