DR. FREY SEST the need for nursing personnel round the clock to staff a unit of about six bods. A technician would be in the emergency from to get information on injured persons and, budy in performing inhorations. Desides a team for patient care, Dr. Frey suggests establishing a research unit in the emergency room. This unit would feed back information on the adequacy of resuscitation measures by resuse workers and would gather hologic data on the effects of injury on physiology and neta-
