Victor Stevens Safe In U.S.A., Phone Call Says

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Stevens of 1945 St. Francis received two messages last week, the biggest Christmas present they could have. One message was received Wednesday, December 13, relayed by amateur radio from Japan. It reported their son, Marine Pfc. Victor, was safe in a hospital in Japan.

Saturday night another message came. This time it was a telephone call from Victor himself. The young Marine, a member of the 17th Regiment, said he was at San Francisco in the hospital, that he had been flown there as a patient from the Naval Hospital in Japan, and that his feet were badly frozen.

Home Ec' Courses, Invaded By Males

Picking the man "most likely to succeed" was simple for fall graduates of Michigan State College's School of Home Economics.

He had to be Kenneth W. Goodrich of Lansing, first male in the school's history to graduate with a major in home furnishings and the only man who graduated in home economics last term.

Goodrich thus joins a select group of 10 men to receive B. S. degrees from the MSC School of Home Economics. He also expects to become a member of a group not quite so select. He is now awaiting a call to military service.

Though one of few male home economics graduates, Goodrich has not lacked masculine company in the classrooms during the past year. More than 200 men are now enrolled in home economics courses, 12 of them pointing toward degrees from the school.

Most popular home economics course for men is institutional ad-

EIGHT MILE EXTENSION

Ten members and two guests of the Farmington Eight Mile Extension Council attended a Christmas party held at the home of Mrs. C. L. Mortimer last week. Turkey was the dinner menu, followed by an exchange of gifts.

Primarily a women's field, home economics is steadily being invaded by men, according to Dean Marie Dye of the School of Home Economics.

So far, MSC coeds have offered no objections to the invasion, Dean Dye said.

Keeping a Christmas tree in water is the best treatment for making it fire-resistant and keeping it fresh, green and moist with the needles staying on.

SUNSHINE LADY DESCRIBES PARTY FOR SHUT-INS

At this beautiful Christmastime if we would just stop to think of the sorrows and sufferings which the world, we would know that there are indeed lucky people. How often we should not let our material blessings confound our minds and fill us with a false sense of security. As we get ready for a New Year, may we start it with our hearts pure, our spirit right, and with each a part of our social and business life.

Mrs. Estelle Sjaholm, 34015 Oakland Road, Farmington, was a great help to me on December 15 when the Christmas party was held at the Wayne County Hospital for the shut-ins in Ward 302, A Building. That beautiful smile of hers was a great help also, as she passed out dishes of special Christmas tea, cream, cookies and candy. Others who came to help were Mrs. O. Hanson of Detroit and Mrs. Joyce Veiner and Mrs. E. Bennett of Wyandotte, Michigan. There was a Christmas package and small jars of jelly for all, some of which came from the kitchen of Mrs. Bertha Foster of Wall Lake, Michigan. Each shut-in wore a Christmas corsage. A design of pine cones, holly berries and red satin ribbon was hung by Mrs. Sjaholm to help brighten the room. There were bright and shiny apples, and a special friend of mine had kumquats flown in from Florida for the event.

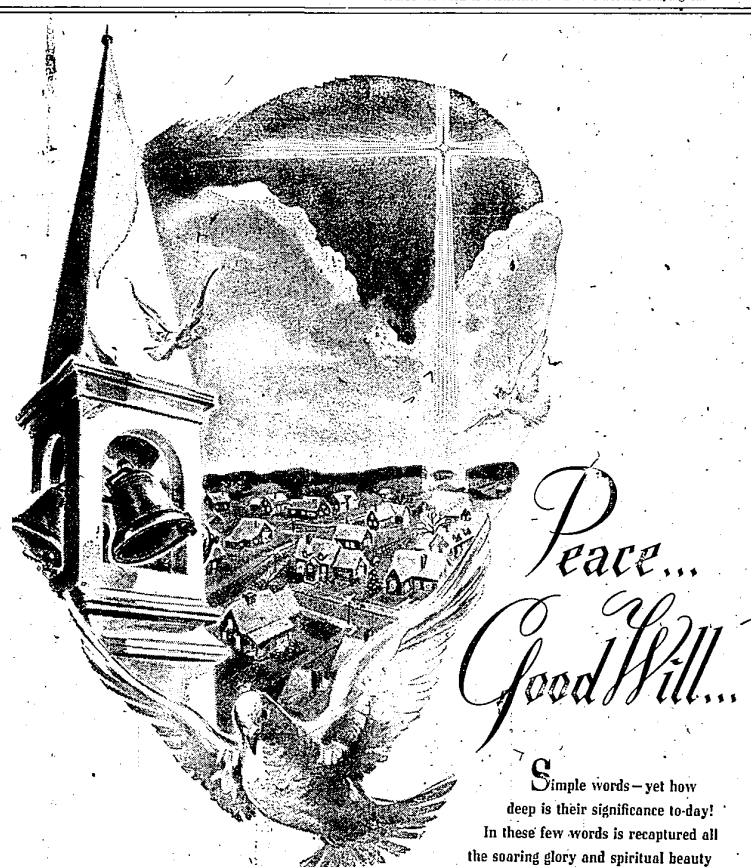

Dr. Ray Hardy sang several very beautiful songs. And I would like to think it was an afternoon well spent. I know I am very grateful for all who helped. The Enterprise has a list of the money and gifts sent to me for any who would care to see it.

Dr. Hardy is one of my newest and dearest friends. He has been a great help to me, for he has shown me the way to a happier life. I'm not quite sure what he calls it; it all works around complete faith in God.

A note from Karen Grundy tells me she and her brother are enjoying the use of my Viewmaster.

Among my guests on Christmas Day will be Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Sullivan of Elout Avenue, Detroit. It will be my first meeting with the Sullivans. They knew the day would be lonely for me, for it was Christmas day of last year that we were all together for the last time. Early the next morning our loved one was taken to the hospital, never to return home. Now two of our boys are away in the service. I think it's wonderful of the Sullivans to come out and be with us. Our home is always open to all. For any others who may like to call, we live at Union Lake just east of the Oakland County 72 Hospital, and north of Cooley Lake Road.

Merry Christmas to all, from The Sunshine Lady.
