ENTERTAINS 120 AT HALLOWEEN PARTY

More than a hundred boys and girls of all ages, and 30 adults, crowded the classrooms at St. Paul's Lutheran School at Elm and Middlebelt Hallowe'en night for a party. The affair was the first of its kind to be given by the St. Paul's Mothers Club for members of the parish school, the Sunday School, and the community at large.

The pupils of the school, led by Robert Godette, transformed the rooms with their brilliant decorations in the Hallowe'en theme. Children of Grade Two and under, right down to two-year-olds, attending their first masquerade, had games and contests in the Primary room, guided by Mr. Wilbert Rupp, primary teacher, with the assistance of Mrs. F. Vanant and Mrs. Norman Brasso. Marla Spencer, Grade One, won the costume prize for her resemblance to Aunt Jeannie.

Grades three to five met in the Assembly Room. In charge of Mrs. Marshall Spencer, Mrs. Reinhold Steuck, and Mrs. Donahue. Judy Steel took the costume prize for this group.

In the Upper Grades room, Betty Branham of Grade 7 led the games from grades six, seven and eight. Roger Mitche and Janet Claybaugh tied for the costume prize.

After the games, refreshments of cider, waffles, and doughnuts prepared by Mrs. R. Yanke, Mrs. J. Jordan, and Mrs. L. Schuller, were served.

Cotton Plaids Are Picked for 1950-51

MAGIC! nylon, silky synthetic fabrics and eye-catching rayon blends all have their place in the modern fashion world but for all around usefulness, old-fashioned Dame Cotton still holds her place in Missy's limelight.

And so small wonder that the all-cotton wardrobes displayed by the National Cotton Council in New York have been fetching "ohs" and "ahs" from fashion fans everywhere.

"Scotch, please," seemed to be the request of the NCC pattern creators when they designed the chic scoop-neckline dress, at right, for their 1950-51 collection of winter fashion pieces.

Featuring a reversible tuxedo coat with black velvet on one side that contrasts pleasingly with the Galey and Lord's metallic striped plaid on the reverse side (right), the dress is ideal for "after dark" occasions requiring sophisticated glamor.

Still another masculine type creation embodying plaid appears at left, a smoking jacket done in Piquet and Panama cloth. Masculine in flavor, the novelty jacket is paired with black velvet slacks to match the jacket's eye-catching trim.

Scotchplaid patterns are twice-blessed choices in that they can be used in both cocktail costumes and casual "around the house" ensembles.

Furthermore, pleasing cotton plaids can be obtained with warm colors that will ward off Old Man Winter's cold breath at scotch-thrifty prices.

BUY UNFINISHED
PIECES TO SAVE
FURNITURE MONEY

Buying unfinished pieces can be a real help to your furniture budget and very satisfactory for your home if you finish them correctly.

You can paint or stain or leave them in their natural color, advises Dorothy Washburn, Michigan State College home economist. First, be sure the furniture is clean and remove any stains or finger marks with No. 60 sandpaper.

Fill in nail hole indentations with plastic wood. Let dry and sand until smooth. In case-goods remove the drawers and paint them separately. Do not paint the drawer runners. When painting tables, set them upside down and paint the legs first. Don't paint furniture outdoors and avoid wearing clothing that sheds lint.

For a painted finish use one coat of undercoat and two coats of quick-drying paint. Sandpaper between each coat. If flat paint is used, finish by waxing.

To stain the finish, use any penetrating oil stain. Wipe off surplus stain as you brush it on. Finish with two coats of shellac and a coat of wax.

For a natural finish, be sure the surface is clean and all finger marks removed when you sandpaper. Apply varnish and then steel wool it smooth. For a heavier finish apply a second coat of this varnish and then use the steel wool again. Use wax as a final coat with either method.
