About 1000 girls and adults attended the county's "Scouts Own" ceremonies at Royal Oak High School Sunday, with four Farmington girls participating in the ceremony.

Jane Turner, Re-Anne Little, Jo Ann Blum and Donna Sonnenberg, told what Scouting meant to them, and how Girl Scout ideals were being attained. After their talks, Jeannette Deaver, executive director of the Southern Oakland Girl Scouts, gave a talk on "What Are These Ideals?"

A choral reading in skit form by Southfield Troop 155, and other ceremonies, welcomed the new professional Girl Scout Leaders.

What has been called the world's finest symposium is taken from huge open pits in Michigan's loess country.

A lot of you folks... young stars and others... have been thinking about careers in television. It's a good thing to think about... and DO something about. You can take it from here... Television is going to be a hungry, talent-eating medium... always looking for new and better fare. It's true... a lot of veterans of stage, screen and radio are making bids for TV spots. And a lot of old timers have made starting comebacks through TV. But for the most part... new talent is going to get a break on television. New writers, new directors, new actors, new musicians. It's a young field... and it can use a lot of talented young folks. The future stars may well be you... or your next door neighbor... because they're coming from everywhere. See as much TV as you can... watch the trends... study it. You can get there if you want to.

TV has been called the training school for stars. Coaxial cables are generous teachers. You sit in the living room... and get your free course... seven nights a week. The television set that will give you the most satisfaction and enjoyment is the set that receives the best possible servicing by top flight electronic engineers. The only complete service shop in Farmington is your FARMINGTON RADIO TELEVISION CO., 3004 Grand River... Pioneers in Farmington TV.
