Let's swing down memory lane with all the nostalgia that goes with it! The occasion is the annual dinner honoring the new inductees into Michigan's Sports Hall of

The occasion the new inductees into Michigan's Spot-Fame.
The Hall resides in Detroit's Cobo Hall and for those who never have been there, we suggest you make it a stop sometime soon when you visit the his city.

AS YOU STAND in the corridor at Cobo and AS YU. STAND in the corridor at Cobo and stare upward at the various plaques heralding the Hall of Famers, your thoughts zip backward to 5 the days when they were the athletic heroes of the state—, when you had the privilege of knowing so many of them who are now resting in that most peaceful spot to which all of us someday must go, to:

What's even more nostable is to behold the plaques and then turn about to see and greet in the plaques and then turn about to see and greet in the claim of the plaques and the claim and flow and the claim of lady of tennis, Hambanak's Miss. Missic appeared to have lost some of her bounce the other evening. What we didn't know is that she had just left the hospital after undergoing major surgery.

What a coach Mrs. Hoxic has been! More than 200 of her charges have won championships of national significance.

MEMORIES ... MEMORIES ... Memories ... You looked at the pluques ... almost side by side, of the late Lloved Brazil and the still living Ray Fisher who is almost 90 now And down a ways the plaque saluting John Kobs ... Brazil. Fisher and Kobs ... and add the late Joe Truske, who never has made it into the Hall—at least, not yet.

Little wonder tears dripped from our eyes. Here were the four men who gave us our chance to unmarre big time ... on the college base-ball scene.

It was Kobs who said "okay" to our com-

hall scene
It was Kobs who said "okay" to our coming back to Michigan State, as an alumnus, to work such games as Michigan State-Michigan and Michigan State-Western Michigan.
It was John who permitted us three times to handle games in the NCAA playoffs, the Truske and Brazil ... they loaded our schedule with games involving Michigan, Wayne and the University of Detroit—not to forget Michigam State.

KIPKE AND GOODFELLOW brought other memories. We were too young when "Kip" played at Michigan, but we recall when he was hired and firred as football coach at Michigan State and later he was named to coach at Michigan where he served for nine years and turned out four Big Ten champs in a row.

Goodfellow was Detroit's first Gordie Howe of the hockey wars. Men like Goodfellow, Sid Howe, Larry Aurie and, of course, the late Jack Adams, laid the foundation for making hockey the game it is in the Detroit area today.

AS ARNIE PALMER, the evening's main speaker, declared: "Memories are the greatest thing one can have." Palmer also contributed a couple of other significant subjects for us to chew on: "Sports today are helping to keep our country together... and let it not be said that the people who run the various aspects of sports aren't sitting on top of the situation. Otherwise, such rulings as affected Roberto DiVincenzo in the Masters and Dancer's Image in the Kentucky Derby and Preakness might not have happened."
